E. Germany Beefs Up Army

Delegates Confer Less Than Hour On Counterstaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of four major Western powers met again Thursday to discuss the German problem and possible steps to counter the Communist clampdown on travel in Berlin. No progress was announced.

The session, attended by representatives of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany, reportedly was devoted primarily to long-range objectives.

Session Follows Protests

The meeting lasted less than an hour. When it broke up, the foreign delegates left the State Department by a side door and were not available for comment.

The session followed shortly the dispatch to Moscow of protests from the United States, Britain and France against what they termed a "flagrant and particularly serious" violation of postwar agreements on Berlin. They requested Moscow to put an end to "illegal measures" in the city.

The cautiously worded brief note was the second protest in 48 hours, the first having been a joint note by the Western commandants in the Communist-encircled city to their Soviet opposite number.

Ask Soviet Reopen Border

Protesting against the Communist blockade of East Germans, the note said the Western powers expect the Soviet Union to reopen the border between the two parts of the city.

State Department officials would not go beyond the words of the note. One high official repeated what appears to be the consensus among Washington, London and Paris — that this is about as far as the West can go now. Officials have noted that the Communists avoided any interference with Allied rights in West Berlin.

CAPTURED—Chester Anderson McGonigal, one of the nation's 10 most wanted fugitives, was captured yesterday by FBI agents at a Denver employment agency. Navy Adding 42 Vessels To Its Fleets

33 "Mothballed" Ships Scheduled To Be Reactivated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy announced Thursday that it is adding 42 ships, including two aircraft carriers, to its Atlantic and Pacific fleets as part of the U.S. military buildup to meet the Communist challenge in Berlin and elsewhere.

Involved are 33 ships now in mothballs, including 22 amphibious ships and 11 support ships. The amphibians can carry men and supplies, and will increase the Navy's ability to transport troops to hot spots in any area.

The carriers concerned are the 60,000-ton super attack ship Constellation, now under construction, and the smaller, anti-sub carrier Antietam, which had been scheduled for lay-up.

DEs Stay In Service

In addition, seven other ships, mainly destroyer escorts, will be kept in service although they had been scheduled to be inactivated.

The Navy action was the latest in a series of steps taken by the armed services as part of the military buildup ordered by President Kennedy to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's threat against the Allied position in Berlin.

Only Wednesday the Army alerted 113 National Guard and Army reserve units for possible call up. It also extended the duty tours of 84,000 enlisted men—and possibly as many as 100,000. The Army is building to a one million man force.

On Monday the Navy announced it would extend tours of 28,000 officers and men for six to 12 months. The Air Force has alerted 71 Air National Guard units.

Total Of 861 Ships

The action taken by the Navy means a net increase to the fleets of eight warships and 34 supporting types for carrying troops, military equipment and supplies.

This will increase the Navy's operating strength to 861 ships, including 382 warships and 479 supporting vessels.

The addition of the carriers means the Navy will operate 16 big attack flattops and 10 anti-submarine warfare carriers. Each will be equipped with a newly formed air group.

Surrender Of Six Convicts Ends Tenn. Prison Revolt

Felons Give Up As Tank Is Moved In

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Rebellious convicts who held 27 persons hostage for more than eight hours at the state penitentiary, gave up their rebellion Thursday night as an Army tank moved toward the commissary where they had been holed up.

Asst. Fire Chief Russell Campbell said the convicts began coming out of the door of the brick building and lying on the ground in front of the tank, which had moved to within 12 feet of the structure.

The rebellion collapsed after Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton refused to discuss the convicts' 12 grievances until they freed the hostages and came out in a group.

"Brutality" Charge Denied

The grievances ranged from "brutal treatment" by guards to lack of recreational facilities and restrictions on talking and correspondence. Hampton called them "totally without foundation."

"If they want to talk, they can all come out together—not one by one," he told newsmen after talking to the ringleaders by phone. "They had free access to the prison yard before, and they burned the prison up. That's the way it's going to stay."

A prison workshop was set afire by inmates in June 1960, three months after a similar rebellion.

The rebellion ended after Hampton served a three-minute ultimatum on the convicts and the tank started moving toward the building.

Six Convicts Involved

One of the first hostages out, Robert J. Litsey, commissary manager, brushed by newsmen, saying, "I'm not going to say anything; I just want to call my wife."

After a day of conflicting reports as to the number involved, Hampton said six convicts were holding 19 fellow prisoners, five guards and three commissary clerks at the small brick commissary building. Hampton said the rebels had two guns and several knives.

He said two of the ringleaders were Raymond Farra, termed insane in a prison psychiatric report, and Robert Rivera, who led a similar rebellion in March, 1960.

The prisoners, who said they wanted to air their grievances to state officials, surrendered shortly after the tank moved toward the commissary where they had holed up. (AP Photofax)

Red Leaders Call On Youth To Volunteer

Communists Ignore Western Protests In Border Closing

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist rulers of East Germany ignored Western protests against the forcible division of Berlin and gave every indication Thursday they are ready to fight for their barbed wire barricades.

East Germany and the Western Allies alike took steps to strengthen rival armies that would be quickly engaged across the Iron Curtain in any shooting war over Berlin.

A gigantic recruiting drive was launched by the East German Communists even as the United States, Britain and France protested to the Soviet Union that the Red barring of East Germans from West Berlin was an illegal and flagrant violation of the city's four-power status. Western notes to Moscow demanded that the barricades be razed.

Shelving an unabated need for farm and factory hands, East German leaders called on the 1.7 million members of their youth organization to volunteer for the army. This army, Western experts say, now numbers 110,000.

"Panic and confusion reign among our enemies," East German youths were told in orders to report at dawn Friday for briefing. "Now it is necessary to secure our success and win new victories over the warmongers."

France Plans Buildup

The Big Three Western powers, major contributors to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization force of 22 divisions in West Germany, manifested determination if necessary to meet force with force.

President Charles de Gaulle announced in Paris that French ground and air forces in both Germany and France—depleted for years by the military drain of the Algerian war—will be reinforced. The size of the projected buildup was not discloseed. The French army in Germany now consists of two understrength divisions.

Britain's Air Ministry announced a limited number of all-weather jet fighters will be sent to West Germany shortly as reinforcements for the Royal Air Force backing the 55,000-man British army on the Rhine. And three British jet fighter squadrons slated for withdrawal were ordered to stay put.

The United States, whose 7th Army is the most powerful in West Germany, has strengthened its general military posture with a program for stepped-up conscription, alerting of reserves and extension of the tours of duty of men now in uniform.

Notes' Rejection Expected

Identical notes of the United States, Britain and France, in denouncing the refugee barricade imposed Sunday, declared they expect the Soviet government to "put an end to these illegal measures."

The expectation among informed sources in Berlin, however, is that the Soviet government will do nothing of the kind. They forecast a rejection of the protests. The East Germans had acted at the behest of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact organization, the East's answer to NATO.

The call to youths to enlist was accompanied by an intensified propaganda campaign depicting the glories of carrying a gun for the German Democratic Republic.

The youth organization's newspaper Junge Welt—Young World—said: "Every young Socialist burns to belong to the armed forces of the German Democratic Republic, allied with the unbeatable forces of the Socialist camp, at the head of which stands the strongest army in the world, the famous army of the Soviet Union."

Senate's Vote Saves Kennedy Aid Loan Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's forces saved his five-year foreign aid lending authority in the Senate Thursday while the House edged toward another vote on allowing him long-term, Treasury-borrowing powers.

The Senate retained the five-year term by a 51-45 vote against a move by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to reduce the authority to three years.

Five Republicans saved the administration by joining with 46 Democrats in opposition to the Capehart amendment. Fifteen Democrats went counter to the party leadership to join 30 Republicans in supporting the three-year term.

Administration leaders in urging retention of the five-year authority noted that the House in a preliminary vote Wednesday had lined up for a one-year limit on the lending program and for financing it by annual congressional appropriations, rather than borrowing from the Treasury.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee both argued that if the Senate retreats from the presidential position it will be left without bargaining power to effect an acceptable compromise when the time comes to reconcile the Senate and House bills in conference.

The House, on a teller vote, rejected by 197-185 the bill's long-term and Treasury-borrowing aspects—both regarded by the administration as vital to the overall program.

But this vote was 55 short of the full membership and was not a recorded ballot. The administration hopes to reverse this near disastrous result on a roll-call vote to reconsider. But it must move carefully and be certain it has its maximum commitments when such a test comes.

Contact Is Lost With Space Lab

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States launched a 27-pound "flying laboratory" on a 140,000 mile journey into space Thursday, but lost radio contact with the lab almost immediately.

The instrument package, capable of detecting any high altitude nuclear bomb blasts, was carried aloft by a four-stage Blue Scout Jr. rocket at 10:29 a.m. EDT.

Dubbed the "Poor Man's Rocket" because of its comparatively inexpensive price tag, the Blue Scout soared from its pad without any apparent hitch and arched out over the Atlantic test range.

A few minutes after the launching, however, the Air Force announced that the rocket — which costs only about $500,000 compared to the $2-million or more for intercontinental rockets—had stopped sending telemetry data to earth shortly after the fourth stage engine ignited.

It was not known — and probably never would be — whether the upper stage exploded for some unexplained reason, or if the space craft's transmitter simply went dead.

Met Gives Up Trying To Save 1961-62 Season

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Metropolitan Opera Thursday gave up trying to save its 1961-62 season.

Lauder Greenway, chairman of the board of the Met, said the failure of negotiations with its orchestra union and the cancellation of contracts with its singing stars made it impossible to mount a season this fall.

The Met had announced earlier this month that the season was being canceled because it could not meet its orchestra's demand for a $78 a week pay raise and other contract improvements.

Negotiations were resumed however on the urging of President Kennedy and other officials, and it had been hoped that an early agreement might save the world-famed opera's 77th season.

The Met's board of directors decided Thursday there was no more hope.

'Wonder Drug' Price Fix By Three Firms Charged

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three major drug firms and three of their top executives were indicted Thursday on charges of rigging the prices of three "wonder drugs" used by millions of Americans.

The federal grand jury indictment charged that the alleged conspiracy prevented other companies from marketing improved drugs and hampered research. It also provided the defendants with "unreasonably high profits," the indictment said.

Involved are three of the four so-called "broad spectrum" antibiotics — aureomycin, terramycin and tetracycline — which are used in fighting a wide range of harmful micro-organisms.

The indictment named as defendants: Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc. and John E. McKeen, president and board chairman; American Cyanamid Co., which manufactures aureomycin through its Lederle Laboratories Division, and Wilbur G. Malcolm, chairman of the board; Bristol-Myers Co. and Frederic N. Schwartz, president.

Mr. Malcolm is formerly from Westernport, Md.

All three companies denied the allegation.

Two other firms were named co-conspirators — the Olin Mathieson Corp. of New York, of which E. R. Squibb & Sons is a division, and the Upjohn Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Defendants were charged with conspiring to restrain trade, with conspiring to monopolize and with monopolization of drug sales under the Sherman Anti-trust Act.

The indictment charged that they conspired to keep other companies from manufacturing tetracycline and let only Upjohn and Squibb share in selling tetracycline products.

Mikoyan Stirs Japan Protests

TOKYO (AP) — Visiting Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan's attacks on the U.S.-Japan security treaty prompted a storm of high-level protests Thursday, signs that his neutralizing efforts were running into rough water.

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's ruling Liberal-Democratic party in a statement branded Mikoyan's comments as "interference in Japan's domestic affairs." The newspaper Asahi said Ikeda gave his personal approval to the statement.

Several hundred uniformed and plainclothes police guarded the Tokyo railroad station and another 70 were posted on the platform. Officers kept a sharp eye on other passengers boarding the express.

American Airlines Jet Breaks Record

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — American Airlines announced Thursday that its flight No. 17, an Astrojet 707, has set a new commercial plane record of four hours, 39 minutes in its flight from New York to San Francisco.

The previous record, held by Trans World Airlines and American, was four hours, 41 minutes.

Peaks Conquered

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force mountaineer team headed by Group Capt. A. J. M. Smyth reports its has topped three previously unconquered peaks of the Karakoram Range in North Kashmir. One peak is 21,500 feet and the others are about 20,000.

Government Approves Oral Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A polio vaccine you can swallow was approved Thursday by the government for use against the most dangerous type of polio virus.

But it acts against only one of the three types of polio and the Public Health Service cautioned that Salk vaccinations are still needed for full protection.

The easy-to-take oral vaccine that provides immunity against paralytic type I virus was developed by Dr. Albert Sabin of Cincinnati, Ohio, and employs live virus.

An oral vaccine that protects against all three types of polio is not expected for some time, the Public Health Service noted.

Therefore, Surgeon General Luther L. Terry emphasized, "It is of the highest importance that vaccinations continue with the Salk vaccine which is the only weapon we have today to provide the protection against all three types of polio."

The Salk vaccine, using dead virus—first vaccine against polio — was developed by Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh and is administered by injection.

Since its use, the United States has reported a record decline in polio cases.

The government's announcement that it was approving the oral vaccine for type I polio, before the other two types are available, drew a reaction of surprise and some criticism from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, which financed research on both the Salk and Sabin vaccines.

"It is totally unorthodox to license part of a vaccine," he said. "It has never been done before."

Figures show that the Salk vaccine has all but eliminated polio as a public health menace, O'Connor said, and "it is difficult to determine why the surgeon general felt he had to do this at this time."

Fiberglass Yarn Satellites Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said Thursday it has awarded Westinghouse Electric Corp., Baltimore, a $45,170 contract for development of fibrous materials for use in communications satellites.

The initial investigations will center on fiberglass yarns, of the type used in draperies. Satellites made of these fibers would be folded into a small compartment, and upon reaching orbit would be expanded and made rigid.

The Air Force Systems Command, at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., said later work may focus on metal alloys if a need develops for a material that can withstand temperatures of more than 500 or 600 degrees.

Cuban Ship Crewmen Ask Asylum

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Coast Guard Thursday night surrounded a Cuban merchant vessel about six miles off the coast after receiving a radio report some of the ship's crew wanted political asylum in the United States.

The Coast Guard said three ships ringed the 3,805-ton Bahia de Nipe, which anchored off Fort Story, Va. No one but government officials was allowed near the Cuban ship, the Coast Guard said.

A spokesman said none of the ship's crew had come ashore but Coast Guardsmen intended to board the Bahia de Nipe.

The Bahia de Nipe radioed the Coast Guard station at Pungo, Va., Thursday afternoon. The report said the ship intended to anchor so that some of the crewmen could seek asylum. It was reported the ship's captain and all officers were included in the group.

A Coast Guard cutter escorted the Cuban ship into harbor at Lynnhaven Roads where it anchored shortly after 6 p.m. EDT.

The Coast Guard said there were no reports of violence aboard the ship.

Adenauer Speaks In Parliament Today

BONN (UPI) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, apparently alarmed about German unrest over the allied approach to the Berlin crisis, decided Thursday to speak personally in parliament Friday.

Unlike West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, Adenauer is expected to be cautious in a plea for unity and determination. Brandt, who has angered Adenauer by criticizing the Western approach, also speaks Friday to the West German legislators.

20 Nations Sign Latin Alliance For Progress

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI) — President Kennedy's $20 billion alliance for progress program in Latin American formally came into being Thursday with the signing of the Punta Del Este Charter by all of the American republics except Cuba.

Cuba's economic "czar," Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara, flatly predicted that the alliance, under which the American states pledge themselves to make "a vast effort to bring a better life to all the peoples of the continent," would fail.

He sat quietly in his seat during the final session of the 12-day Inter-American Economic and Social Conference and watched the signing ceremonies.

Cuba, as long as the Fidel Castro regime remains in power, will be shut out of the 10-year financial aid program.

The Dominican Republic, although it signed the charter, will also be excluded from aid until it establishes "representative democracy," as specified in the charter documents.

Representatives of the other 20 American nations, including U.S. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, were summoned one by one to affix their signatures to the charter.

As Dillon signed, with U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs Robert Woodward standing at his side, the conference applauded for about 15 seconds.

British Situation Smells To French Perfumers

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Sniffing through statistics, the Society of French Perfumers discovered to their horror that British men spend more on scent than do British women.

"A thoroughly deplorable situation," said a spokeswoman for the society Thursday, "and we're going to do something about it. High time, you might say."

"Board of Trade figures reveal that British men are annually spending $700,000 more on perfume and toilet water than do the ladies.

"The more facts one uncovers, the more the situation smells. In France, 96 per cent of all girls and women between the ages of 18 and 45 use perfume.

"In America, the percentage is 82. But in Britain, alas, only 20 per cent of the women use it, and of this 20 per cent, many use it only for special occasions."

Shaken to their Gallic souls, the French perfumers say many English women think it's naughty to perfume themselves — "that perfume is wrongly identified with sex."

Said the spokeswoman, "Sex is not a once-a-week business. Women must be tempting all the time."

The Gallic perfumers know what's wrong.

"We must educate them," said the spokeswoman.

Beginnin Sept. 28, the French Society of Perfumers will mount a massive attack, spending thousands on British newspaper and magazine advertising.

President Doesn't Plan To Address U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House and State Department Thursday said there is "no plan" so far for President Kennedy to address the United Nations this fall.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said a presidential appearance, as in past years, "is always a possibility, but so far I know of no decision on this."

There has been speculation Kennedy would go to the U.N. in a major effort to press for disarmament and Berlin solutions.

Mildness Of West Note Raises Grave Questions

EDITOR'S NOTE — John M. Hightower, Associated Press diplomatic affairs reporter, draws on his long experience in covering the State Department and his intimate acquaintance with policymakers and diplomats for the following interpretive article on the Western note to Moscow.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western Big Three powers, in their protest to Moscow Thursday, said the minimum that could be said about the Communist cutoff of travel inside Berlin.

Their note sounded like the lowest common denominator of agreement possible among the U.S., British and French governments. In the circumstances it may now be debated whether they would have been wiser to send no note at all.

Except for propaganda maneuvers, it appears that the three nations have done about all they are going to do in the immediate situation. Countermeasures are still under consideration, but any agreed upon are likely to be very limited in scope and effect.

There is general agreement that the Western reaction to the dispute over the Red refugee barricade will certainly be examined carefully by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He will study it for evidence of Western self-confidence and willingness to act on the great issues of West Berlin security which he threatens to raise at the end of this year.

The speed with which the Western Allies can agree on specific plans and take action is a critical element of the whole Berlin problem. The handling of the refugee affair raises grave questions about whether the machinery of consultation and the major directions of policy are yet sufficiently well worked out.

For example, President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have made a great point of keeping on top of all developments since the barricades were erected by the Reds last Sunday. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Lord Home have been at pains to make exactly the opposite impression; they went off to the country for rest and recreation.

On Sunday, Rusk issued with Kennedy's approval an indignant statement denouncing the Red action as a violation of East-West agreements on Berlin.

Consultations then brought quick agreement on two points of Allied action. First it was agreed that words alone were not enough and some action should be taken. That meant countermeasures against East Germany at a minimum.

It also was agreed that in addition to the usual protest lodged by Western military commanders in Berlin with the Soviet commandant, there should be a direct Western protest to the Soviet government. The word was it would be strong and emphatic.

But within a few days British and later U. S. officials began to back away. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer first talked about strong measures, then indicated he did not plan any steps which would worsen West German-Soviet relations.

LAST REQUEST GRANTED — The last request of William Philbrick, Fremont, N. H., who had worked most of his life with horses, was granted yesterday when his 81-year-old body was borne from church to cemetery in a horse-drawn hearse. As the end of his life drew near, he told his two sons and his brother of his desire — to go to his last resting place in a hearse drawn by a horse. His sons and friends got out the 80-year-old town hearse, unused for 40 years, cleaned it up and William Philbrick realized in death, his last wish. (AP Photofax)

Key Democrats Revive School Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—New life was breathed into President Kennedy's aid-to-education program Thursday as a compromise proposal won tentative acceptance by key House Democrats.

The final job of selling Speaker Sam Rayburn on the four-part administration package was left for Kennedy himself. The two are expected to confer in a day or two.

Heading the rescue squad that revived the prostrate program was Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff. He used parts from three education bills now blocked in the House Rules Committee to do the job.

From the original $2.5-billion public school bill Ribicoff sliced $325 million for a one-year program to build elementary schools using 40 per cent federal money and 60 per cent local money. The money would be alotted on the basis of need.

From a $1.8-billion college aid bill he took a $300-million-a-year program to build academic facilities and a proposal to provide federal scholarships of up to $1,000 a year for students selected on a basis of ability and need.

Adopted intact was a proposed one-year extension of the program known as impacted areas aid, which provides over $300 million to school districts containing large federal installations or crowded by federal workers.

Also extended for one year would be the National Defense Education Act, which provides a variety of aid to strengthen mathematics, science and language teaching. A bill enlarging the program and extending it for three years is one of those bottled up in the Rules Committee.

Although greatly reduced in scale from the original program, Ribicoff said the new proposal "would do much to achieve the President's goal of excellence in education."

Women Agree Double Bed Aids Happy Marriage

LONDON (AP)—Most women agree that a double bed helps make a happy marriage, a group of 15 British bed manufacturers said Thursday.

They came up with one that is four feet, six inches wide by six feet, three inches long. It should have a 20-inch clearance for easy cleaning, an innerspring mattress and casters.

Five Railroads Take Step To Boost Fares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five railroads have taken an initial step toward increasing passenger fares by about 14.23 per cent, the Interstate Commerce Commission said Thursday.

Special permission to depart from the commission's tariff publishing rules was requested on behalf of the Baltimore & Ohio, Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co., Monon Railroad, Wabash Railroad Co., and the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad.

The request says the proposed increases would become effective Oct. 1 or as soon thereafter as possible, allowing time for legal notice to users who might wish to protest.

Johnson Chain Asked To State Racial Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American Negro's complaint has caused the State Department to ask again that the Howard Johnson restaurant chain clarify its policy concerning Negro customers.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the department acted on the domestic complaint only because, he said, African diplomats are sometimes taken for American Negroes in matters involving discrimination.

The State Department action stems from a letter written by Paget L. Alves of White Plains, N.Y., who complained that a Howard Johnson restaurant in Arundel, Md., refused to serve him and his two children because they are Negroes.

Angier Biddle Duke, the Kennedy administration's chief of protocol, wrote a letter to Howard D. Johnson, president of the restaurant chain, asking him for clarification on his policy.

The department lodged two earlier protests — in 1958 and in 1961 — when two African diplomats were turned away from Howard Johnson restaurants because of their color.

At that time, the department got assurances from the restaurant chain that it is doing everything possible to introduce nondiscrimination in all its restaurants.

Two Referendum Drives Successful

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland attorney general Thomas B. Finan ruled Thursday that referendum drives to force the congressional redistricting bill and the unemployment compensation bill on the 1962 ballot were successful.

Finan said the petitions forcing the two bills on the ballot had more than enough valid signatures, while petitions against the unemployment bill totaled 17,123. Only 10,000 signatures were needed on each petition.

More forest fires are started in the United States on Sunday than on any other day in the week.

Horse-Drawn Hearse Meets Final Request

FREMONT, N.H. (AP) —The last wistful request of an old man who had worked most of his life with horses was granted Thursday. His 81-year-old body was borne from funeral home to church, and from church to cemetery, in a horse-drawn hearse.

All his life, William Philbrick drove horses, first for his father's ice business. Later he drove horses hauling timber from forest to sawmills.

As the end of his life drew near, he told his two sons and his brother of his desire—to go to his last resting place in a hearse drawn by a horse.

After his death, Monday, his sons, and friends got out the 80-year-old town hearse, unused for 40 years, cleaned it and greased the wheels. And so William Philbrick's request was granted.

JWV Demands Action Against U.S. Nazi Party

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Jewish War Veterans of the United States Thursday called for government action against the American Nazi party.

The organization, holding its annual convention here, adopted a resolution which urged both the Post Office Department and the Attorney General's office to exercise government power under existing statutes to move against the party.

The anti-Nazi resolution, as presented to the floor, stated that the group should be placed on the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations.

But members of JWV, speaking on the floor, called for the stronger language in the resolution.

The Post Office Department was included in the resolution after Joseph Barr, national executive director of the veterans group, displayed insulting cards he had received in the mail.

Earlier, the veterans, in their fifth day of meetings, received a warning from the executive director of the Jewish Community Council of Philadelphia that they must be on the alert for traps being set by right-wing extremists who use the current international tensions for their own gain.

Jules Cohen cited such organizations as the John Birch Society as a group which "offer scapegoats and solutions and unwittingly do work of the Communists."

"Indeed," Cohen said, "the John Birch Society acts and looks like a Communist front group.'

He also touched on various ways to deal with such extremist organizations as the American Nazi Party. Cohen said group libel legislation was not the answer to the problem.

Reuther Offers Plan To Provide 41 Million Jobs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, Thursday outlined a three-point program aimed at providing 41 million new jobs in the United States during the next 10 years.

Reuther said in addition to the normal population increase, about 28 million workers will be displaced because of automation.

"And that doesn't count the millions who are now unemployed," he told delegates attending the 75th convention of the United Brewery Workers International Union.

The UAW president touched on the problem during his hour-long speech, and amplified it later at a news conference.

Reuther's three-point program included:

1. A greater emphasis on expanding production to fulfill public needs in such fields as education, housing, highway construction and medical facilities.

2. Increased private consumption through greater purchasing power, facilitated by "higher wages and lower prices of commodities."

3. A "rational approach" to the hourly work week. He said productivity has increased despite a decrease in hours down through the years, adding "why should eight hours a day be the end of the road?"

Viewing the nation's economic picture, Reuther said the top priorities in the cold war were full employment and production, and increased education.

In his speech to some 600 convention delegates and their families, the UAW president said his 500,000-member union is prepared to strike if a settlement is not reached soon.

Defectors Kidnap Ex-Castro Minister

MIAMI (UPI)—A former Castro cabinet minister was kidnaped at gunpoint Thursday and forced to accompany two defectors to the United States in a small boat, the U.S. Immigration Service, reported Thursday.

Major Julio Camacho, formerly transportation minister in Premier Fidel Castro's cabinet, his father, Julio Camacho Romero; and a friend, Juan Moyano Tino, told U. S. authorities they were "forced" to come to this country under duress and requested permission to return to Cuba.

The permission was granted and they departed for Havana on the afternoon's Pan American flight.

Three UAR Cabinets Merged By Nasser

CAIRO (UPI)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser Thursday merged into one the three cabinets of the United Arab Republic and appointed seven vice presidents in a shuffle to further government centralization.

Until Thursday there had been separate cabinets for the Syrian and Egyptians regions of the U.A.R. and a central cabinet for the entire nation. As of Monday the three were merged into a single 36-minister group in which many ministers share the same portfolio.

State Fair Entries Soar

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — More than 3,000 animals have been entered in judging contests at the 80th annual Maryland State Fair, which opens here Aug. 28.

John M. Heil, general manager of the fair, said entries of beef cattle, dairy cattle, swine and sheep from Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., Connecticut and Delaware will compete for prize money and blue ribbons during the two-week fair.

The dairy cattle exhibit will be the largest in recent years, according to Richard N. Wills, superintendent.

Holsteins lead the list of animals entered in that division. Some 366 were entered before the Aug. 1 entry closing date.

Also entered in the dairy cattle class are 215 Jerseys, 198 Guernseys, 189 Ayrshires, 118 Brown Swiss and 76 milking shorthorns.

Superintendent Hershel H. Allen Jr. said 238 beef cattle have been entered from three states. The Angus breed leads the field with 100 scheduled to compete, followed by Hereford, 78, and Shorthorn, 60.

A beauty contest, to choose the 1961 State Fair queen, will be held opening day. Contests are being held in the 23 counties to select finalists for the contest.

State Building Is Picketed By Plumbers

BALTIMORE (AP) — An orderly group of master plumbers picketed the State Office Building for 30 minutes Thursday in protest against a Plumbing Board examination for journeymen plumbers.

The pickets circled the building in 17 trucks, some of them coming 40 miles to participate in the morning demonstration.

The Plumbing Board had postponed a test for master plumbers after conspiracy charges were placed against a board member in an alleged licensing shakedown. But it held a journeymen plumbers' exam as scheduled at 10 a.m.

"A journeyman plumber is en route to becoming a master plumber," said William Hausman, president of the Baltimore Progressive Master Plumbers Association who organized the demonstration.

"It is not just a certificate or title he carries, but a qualification for advancement. The board should have stopped the journeymen's test, too," Hausman declared.

The mobile pickets encountered some difficulty staying in a solid line because of traffic, but they circled the block three times en masse.

The shakedown charges prompted two plumbers' associations to urge temporary suspension of board activities. Later Gov. Tawes suspended Benjamin L. Roll, the accused board member.

Twenty-six candidates for journeymen plumber status were scheduled to take Thursday's test.

Farmhouse Blaze Cuts Phone Service

BALTIMORE (AP) — Fire destroyed a farmhouse near here Thursday and severed lines cutting telephone service to about 2,000 residents of the area. The owners of the house were away.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore policeman Thursday shot down a man as he swung a long-handled ax at several policemen.

The unidentified ax-wielder was admitted to Lutheran Hospital in critical condition with gunshot wounds of the chest and leg.

Police said two city employes discovered the man in the cab of their truck in Druid Hill Park. The park employes said they struggled with the man for the keys to the truck, then he grabbed an ax one of them had dropped, swung it at them and fled.

Several policemen joined in the chase, and the ax-wielder was shot as he turned and swung on them, police said.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Labor has reported that more than $2 million was found due workers in Region III under violations of the federal wage-hour law between July 1, 1960 and June 30, 1961.

BALTIMORE (AP) — State officials Thursday announced plans to stop what they said in an unetnical practice some insurance agents use to make the Department of Motor Vehicles a collection agency for their accounts.

Insurance Commissioner F. Douglas Sears and Motor Vehicles Commissioner John R. Jewell said agents will face suspension or revocation of their licenses if they continue the practice, which involves sale of financial responsibility certificates.

Sears said some agents collect a one-month premium on these certificates, then immediately file notice with the DMV that the policy will expire in one month. This brings the motorist a warning from the DMV and usually sends him to his agent for a renewal.

Accused were Ronald L. Giles, 20; Roy H. Cantler, 19; Robert L. Stevens, 19, and Harvey Damron, 37. All four were charged with murder, burglary and robbery. Additional charges of rape and arson were placed against Giles and Cantler.

BALTIMORE (AP) — "It's too bad we haven't set a better example."

That was the comment of Thomas P. Grogan, fallout shelter officer for Baltimore's Civil Defense agency after a survey showed that none of the top Maryland and Baltimore CD officials has a completed shelter in his home.

Some, however, are building shelters or have "reasonable protection" at home, the survey showed.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Three states have announced they will send entries tothe Governors Cup race at the Hard Crab Derby in Crisfield, Sept. 2.

Gov. Tawes Will Review Guard

CAMP A. P. HILL, Va. (AP) — The 29th (Blue and Grey) Infantry Division, Virginia and Maryland National Guard, will hold its annual Governors' Day review Saturday with Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes present but minus Virginia's Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr.

Occupying the reviewing stand with Tawes will be Lt. Gen. Ridgley Gaither, commanding general of the 2nd Army; Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland; Maj. Gen. Paul M. Booth, Virginia adjutant general, and Maj. Gen. William C. Purnell, 29th Division commander.

Almond notified camp officials Tuesday that he would be unable to attend the review.

Meanwhile, officers of another Maryland unit, the 115th Infantry, were investigating an incident in which two civilians shot at four Maryland soldiers, then fled in a car.

State's Road Fund Share $51.7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland will get some $51.7 million in federal highway funds for the fiscal year which starts next July 1.

A total of $7.8 million has been earmarked for improvements to primary, secondary and urban roads, and the remaining $43.8 million will be used for interstate highway projects.

A spokesman for the State Roads Commission said notification of Maryland's share came about four months earlier than normal. Federal officials said the advance notice would give the states a lead in planning their various road programs for the 1963 fiscal year.

The SRC spokesman said the funds would be used in completing these projects among others: Maryland 70 West, U.S. 40, U.S. 340, all in Western Maryland, and U.S. 50 on the Eastern Shore, the Capitol Beltway, Maryland 4 and Maryland 15.

Weight Traps Fisherman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Part of a fishing boat wheel house was chopped away Wednesday to free a 350-pound fisherman who had put on so much weight he was unable to pass through the cabin door.

Robert Guijette, 51, San Rafael, Calif., was removed from his boat at Point Reyes. A Coast Guard helicopter flew him 35 miles to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in San Francisco where his condition was listed as "less than satisfactory."

Dr. Donald McMillan attributed the sudden swelling to a "heart condition." He added that doctors "suspect there may be something else wrong.

The Coast Guard station at Point Reyes, north of San Francisco, was alerted to Guijette's plight by his son Roy who brought the 36-foot boat Eleanor S. in to a nearby fishing dock.

Young Guijette said they had left their mooring at China Camp in San Francisco Bay three months ago to fish for salmon. The father suffered a recurrence of body swelling for which he had previously been hospitalized and was unable to get out of the cabin. The son said he piloted the boat and cared for his father.

Buchman's Burial At Allentown Today

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—Followers from many sections of the world are expected to be on hand Friday when Dr. Frank Buchman, 83, founder of Moral Re-Armanent, is buried here in his hometown.

Buchman died Aug. 7 in Freudenstadt, Germany. Interment in the family plot at Fairview Cemetery will follow services at St. John's Lutheran Church.

A group of 140 Moral Re-Armament leaders from Europe, the Mideast and Asia was expected to arrive in the United States by plane Thursday.

A Latin American group will include two prominent Brazilians, Marshal Juarez Taboa and Gen. Hugo Bethlem.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street seems to be of the opinion that the Berlin crisis won't erupt into a shooting war.

Therefore, some analysts expect the stock market to resume its rise. And they express satisfaction with the way the market has been acting as the tension heated up.

The market has held up surprisingly well, comments the brokerage firm, Goodbody & Co.

It asserts that if odd-lot transactions can be taken as an indication, it was the small investor and not the large one who sold stocks on balance Monday; there has been no indication of selling pressure in the last two weeks.

"The market may consolidate its position here until signs of a settlement of the Berlin crisis and a fall pickup in business are evident," Goodbody says. "However, it appears to be saying that informed opinion believes there will be no serious military conflict and that eventually the Berlin situation will be settled by negotiation.

"It also seems to be saying that when the international pot simmers down the economy will reflect the high level of government spending, and corporate earnings will rise."

A. M. Kidder & Co. observes that some profit-taking was to be expected after the powerful upsurge of late July but so far this has been well absorbed despite the adverse news background.

"While a divided Germany is a powder keg that could explode at any time," the firm says, "it is probable that the real crisis over Berlin may not materialize for a month or two.

"Meanwhile, the Berlin news has the effect of serving notice of business men and consumers that certain goods and commodities may be hard to come by in the event that the international situation should undergo serious deterioration."

Merger-Blocking Injunction Sought

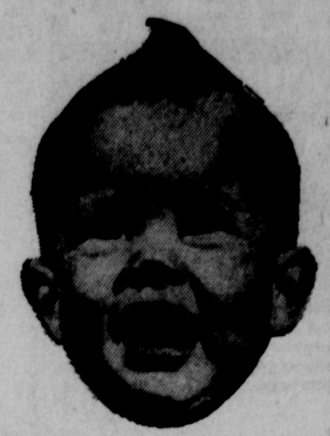

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The government filed an anti-trust suit Wednesday against Ling - Temco Electronics, Inc. and Chance Vought Corp. seeking an injunction to block proposed merger of the two firms.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe E. Estes denied a Justice Department motion for a temporary restraining order against the merger, but granted a hearing on a preliminary injunction for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 11.

The government action came only a few hours after boards of directors of the two companies, meeting separately, formally ratified the merger.

In its petition, the Justice Department alleged violation of two sections of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, pertaining to acquisition of stock of another company that tends to lessen competition in interstate commerce.

The government said 90 per cent of Ling-Temco's sales during 1960 involved government contracts. The petition said 75 per cent of Chance Vought's sales in 1960 involved such contracts.

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

A modern dietary lesson from the loaves and the fishes, a possible clue to mental illness in rabbit lungs, and a beetle that bleeds in self-defense are subjects for science at work.

Loaves And Fishes

The biblical story of the loaves and the fishes seem to have a modern counterpart off the east coast of Africa.

A small fish, about the size of a sunfish, though slightly slimmer, is revolutionizing the diet of natives on the island of Malagasy. The fish, called tilapia melanopleura, was introduced some 10 years ago to buttress a diet that included rice, fruit, a little honey, but little meat.

It became well-established in rivers and lakes, and the government has built some 80,000 village fishing ponds. Now fishing is popular and productive. The average adult catches 11 pounds a day. Even a child can catch four pounds.

Curiously, one member of the tilapia family was reputedly the fish which the Bible says Christ miraculously multiplied to feed the throng attracted by his preaching.

Clues From Rabbits

Mental health researchers have found a strange chemical in the lungs of rabbits—an enzyme that can produce drugs that cause hallucinations. The enzyme uses as its raw materials natural compounds found in blood.

The drugs produced are the same that are found in snuff made from plants by the Indians of Haiti. Called cohoba, the snuff has been used by the Indians to enable them to communicate with unseen powers.

Other researchers reported recently that they were able to change the behavior of schizophrenic mental patients by feeding them certain chemical forerunners of hallucination drugs. All of this suggests that there may be some chemical change in the body of mental patients that causes their abberations.

Blood Brothers

When the Mexican bean beetle is bothered or molested, he literally bleeds. Now it appears he may do it to defend himself.

When ants attack the beetles and the droplets of blood get on them, they abruptly back away and begin intensively to clean themselves. When the blood coagulates it becomes sticky and the ants are virtually immobilized. It sometimes takes them more than an hour to recover.

Medics Again Urge Graham Slow Down

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The crusade office of Dr. Billy Graham said Wednesday that he had been cautioned by medical advisors to slow down "the same as they have told him for the past two or three years."

But Graham, who opens a four week crusade here next Sunday, received "an absolute clean bill of health" following a week at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

The week at the clinic is his regular annual custom. He has slowed down with shorter crusades during 1961, it was pointed out. "Taking it easier," his office described it.

The office said Graham entered the Mayo Clinic July 17 following a July 9-16 crusade at Minneapolis.

"He does it every year," it was explained. "They (the doctors) gave him absolutely a clean bill of health."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA Mc CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Whatever your age, face up to the business of growing old gracefully.

The advice — from two experts in geriatrics—is directed to everyone, not just those with a wrinkled skin and white thatch.

The two directed their advice to everyone, saying "it's a fact you start growing old the minute you're born."

The physicians place great emphasis on a purpose in life — be you nine or 90—as one means of growing old gracefully.

Their blueprint also calls for physical exercise, adequate rest and recreation, generous periods of leisure for thinking creatively, and high and specific motivation to help develop an integrated personality.

The doctors also advocate proper diet and medical care to help keep the body in tip-top shape.

Both doctors, 64, practice what they preach. Dr. Bortz, for example, swims daily. Dr. McCarty said he has a slight heart condition, but that he also exercises regularly to the extent of his physical ability.

Neither has expectations of claiming a place on the shelf when the 65th birthday's marked.

"Compulsory retirement," Dr. Bortz said, "tends to rob a man or a woman of individuality."

Dr. Bortz, of Philadelphia, someday hopes to draw up a blueprint for living 100 happy, healthy years.

"It will be presented, decade by decade, and based on newer knowldege of diet with great emphasis on the importance of activity," he said.

"The trouble in geriatrics right now is that there are a lot ot impediments and much muddled thinking. We're in a youth-oriented culture. But we know enough to live 100 years with little exertion.

"What is needed is a mature point of view. We're living in a land of milk and honey and fabulous plenty. Yet we're the unhappiest, most insecure and tormented of people."

MT. WASHINGTON, N. H. (UPI) — A monument stands near the summit of mile-high Mt. Washington in memory of Lizzie C. Bourne of Kennebunk, Maine.

The 23-year-old woman started to walk to the summit of the mountain on a bright Autumn day, Sept. 13, 1865. A violent storm blew up, and she died, unaware that shelter was only a few yards away.

A day's work in the office will be less fatiguing if you learn how to relax both mind and body.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Make Office Hours Your Charm Hours

Aside from a short sprint for the bus each morning—and perhaps a shopping tour at noontime—the average career woman gets little or no exercise during the day. What can you do, then, about the fatigue that overtakes you at the typewriter or filing cabinet towards five o'clock?

Before overtiredness makes itself obvious in your weary expression or slumped posture, practice preventive ways. You'll accomplish more tasks and solve more problems if you're relaxed and ready for them.

Frenzy only creates tension... cultivate a relaxed attitude. Perform only one task at a time. Don't worry about obstacles ahead that may never materialize. Set a routine flexible enough that an emergency will not cause turmoil.

If your mind does refuse to function alertly after lengthy and intent concentration, take a five-minute break. You needn't feel guilty about a rest period: no time is wasted that is spent reviving your mental or physical energy.

A backache from sitting or standing can be eased by pressing your spine flat against a wall for a moment or two. Relax taut neck muscles by massaging the nape and shoulder tendons between your thumbs and forefingers in an upward direction. Relieve aching feet by removing your shoes and putting your feet up on a chair. After standing long hours, it is also advisable to sprinkle talcum powder on your feet and to change your stockings in the late afternoon.

Fingers tense from typing? Sit erect in your chair with your elbows resting on the chair's arm, and with your forearm perpendicular to it. Make the tightest fist you can, and hold it for a count of five. Then fling your fingers outward, hard. Tighten, relax — until the kinks are gone.

Hold your body straight, but easy, as you work at your desk. Your actions should be graceful when you stand up or sit down, and when you stoop to put papers in, or take them from, a low file drawer. If you bend over repeatedly from the waist, you will experience muscular strain and fatigue.

Do this, instead: with weight on the balls of your feet, and feet a pace apart, stand to one side of the file cabinet and bend the knees until you can easily reach into the lowest drawer. Rise slowly. Keep head and back erect, both as you go down and as you come up.

Mrs. Grace Kopp Retires From Position At FSTC

Mrs. Grace S. Kopp, director of practice for elementary school student teachers at Frostburg State Teachers College, has retired, according to R. Bowen Hardesty, college president.

Mrs. Kopp served as elementary director of practice at the college from September, 1950, until her retirement, which became effective July 30, President Hardesty said. In this capacity, she co-ordinated and supervised work of student teachers in public schools during their junior and senior years of college.

President Hardesty also announced that Mrs. Kopp will be succeeded by Charles Wayne Stansberry, who had been teaching in the education department of college since September 1958.

Mrs. Kopp formerly was a teacher at the campus school at Frostburg State. She served in that post from 1924 to 1928 when the college was known as State Normal School.

She then became supervisor of elementary school instruction in Garrett County, and in 1931 accepted a similar position with the Allegany County Board of Education. She held the latter post until 1938.

While at Frostburg State, Mrs. Kopp participated in curriculum revision in the laboratory school; and assisted in designing the Master of Education degree program now offered through summer sessions at the college.

She also helped develop major courses for the newly-instituted liberal arts program and worked with teachers in Allegany and Garrett counties in effecting the student teacher curriculum.

Mrs. Kopp was active in the planning of the Thomas G. Pullen School building and served on numerous state, county and college education committees.

Mrs. Kopp, wife of Charles L. Kopp, former superintendent of Allegany County schools, received her master of arts degree from Teachers College, Columbia University, on December 18, 1957.

President Hardesty, in announcing her retirement, stated: "Mrs. Kopp's philosophy of education extends far beyond the campus of Frostburg State Teachers College and is reflected in hundreds of classrooms in Maryland where students to whom she gave educational guidance are teaching."

Her successor is a graduate of West Virginia University, where he received his bachelor of science and master of arts degrees. Stansberry currently is doing work for his doctorate at Columbia University.

A native of Mount Morris, Pa., Stansberry has done elementary school administrative work and served as a principal in Monongalia County, W. Va., from 1955 to 1958.

As a faculty member at Frostburg, he taught teaching method courses for students in the elementary program. He also has participated in curriculum revision for the laboratory school and student teacher programs.

Five Youths Join Army

They are Kenneth F. Brandt Jr., Wiley Ford, who signed up for electronics schooling; Charles W. Turbin, city, who signed up for construction equipment operation; Frederick L. Hall, Frostburg, enlisted for service in Europe; William P. Sisk Jr., city, enlisted for general supply and John F. Dorsey, city, enlisted for the Medical Corps.

Sgt. Walbert said so far this month he has interviewed and given aptitude tests to 45 young men interested in joining the Army. The tests are given to ascertain if the men are qualified for certain type training.

'Y' To Offer Bus Transportation

Central YMCA will offer bus transportation to fourth, fifth and sixth grade-age members in the Frostburg and LaVale regions, according to Benjamin Haines, program director, who said the project will start September 29.

Boys and girls, Haines explained, will be picked up by chartered buses at the close of school on Fridays. Activities at the Y will include trampoline instruction, tumbling, relay races, gymnastics, swimming, crafts and a club program.

The buses will return the children to the schools, or to the closest point to their homes along the return route, Haines said. The first session will last 11 weeks, and another is planned after the first of next year.

Company Gets Permit

L. Bernstein Company has received a permit from the building engineer to cover the front of its business establishment at 9-11 North Centre Street with ceramic tile, stainless steel or other non-inflammable material. Cost is estimated at $1,000.

Group Backs Land Sale

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended that the city purchase approximately 30 acres of land adjacent to Constitution Park for park purposes.

Offer to sell the property to the city for $14,000 was made by Frederick L. Wempe in a letter to the Mayor and Council Monday. Council was interested in the offer and referred it to the commission. The commission at a meeting Wednesday recommended that the money be taken from the Recreation Bond issue funds.

Wempe said the $14,000 is what he has invested in the property. Originally, he had proposed to develop the land for housing.

Wempe's offer brought from Street Commissioner John J. Long the statement that Wempe should be commended for the action since abandonment of his housing plans would mean a loss of profit to him.

Editor Nominated

Frank W. Rose, who operated the Piedmont Herald from 1887 until his death in 1919, has been nominated for possible election to the West Virginia Journalism Hall of Fame. He was the father of John F. Rose, who presently is editor of the Mineral County weekly.

Rec Unit Has Outstanding Fair Display

The sound of band music is heard continuously and the voice of George Stein describes the action as the visitor views the display installed in two adjoining booths measuring an overall 24 feet.

The parade is formed along a simulated route with streets such as "Recreation Street, Park Avenue, Playground Avenue and Tennis - Boulevard" marked off. The disbandment area is known as "Little League Place."

Each of the 14 playgrounds submitted an entry in miniature using the theme "Holidays." A doll dressed as a majorette leads the "parade."

Entered are exhibits titled New Year by Columbia Street; Valentine's Day, Pine Avenue; Washington's Birthday, Thomas Post Playground; St. Patrick's Day, Pennsylvania Avenue; Maryland Day, Virginia Avenue; Easter, Mt. Royal; May Day, North End; Memorial Day, Johnson Heights; Vacation Time, Mapleside; Independence Day, Fort Cumberland Playground; Halloween, West Side; Columbus Day, Ridgedale; Thanksgiving, Center Street; and Christmas, Gephart.

Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director who supervised the playground program, said a representative of the department is on hand at all times when the display is open to the public.

C&O Reports Purchase Of WM Railway Stock

The C&O Railway, which is seeking to merge with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, purchased $5,500,000 of Western Maryland Railway stock during the year.

The directors made the announcement yesterday as they declared the regular third-quarter dividend of $1 payable September 20 to stockholders of record on September 1. The distribution will total $8,204,000 to 92,000 shareowners.

The company maintained its strong working capital position during the second half of the year despite the purchase of the holdings in the Western Maryland, which the directors termed "a dividend-bearing investment readily available to the company as a financial reserve."

The C&O has paid regular dividends of $4 a year for over four years. During that period, C&O earnings have been substantially in excess of dividends and a strong working capital position has been built up.

Even though C&O earnings for the first half of the year fell short of dividend payments, as a result of general business conditions, the dividend was well protected.

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 43 Sally L. Tompkins of Richmond was the only woman to have an officer's commission in the Confederate Army. She was appointed captain by President Davis.

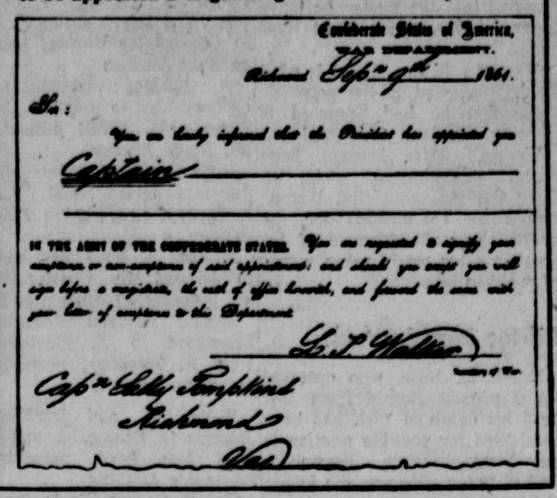

On her own initiative, immediately after the Battle of Bull Run in July 1861, Miss Tompkins established a hospital in Richmond for the wounded. She served actively throughout the conflict.

Hundreds of other Southern and Northern women were military nurses, but no Northern woman was given officer's rank except Dr. Mary Edwards Walker of Oswego, N. Y. She, a graduate of Syracuse Medical College, volunteered her services in 1861. After being kept in nursing duties three years, she was commissioned assistant surgeon. As an officer, Dr. Walker wore male uniform.

West showed a bold alertness in the successful defense of today's three no trump contract when he dramatically shifted his line of attack.

No forum is held for the soundness of the auction in all respects. South chose to open with an introductory bid of one diamond which carries the approach principle too far, inasmuch as a one no trump bid completely describes the hand and obviates all future problems.

West inserted an overcall of one spade, no doubt under the assumption that the vulnerability offered him protection. Fortunately this practice has long since gone out of style in more enlightened circles.

North freely bid two clubs and East raised his partner. South now bid two no trump and North decided to bid three clubs as a warning to his partner that part of his values were distributional in nature. South elected to gamble it out for nine tricks, a decision for which he is not subject to criticism even though it turns out that a contract of five clubs is unbeatable.

The four of spades was opened and the king permitted to hold. The nine of spades was returned and the ten went to West's jack. West could see that establishing the spades would serve no good purpose since he lacked a quick entry to regain the lead. Analysis showed that in order to defeat the contract East would have to hold a high diamond honor and a quick entry.

On this line of reasoning West shifted to the two of diamonds directly into the hand that had bid that suit. The queen went to declarer's ace and since he had only eight running tricks he found it necessary to drive out the ace of hearts. At this point a diamond return netted two more tricks for the defense to defeat the contract.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 26 years old and married to a wonderful man who is ten years my senior.

Before we married he told me he would never be able to have a family because of a childhood illness. He has accepted his fate philosophically and I thought I could, too, but I'm afraid I overestimated myself.

Whenever I see a baby I want to cry. I never realized I had such strong maternal instincts until now. My husband is dead set against adoption. His closest friend had a tragic experience with an adopted child and it warped his thinking. When I last brought up the subject he had such a hurt look I decided never again.

I'm unhappy, unfulfilled and I'm becoming deeply depressed. What to do? —NORA

DEAR NORA: A childless woman of 26 whose husband refuses to adopt can satisfy her maternal instincts in a variety of ways. She can be educated for teaching or nursing, or she can do volunteer work with children on a non-professional basis.

If your husband is opposed to your working you can take in a foster child or two. Many children who are not adoptable need a home and loving care. Such an arrangement can be mutually rewarding.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I run a small snack shop near a high school. School starts soon and we need advice. We have a hard time keeping a waitress because a certain group of teen-agers are rude and demanding.

They take the paper napkins, wad them up, shred them or just soak them in water glasses. We don't leave toothpicks out any more because they grab handfuls and just break them up. They carve initials on the tables and chairs, write smart cracks on the walls and walk out with salt and pepper shakers and catsup and mustard dispensers.

Most of the teen-agers who come in are mannerly and pleasant, but this particular bunch drives away adult customers and hurts our business with the better kids. We've told a few of the rougher ones not to come in any more, but they say a restaurant is a public place. What can we do? —PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: A restaurant is NOT a public place. It is a privately owned business which caters to the public.

You have a right to refuse admittance (or evict) anyone who behaves in a destructive manner. In fact you can enlist the aid of the law.

Crack down hard on the barbarians this fall and let them know they can't bully you any longer.

DEAR ANN: A woman who works in our office is well-known for her off-color jokes. Every day she has a few "gems." Some of them are plain filthy.

I find these stories offensive and when the group gathers I keep busy and stay away. One of the nicer women who has always been helpful suggested that I join the circle and just "listen." I asked why. She said, "Because you give the impression you are better than they are — and place yourself outside the office circle."

I've thought this over seriously. Is she right?

— OFFICE FREAK

DEAR O. F.: No. It's a mistake to lower your standards to "fit in." You are on solid ground so long as yo don't try to reform or judge. Just make it plain you're not interested.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomato-Mush Covers Turnpike After Truck Crash

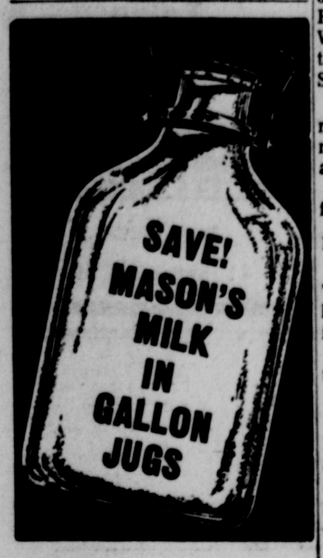

EAST PROVIDENCE, Pa. (AP) — Four lanes of the Pennsylvania Turnpike were covered with squashed tomatoes Thursday when a truck went out of control and hit a guard rail.

State Police identified the truck driver and his assistant as William S. Cox and John Thomas, both of Crisfield, Md. The two men told authorities the steering mechanism of the truck apparently broke as the vehicle was rounding a curve. The truck was taking the tomatoes to market.

Cox and Thomas suffered minor injuries. They were treated at Bedford County Memorial Hospital and released.

Termed Weakness

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Harvard University expert on government organization said Thursday it is a national weakness to believe that an elaborate table of organization can make up for the defects of men.

Don K. Price Jr., dean of the Graduate School of Business Administration, said this belief limits efforts to coordinate policy in the executive office of the president.

He said policy-makers appointed by the president should have more leeway in transfering high-ranking civil servants who don't go along wholeheartedly with the political direction of the government.

John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, said "we all want to give raises," but have to know where the funds are to come from. He said he did not "see anything in Streets that we can give up."

Mr. Fleming said he was not satisfied with a budget which does not have something for the workers.

City officials agreed the lack of a raise will bring more resignations but that a city "can't compete with private industry."

Mr. Gibson raised the possibility that it might be possible to reconsider the budget after January 1, when funds can be switched as needed.

W. Va. Young Democrats Open Convention

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Business sessions open Friday in the annual convention of West Virginia Young Democrats with an address by Richard K. Donahue, special consultant to President Kennedy on domestic affairs.

However, the chief interest in the two-day meeting is Saturday when election of officers is scheduled. A floor fight was apparently in the offing.

Former House of Delegates member Thomas Godby, Logan, now Logan county assessor, and Princeton lawyer Walter W. Burton are both seeking the post as successor to Cotton White, Beckley. Joe Rodriguez, Beckley, appeared to have no opposition for vice president.

A couple of other darkhorse candidates also have been mentioned for president — James Sprouse, South Charleston, and Charles McDermott, Grafton.

Gov. W. W. Barron is scheduled to address the session Saturday.

Higher Work Quota In Red 'Paradise'

The work-norm system in Soviet satellites requires each worker to meet a fixed production quota in order to receive the minimum wage. If a worker exceeds the norm he is entitled to a bonus, but when the norm is exceeded by any large number of workers a new and higher quota is imposed.

An East German government decree of May 28, 1953 upped the work norm by 10 per cent. Previous bonuses were eliminated. Thus the increase in the norm had the effect of a wage cut for most workers—at a time when they were barely able to live on existing pay scales.

Resentment grew. Finally on the morning of June 16 workers in the Stalin Allee construction project in East Berlin—for the most part a "loyal" hand-picked force, for this was the showpiece of the Soviet sector—suddenly and without unified leadership or central direction began to gather in small groups in the streets. Shouting to others in adjoining buildings, they formed columns and began a march toward the headquarters of the East German government. The East Berlin riots which broke out then spread to other East German cities and threatened for the first time to overwhelm a Soviet-sponsored government. The insurrection was put down by the tanks and machine guns of the Red Army after 48 hours of bloodshed.

Now the hated norms are being reintroduced in East Germany. Output that is accepted as top quality—"quality grade No. 1"—is rewarded with 100 per cent of the usual wage. Quality grade No. 2 earns only 90 per cent of the usual wage; quality grade No. 3, 70 per cent. Communist inspectors do the grading.

The new system is openly described as "cheapening" the cost of production. The Communists explain that they have to lower the cost of production to prepare for a possible Western boycott. But whatever the explanation, raising the work quota when much of the labor force is now held against its will would appear foolish, if not downright ominous.

Scandinavians Amazed As Birchers Ask Impeachment Of Chief Justice

(Editor's Note—En route to Moscow, Drew Pearson writes a column on the Scandinavian countries.)

By Drew Pearson

OSLO, Norway — The little town of Haugesund, Norway, is known to most Norwegians as the birthplace of the father of the Chief Justice of the United States. Earl Warren's father left Haugesund at the age of two in 1865, migrated to America, and became a locomotive engineer on the Southern Pacific Railway in Bakersfield, Calif.

Every so often the Chief Justice has come back to Norway and to Sweden, where Mrs. Warren was born. This summer, the Warrens flew from Ausfralia, where they had gone to represent the United States at the request of the State Department, to Norway, where, as usual, they were greeted with great enthusiasm.

Suddenly in the middle of their reception, the New York Times European edition front-paged a report from Tuisa, Okla., that the John Birch Society was offering $2,300 in prizes for essays by college students on why the Chief Justice should be impeached.

The reaction of Norwegians and Swedes was one of bewilderment. Here was a man who three times was elected governor of California by tremendous majorities, who ran for Vice President of the United States in 1948 on the Republican ticket, and now serves as Chief Justice of the most important court in the world.

Yet the John Birch Society wants to impeach him.

Scandinavians, of course, don't know much about the John Birch Society, and that its founder called both Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles Communists. They were amazed first, that anyone should want to impeach a man who had reached such a high position and who had just been sent as an official U. S. representative to Australia. Second, they couldn't understand why The New York Times should play up the story on page one of its European edition.

Chief Justice Warren's reaction was somewhat different.

"I'll have to get Mrs. Warren to enter the contest," he chuckled. "She knows more of my faults than anyone else — unless it's my three boys. Maybe she could win first prize and my boys could win the other prizes. Then we could keep the money in the family."

Tourists To USA

It's no secret that when the hard-working Secretary of Commerce went to Europe last spring to promote American tourism he got plenty of speeches but no tourists. European travel agents were very discouraging. However, Jack Logan, who represents General Foods in Washington and the MIGROS chain stores in Switzerland, has now come up with a special tour of 1,000 Swiss customers of MIGROS.

The interesting thing is that Gotlieb Duttweiler, head of MIGROS,

The interesting thing is that Gotlieb Duttweiler, head of MIGROS, is giving this trip to the USA as a reward to his customers, instead of giving them green stamps.

Duttweiler has gone in for cultural rewards rather than trading stamps. Those who trade at his stores get tickets to the opera, to musical concerts, adult education classes, and now, a two-week trip to the USA.

Duttweiler and Logan have worked this out so that the round trip will cost only $500, including fare on chartered Swiss airplanes, and all-expense paid trips to New York, Washington, Niagara Falls and Chicago. The thousand Swiss won't come all at once. They'll arrive in installments, in what may be the first breaking of the tourist barrier between the United States and Europe.

Whales To Japan

What churned up the Norwegian people this summer was not so much the Berlin crisis, but whales.

Specifically, Norwegians didn't like the sale of one of their big whaling ships, SS Kosmos II, to Japan, which is already rivaling Norway for leadership of the whaling industry.

Every October, 3,000 Norwegians sail with the whaling fleets to the Antarctic, where the big blue whales are still plentiful. There, they spend four months harpooning whales, blowing them up so they'll float, sticking flags on them, then coming back to the dead floating whales 24 hours or so later to tow them to the mother ship.

The latter is a floating factory which uses almost every part of the whale with the same efficiency as the Chicago Stock Yards use everything about the pig except the squeal.

About 10 hunter vessels are attached to each floating factory, and it was one of these big vessels that was sold to Japan.

Last season the Japanese harpooned 5,900 blue whales, while the Norwegians harpooned 5,190—the first time teh yotsotulqetaoi the first time they lost out to the Japanese. The loss was attributed to the skill of one Japanese harpooner. The Norwegians hitherto have trained the best harpooners. Their skill depends on their ability to gauge the time between the spout of a whale and the time it comes up to spout again. During that next spout the harpoon must be fired.

"Blue whales are from 70 to 140 tons in size," explained a Norwegian guide to Chief Justice Warren. "They have a tongue that weighs three and a half tons."

Sealing Berlin May Make Negotiations Easier

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Nikita S. Khrushchev has now taken the brutal step that Josef Stalin himself always refrained from taking. With a clang heard around the world, he has closed the Berlin-gate of his East German jail.

Khrushchev's act is a timely recall to reality, for the increasing numbers of persons in the West who have been Vostok-bemused. Despite the impressive material achievements of the Soviet Union, the essential nature of Communist society remains unchanged. Every Communist society in fact resembles a vast prison, or at least a prison camp.

The East German jail has long enjoyed many practical advantages over most of the other "peoples' democracies." With all sorts of favoring factors such as extra-large Soviet credits and unusually skilled manpower, the odious chief jailer, Walther Ulbricht, really ought to have made this particular jail a fairly bearable place, at least as jails go. But Ulbricht failed so conspicuously that the jail-gate had to be shut at last, by Khurshchev's direct order.

Such is the obvious moral meaning of the grim events at Berlin, which probably condemned the millions of East Germans who hesitated too long to use the Berlin-gate to life terms under Ulbricht and his successors. Politics being what they are, however, the political meaning of the closing of the jail-gate does not exactly gibe with its moral meaning.

Every finger must be kept crossed, of course. The Western nations must undoubtedly keep their powder very dry indeed. Yet this ruthless closing of the jail-gate, which so properly evokes deep moral indignation, may also improve the chances of a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

The facts are hard and cruel, but they have to be faced. In the first place, the "liberation" policy, proclaimed by the late John Foster Dulles with such evangelistic fervor in 1952, was shown to be as phony as a $3 bill when even Dulles rejected the opportunity presented by the East German rising in 1953.

Since then, it has been clear that the Western nations are not going to take any risks to "liberate" the Eastern Europeans, including the East Germans. Logically, that rules out fighting to keep the jail-gate open.

In the second place, no responsible Western leader, in this country or in Europe, has suggested going to war to prevent Khrushchev from signing his proposed peace treaty with the odious Ulbricht. The bolder spirits, including President Kennedy and President Eisenhower, have merely said that we must fight for the freedom of West Berlin, and for the access routes which safeguard this freedom. All Western policymakers have further conceded the need to offer Khrushchev some sort of face-saving arrangements, in order to protect the freedom of Berlin without a war.

Consider, then, what has happened against the background of these hard facts. On the one hand, this shutting of the Berlin-gate of his East German jail with a loud, public clang is bound to be deeply damaging to Khrushchev. It is an implied admission of a very terrible kind. If he still expected to get the whole of Berlin into his grip — a much simpler way of doing the job — he would probably have tolerated a continuing trickle of refugees.

That was why he generally expected to be content with stopping access to East Berlin, instead of closing the border between the two halves of the city. The flood of regugees would then have become a trickle, and the clang of the closing gate would not have been heard around the world.

Instead, however, Khrushchev has gone to the extreme limit. This suggests then he has begun to realize that he may have to be satisfied with signing his peace treaty with Ulbricht, while leaving free Berlin and its access routes severely alone.

On the other hand, the closing of the jail-gate also simplifies the Western task of finding face-saving arrangements. It was not possible to imagine any arrangement to save Khrushchev's face, as long as Eastern Germans were still flooding out through the Berlin gate. But it was also impossible to imagine Western acceptance of the moral obloquy of denying the right of sanctuary to East German refugees.

This seemingly insuperable difficulty can now be surmounted, with the jail-gate firmly closed by Khrushchev's own order. He has accepted the moral obloquy, and thus he has effectively crossed the refugee problem off the list of Berlin problems.

In this manner he has opened the way, whether consciously or unintentionally, to a negotiated settlement that will leave Berlin genuinely, enduringly free. The horror at least has this much good in it.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Who Are They?

I see in a Soviet publication a list of Lenin Peace Prize winners and I wonder who some of them are and what they got the Peace Prize for. The winners, this year, are:

"Premier Fidel Castro (Cuba), President Sekou Toure (Guinea), Mme. Rameshwari Nehru (India), writer Mihail Sadoveanu (Rumania), architect Antoine George Tabet (Lebanon), Ostap Dluski (Poland) and William Morrow (Australia)."

Precisely what have these people done to bring peace to the world? Certainly Fidel Castro has not helped the world toward peace; rather he has brought the world closer to war. From this one example, it is possible to wonder whether in the Aesopian language of Soviet Russia peace is not war and war is not peace.

The name of William Morrow of Australia is here. What has William Morrow done to achieve world peace or, for that matter, what could he have done? Or to go a step further, what in particular can Australia do about war or peace?

One gets to wonder about these prizes. What do the Nobel Peace Prizes represent in history? I take the first dozen names from 1901-1908:

"1901—H. Dunant (Swi.); Fred Passy (F.); 1902—E. Ducommun & A. Gobat (Swi.); 1903—Sir William R. Cremer (Br.); 1904—Institute of International law; 1905—Bertha von Suttner (Aus.); 1906—Theodore Roosevelt (A.); 1907—E. T. Moneta (I.); L. Renault (F.); 1908—Klas P. Arnoldson (Swe.); Frederick Bajer (Dn.)."

Except for Theodore Roosevelt and L. Renault, what role have these winners played in history? But let us go a step further: what actually did Theodore Roosevelt do for peace? He got his prize for bringing the Russo-Japanese War to an end by the Treaty of Portsmouth which may be an act of peace, depending upon how one views the consequences of historic acts.

The last Nobel Peace Prize winners rather indicate that difficulty is found in making any selection at all.

In 1959, a Britisher, Noel-Baker, was chosen; in 1958, the Reverend Dominique Georges Pire, another Britisher, got it; in 1957, it went to Lester Pearson of Canada and then they could find no one for some years because in 1953, it was given to General George Marshall. Certainly Lester Pearson and General Marshall never did anything for peace. I could not find Reverend Pire's name in any reference book.

While I was looking at lists of prize-winners, I had a look at the Pulitzer Prizes and found a few important names who have left some reputation behind them, but too many of the really great have been omitted.

It is cruel to look at such lists, for how many of us will survive a decade of memory or even six months? Of the billions of human beings in the long history of man, few names survive. The peacemakers, in particular, have been few in number and of those, few achieved peace. The war-makers have been more successful and more famous. Everybody knows the name, Napoleon, who never won a peace prize. Very few know of Alexander I of Russia who really tried to make peace but failed.

I wonder if Abraham Lincoln would have won a peace prize if such were around in his day? In his heart, he wanted peace. He did not make a war but when it came upon him, he fought it to a success. But he hated war and would have made peace at any time. His program for peace, after the war, might have saved the country from much grief. But he won no prizes.

There is no telling who of the present figures in our society will last a decade or a century in history. Will the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry Truman or Dwight D. Eisenhower stand out monumentally? Will they count for as much in history as Stalin or Khrushchev or even Hitler? History has curious ways of picking its great figures and curiously enough it is not the peace-maker but the war-maker who fills pages. True, we do know something about Aristotle, but more about his pupil, Alexander. Alexander or Iskander, as he is sometimes called, has had cities named about him and millions of children have been given his name as their name, but how many are named after Aristotle? The only one on record is a Greek shipowner who is famous for his connection with a temperamental and noisy soprano.

STATES DEADLOCKED — Under the 1960 census, some states gained sufficient population to entitle them to a greater number of Congressmen, and some lost, and their Congressional representation will be reduced. It is up to each of these states to rearrange their Congressional districts to provide for the addition or subtraction.

Four of these states—California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts — are deadlocked. They have been unable to obtain agreement in their state legislatures for rearrangements of the districts.

If these states should be unable to break their deadlocks, the results will be to enhance Republican chances of gaining control in the House of Representatives in the national elections next year.

Failing to redistrict, each of the Congressmen in the four states will have to run for election on state-wide ballots, instead of from areas where they are known and their political strength is relatively secure. The rural areas of each of these states has been traditionally Republican, with the Democratic Congressmen coming from the larger cities.

Thus, there is a good chance that some of the Democratic incumbents will meet with defeat when they are faced with statewide elections.

For different reasons, there are reports that seven Senate Democrats are also in trouble and face probable defeat. Likewise, two Republican Senators are in similar trouble in their states.

If this forecast should prove correct, the Democratic majority in the Senate would be impaired, but not destroyed in the 1962 election—in which one-third of the senatorial seats will be filled.

HEIDELBERG, Germany. — Coming south on the autobahn out of Frankfurt, the flat farms and vineyards on the left side leap up into green mountains which hold the white clouds mesmerized on their finger tips. Nothing moves except a chill breeze which walks blindly across the neat farms and feels the mountains for the passes.

This city, like a fat Plattdeutscher, sits astride the Neckar River south of Mannheim, and is the only town of 130,000 which was not bombed in the war. General Patton's Third Army took it. As the tanks rolled down the valley, some S.S. troops dynamited two spans of the old Roman bridge. This was the extent of Heidelberg's participation in the war.

Americans remember Heidelberg as the site of an operetta called "The Student Prince." The people here do not like to discuss it. They shrug and smile apologetically. They know the story of Kathy, the waitress, who fell in love with the student prince, and they know the lovely tunes and they are aware that the prince became a king and was not permitted to marry Kathy.

Ernest Lubitsch came here in 1928 to film the story, and it was pretty old then. There is a house on Neuenheimer Landstrasse where the movie was made. Today, it is an old pink stucco box and, if one studies it long enough, the shutters open slightly and giggling girls appear at the windows. They are here to study languages.

They are too young and too pretty to recall that Norma Shearer was once the beauty of this house, and the star of the picture. The prince was played by Ramon Navarro, and the autographed pictures hang on a wall downstairs near an old upright piano.

All of it is long ago. Nobody cares. Along the grassy banks of the Neckar, students lounge in the sun with their girls, and talk of the uneasy peace and the world of tomorrow. They do not wear pill box hats, although many of the boys on the university side of town wear scanty leather shorts and heavy shoes. They study hard in the ancient buildings, but they have no sense of history.

That side of the town moves steeply up the mountain side, up past the Jesuit Church with its new white interior, through the narrow alleys to the old Heidelberg Castle, called Schloss. It is a series of hollow ruins, with green saplings growing out from between the ancient stones, but it has a commanding view of the town below and the sun spangling the river.

The Schloss was built around 1693 by Prince Electors, but, like most Germanic objects, it has come to a tragic end not once, but twice. It was burned down, rebuilt, and burned again. Someone lit the powder in the shot tower and half of one rounded side slid down into a deep moat. It stands there today.

The Schloss has an old and ornate stone gate, full of stone snails and stone squirrels with nuts in their teeth. Back in the 17th century, a German prince built it in one night as a surprise for his lady love. It was completed and the lady walked under its huge arch in the morning.

Halfway down the hill there is a student dormitory called Duelling House, but duelling is now against the law. Some students arrive for morning classes with big bandages across their foreheads, but the professors do not ask how the accident happened. A solid scar across the face is almost as good as a bachelor of science degree.

There are trolley cars with overhead wires, and a cable car to carry the lazy and the fat up the mountain. The beers are dark and strong; the local wines are pale and heady. There is a market place laden with dewy vegetables and, on cool mornings, blue smoke comes from the chimney pots on the rooftops.

Once, in 1693, all of Heidelberg burned down except one building. It is the Hotel zum Ritter and it was standing a hundred years before the great fire. It is still standing. And still doing business.

The S.S. men put the modern torch to Heidelberg when they blew the old bridge in 1945. Heidelbergers do not want such signs of modernity. They searched all of Europe to match the reddish sandstone of their bridge. Then they rebuilt it, exactly as it was.

A French writer, Edgar Quinet, once said, in grudging admiration: "This Heidelberg, it is the home of the soul."

Maybe . . .

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In World War II several English army cooks developed an eruption of the hands and face after peeling parsnips in the open air. The rash alarmed the men who feared it meant the Germans were using mustard or blister gas.

Army medical specialists were called immediately and their diagnosis was startling, if not ridiculous to the men: The cooks' skin had become sensitive to light by handling parsnips. The rash resembled acute sunburn, with large blisters.

Contact with various chemicals, drugs and plants is known to sensitize the skin to light. Parsnips is one and the list includes mustard, celery, carrots, figs, buttercups, and limes. The period of exposure to the sun need not occur simultaneously with contact or the ingestion of the sensitizers. The outbreak usually appears up to 40 hours later.

Oil of bergamot, a common ingredient of perfume, was one of the first drugs to be implicated in allergy to light. During the occupation of Poland, German physicians noted that girls with long pigtails frequently applied cologne to combat greasiness. Patches of pigmentation occurred on the shoulders and back due to the combined effects of sunlight and the cologne that dripped from the hair. The dark pigmentation that develops on the temples and skin of many women has been traced to the use of perfumes and cosmetics containing chemicals that sensitize the skin.

A rash on the exposed parts of the body following the use of various medications including the sulfonamides, sedatives, and the newer diuretics has been traced to this type of skin sensitivity.

There also is a practical aspect to the pigmentation produced by the sun, following the use of drugs. The Egyptians, for example, long have applied extracts of Ammi majus Linn to repigment parts affected by vitiligo (leucoderma). The outgrowth of this observation was the development of the psoralens, which helped some victims of these white patches. This product accentuates the effects of the sun and has been useful in vitiligo and in hastening a tan in persons who usually burn when exposed to the sun.

REPLY

Nothing, except to wipe the brow with a handkerchief or tissue. Medicines that reduce sweating are available but they may have side effects that are worse than sweating. A new dusting powder form of diphemanil methylsulfate (Prantal) is reported to be of help in excessive perspiration of the feet.

LIVER CIRRHOSIS

J. F. writes: Is diet of any value in cirrhosis of the liver?

Yes. Meals should be rich in proteins and carbohydrates but low in fats. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cirrhosis of the liver.

President of a big importing house hired a new secretary the other day and and put her to work at once taking down long letters to agents in Hong Kong, Buenos Aires, Rome, Stockholm, and Hawaii. A short time later the girl poked her head in his door and reported cheerfully, "Mission accomplished." "That's quick work," beamed the importer. "Where did you learn to type letters so fast?"

"I didn't," admitted the girl. "I just phoned those agents instead. That's much faster than writing."

Shoot him as he approaches the platform."

Others chosen are Eddie Daskal, vice-president; Herbert Harman, who was re-elected treasurer; and Alan Paine, retained as secretary.

Named to the board of directors for two-year terms are Henry Hornak, Edwin Jordan, Arnold Sliger, and Joseph Wimer. Donald Heare was elected to a one-year term on the board to serve in the vacancy created by Thomas Bosley. He was also appointed to fill out the remaining term of 1961.

Westernport Has $14,600 At End Of Year

WESTERNPORT — The Town of Westernport had a $14,600 balance on hand as of July 1, more than twice the amount for the previous fiscal year, according to the Mayor and Council last night.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt also presented the estimated budget $187,420.00 with the same expenditures for 1961-62.

Harvey Sanders, of Sanders and Hershman Garage, Oakland, conferred with town officials concerning the sale of a Massey-Ferguson tractor for $7,800. It is equipped with a hoe and digger.

Sanders said his firm will allow a trade of $2,000 on the present tractor of the town. If no trade-in is acceptable, he added, a discount of $700 will be allowed. No action was taken on the proposal.

Mrs. Katherine Hartig, town clerk, reported receipts from parking meters and violations the past two weeks amounted to $198.61. Water receipts netted $2,148.89, making the water balance on hand $6,576.53.

Clyde Marsh, Ross Street, asked the town to open a road from Ross to Likens Streets. There are five lots in that area where homes may be built. He also asked that the water line be extended.

Henry Wilt, formerly of Main Street, who has moved to Kalamazoo, Mich., asked for a refund on his garbage card. Favorable action was taken.

The charge for Main Street residents, who will connect with the pipeline along Georges Creek which will carry water to the Upper Potomac River Commission disposal plant at the lower end of town, was discussed.

The building to house the electric pump on Philos Avenue has been completed, and the pump has been ordered.

Bank Face Lifting Progresses

Work is 80 per cent completed on remodeling the front of the Fidelity Bank Building, East Main Street, Frostburg, and should be completed by September 15, Ralph M. Race, president, said yesterday. The old Indiana Limestone front was removed beginning April 20 and a new and modern glass front installed. Eighty square feet was added to the interior of the banking headquarters by the remodeling. Race said practically all supplies were furnished locally: Jesse Fuller and Son are the General Contractors and Stephen J. Matthews, Philadelphia, the architect. The old town clock, a fixture at this location for over 40 years was removed from it's location on the side walk and will be replaced by a new clock to be attached to the building and will be visible from the First Methodist Church east to Grant Street. Trim for the building is Furnace Creek, Pa., black marble on the bottom; Alabama white marble on the sides and ceramic tile across the top. Air conditioning was installed a year ago in the bank to permit the use of this new type front.

The league will officially begin September 10 at the Recreation Alleys and bowl a 35-week schedule.

Tentative plans are to have four teams participate in the roll-offs with the banquet to be held the week following.

The next meeting will be held August 28 at 7 p. m. to make final preparations.

Progress Made On Plan To Renovate Cemetery

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—C. C. Wise and Carl S. Welton, members of the Olivet Cemetery Association and only active members of the committee, met with the Community Council to discuss suggested improvements on the cemetery.

Both Wise and Welton agreed that dead trees should be removed from the cemetery before damage is done to gravestones; that brush, which has grown up and become unsightly, should be removed; that it would be much safer to use the entrance on Route 55 for an entrance only and to mark the back road for exit.

The committee from the council had also suggested that lots in the old part of the cemetery, which are surrounded by iron fences, would have at least a panel of those fences removed so it may be possible to get in and clean out the weeds and brush. This, Mr. Wise and Mr. Welton said, would be a more difficult matter because they would need permission from owners and some of those lots have no members of the family who can be reached.

Wise thought it would be a good idea to call a meeting of persons owning lots on the cemetery (who are, by the charter rights of the Cemetery Association, stockholders) and set up an organization, such as is called for in the charter. He and Welton would be willing to continue to serve on the committee but welcomed the idea of cooperation from the community.

Mr. Wise stated, that when he and Mr. Welton were selected to serve on the committee that the Cemetery Association had a debt of $3,000, owing for the purchase of an addition to the cemetery; that during their incumbency, they had paid off the debt and had money in bonds to care for unexpected expenses—such as the opening up of the land east of the present cemetery.

Other matters before the council were tabled until the September meeting when there would be better attendance and reports on inquiries. The Community Council furnished persons to man the Information Booth at Hotel McNeill during the Poultry Festival.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Rafer Johnson, our brilliant decathalon champion who is proving himself as an actor as well, starts his fifth movie for 20th in "The Lion" with William Holden, and of course, the lion.

Producer Sam Engel is already in Kenya, Africa, headquartering at Holden's Kenya Safari Club, for an October 3rd starting date. This thriller is from the novel by Joseph Kessel and in it, Rafer plays the African chieftain to Bill's big game hunter.

Come to think of it, Rafer has an important stop before Africa. He's due in Israel after promising to appear at the Israeli Olympic games coming up.

If Gina Lollobrigida will consent to play Ann Eliza in the motion picture version of "The 27th Wife," Irving Wallace said that he will change Brigham Young's last wife to an Italian immigrant girl.

But before Gina makes up her mind about that, she will be invited by Rock Hudson to play opposite him in "Somersault" by Frank and Eleanor Perry. Henry Willson, vice-president of Rock's company, is now having this very smart comedy adapted for the screen.

This all came about after Rock and Gina were co-starred in "Come September" and did alright for themselves.

A real old-timer, Chester Morris—former movie star, is in town to play a role in the "Checkmate" TV series at Universal-International. He hasn't made a picture at that studio since 1941.

Chester looks almost as young as he did in his heyday. As soon as he finishes the "checkmate" segment, he will resume his national tour in "Advise and Consent."

He says he now has a total of six grandsons. His son, Brooks, is a captain with the Air Force stationed at Victorville.

Each composer present sang his own songs at Ned Washington's surprise birthday party. Johnny Mercer, who has a better voice than some of the other lads, sang one he said wasn't a hit. Harry Warren sang and sang, so did the host and hostess, and my neighbor Leo Robin joined the throng around the piano. Jimmy McHugh played and Harold Adamson sang two of their compositions. Jack Oakie, who is one of the funniest men in the whole world, furnished the comedy.

Donald O'Connor told me that maybe he was asleep when I telephoned, but every time he called me, he was told that I was eating. Among those who loved the entertainment were Caesar Romero, Ellie and David Janssen, Marie Wilson and Bob Fallon, Mrs. Gus Kahn, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Tandowsky, an old friend and Jimmy Starr in a red lined coat with Mrs. S.

When Ned came home and saw all the cars in front of his house, he said to Patti—"Wouldn't you think our next door neighbors, the Lipskeys, would invite us when they have a big party?"

The dedication of the beautiful new Family Theatre on Sunset Boulevard on Tuesday, was like a dream come true to those of us who had heard Father Patrick Peyton outline his plans in 1945. Since then, many big stars have been on his radio program, "The Family that Prays Together Stays Together."

I will have more to say later on the sensational work Father Peyton did in Caracas, Venezuela, when 600,000 attended his meetings and joined his crusade against communism. Many of those in attendance were the students who were very loud in the Communist cause when former vice-president Nixon visited there.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

When the New York Yankees come here August 23rd to play the Los Angeles Angels, Doris Day, who has reserved six boxes, will take the "Touch of Mink" troup to Wrigley Field to watch Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, who are in the movie.

Josh Logan's worries over the box office appeal of "Fanny" are now groundless. It's doing a record breaking business in Hollywood, and in New York its gross was $1,033,576 as it went into its seventh week.

Paid off handsomely for David Lange, Hope's young brother, when he visited Glenn Ford in San Francisco. David was given the role of undercover agent in "Experiment Terror" (new title). He also had a small part with Glenn in "Pocketful of Miracles."

When Sir Laurence Olivier's baby is born in December, he will be in Ireland filming "Term of Trial," but producer Jimmy Woolf says he has arranged with Director Peter Glenville to give Larry three full days off when his and Joan Plowright's child is born.

Kathryn Grayson, who has been blowing up a storm with the straw hat circuit around the country in "The Merry Widow" and "Naughty Marietta," sends word from Warren, Ohio, that she's formed her own company to make a movie from an original script called "The Lady Says Yes."

On the set of "Notorious Landlady," Fred Astaire talked Jack

New Microwave Relay Equipment
will soon be installed for the entire Potomac Valley area!
SERVING 18,000 HOMES

Through their joint effort, and the expenditure of a tremendous amount of money, Potomac Valley TV Company, Cumberland, Keyser Cable Company, Keyser and the Upper Potomac TV Company, Piedmont will have identical TV signals and are locating new microwave relay stations. Now five TV channels will be microwaved at all times, with a total of twelve TV stations available from which to select additional sports and other special programs.

NOW NO CITY WILL HAVE MORE TV STATIONS TO CHOOSE FROM...nor have such glistening, life-like pictures to view!

One microwave receiving point will be located on Cacapon Mountain, near Cacapon State Park, where extremely strong TV signals are received from Washington, Baltimore and Lancaster. These signals will be microwaved not only to Cumberland but to Keyser and Piedmont as well.

Another microwave receiving point will be from Potomac Valley TV's antenna site on Iron's Mountain directly to the Keyser and Piedmont receiving site. This relay will alternately carry TV stations from Altoona, Harrisonburg, Johnstown and Pittsburgh.

Potomac Valley TV Company will be able to absorb the extra cost of these new relay systems due to its larger number of subscribers as it only means better pictures and no additional TV stations for them. However it will be necessary for Keyser Cable Company and the Upper Potomac Cable Company to adjust their monthly rates to partially cover the additional costs of this superb new service.

Jack Fisher Stops Detroit, 3-1; Yankees Win To Increase Lead

Herzog Bats In All Three Orioles Runs

Whitey Hits Homer And Single; Bengals Now Trail By Four

DETROIT (AP) — Whitey Herzog drove in all the Baltimore Orioles' runs with a homer and single Thursday and Jack Fisher's stout pitching stopped the Detroit Tigers 3-1.

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Mike Fornieles walked Ken Aspromonte with the bases full in the 14th inning Thursday night to force in the winning run and give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Johnny Romano hit a two-run homer in the last of the ninth to tie the score.

Bobby Locke, who pitched the final two innings, was the winner. Bill Dailey, Tribe farmhand brought up from Salt Lake City this week, made his major league debut, coming into the game in the ninth inning and blanking the Red Sox for four innings on one single. He walked one and fanned three.

Ike Delock, who started for the Red Sox, was just one out away from winning when Romano hit his homerun to score behind Willie Kirkland, who had walked.

Pirates, Cubs Split Twin Bill

Bucs Win 4-3 After Losing Opener, 11-4

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader Thursday, the Cubs winning the opener, 11-4, to give Dick Drott his first win since June of 1959, and the Pirates taking the nightcap, 4-3, with a two-run rally in the eighth inning.

Bill Mazeroski doubled to open the Pirates eighth in the second game and came home to break a 2-2 tie when Joe Christopher singled. Christopher moved up on a throw to the plate and scored what proved to be the winning run when Roberto Clemente rapped a single off reliever Don Elston.

The victory went to Earl Francis who worked seven innings and needed help from Elroy Face after walking the Cubs' first batter in the eighth. Face retired the next three men, but Billy Williams belted his 21st home run after two outs in the ninth.

Ernie Banks paced Chicago's 13-hit assault in the first game, driving in four runs with his 22nd and 23rd home runs and a double. Andre Rogers clouted a three-run homer and Ron Santo hit the fourth Cub round-tripper in the opener with the bases empty.

Chisox Bow To New York By 5-3 Score

Luis Arroyo Saves Win For Stafford In Ninth Inning

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle failed to hit any home runs Thursday but the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

The White Sox, shut out by Bill Stafford for eight innings, broke out with three runs in the ninth before Luis Arroyo finally could retire the side, saving Stafford's 10th victory.

Maris, who had 48 homers, went hitless in four trips against loser Frank Baumann. Mantle's homer total remained at 45 but he tripled, walked and grounded out twice, driving in his 105th and 106th runs.

Except for Mantle's long triple off Jim Landis' glove in deep right center in the first inning, the Chicago pitching had Mantle and Maris grounding to the infield. Maris has hit 13 homers off White Sox pitching and Mantle has hit four.

Stafford had a six-single shutout going to the ninth until he walked Al Smith and Sherm Lollar and gave up a single to pinch hitter Camilo Carreon. Arroyo then replaced Stafford.

Sam Esposito's sacrifice fly scored Smith and Nellie Fox was hit by a pitched ball loading the bases. When Landis forced Fox, Lollar scored. Floyd Robinson's single knocked in Carreon. Pinch hitter Bob Roselli flied to Mantle for the game-ending out.

Beall Gridders Report, Elect Team Captains

Approximately 80 candidates reported for initial football drills at Frostburg's Beall High School this week, and Coach Jerry Calhoun said practice sessions will continue daily at 10 a.m. and at 3 p.m.

The squad includes 26 freshmen, Calhoun stated.

Initial drills are being concentrated on football fundamentals such as ball handling, passing, punting and conditioning, Calhoun said.

The team elected co-captains for the 1961 season, naming Jerry Delaney and Jim Robertson to lead the squad.

Delaney is an end and letterman with two years grid experience, playing mostly on offense. Robertson has been a letterman for two years and had played football for three seasons. He is a halfback and will play defensive linebacker this year. He is the team's placement kicker.

Both youths are seniors.

Assisting Calhoun this year are Bob Chaney and Russell Fitzgerald. The former has been an assistant coach at Beall for three years. Fitzgerald is an ex-Bruce High athlete and is a member of the Beall High faculty.

Bill Casper Open Leader

Fires Opening 66 At Silver Spring

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Billy Casper, who has won nothing but money this year on the golf course, forged into the first-round lead of the $35,000 Indian Spring Open Thursday by chopping four strokes off a tough par 70.

The pudgy 30-year-old from Apple Valley, Calif., as usual made good use of his reliable putter in taking 66 shots to go around the 7,031-yard course.

It moved him two strokes ahead of a pair of early leaders, Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif.

Casper hasn't won a tournament since last October. But the 210-pounder has gathered in $31,433, fourth highest among the touring pros, and will play on the U.S. Ryder Cup team in England in October.

The first-prize money dangling before Casper and the 146 other competitors is $5,300 in the tournament being held for the first time in Maryland. It winds up Sunday after 72 holes.

Frederick Legion Loses Regional Opener, 3 To 0

Strong pitching prevailed as the three teams defeated clubs representing Delaware, West Virginia and Maryland in the double-elimination tournament.

Brooklawn (N. J.) Post 72 defeated Post 21 of Wilmington, Del., 8-3, in 10 innings; Washington Gas Light won over Post 94 of South Charleston, W. Va., 5-2 and Huttner-Pasqualini Post 1367 of Staten Island, N. Y. defeated Post 11 of Frederick, Md., 3-0.

Delaware plays West Virginia in a loser's bracket game today at 10 a. m.; New Jersey plays the District of Columbia at 1 p. m. and New York and Maryland have byes.

In the final game Thursday, lefthander Tom Edwards of New York scattered three hits and struck out 13 in setting down the Maryland champions. He also knocked in New York's first run with a single in the third.

Losing pitcher Chris Sole, hurling equally as well, also threw a three-hitter but his teammates were unable to push across the runs.

Frederick's three hits were collected by Bill Seidling, Wayne Hawes and Bobby Franklin whose double in the 8th was his team's only extra base blow.

Guy Still, Maryland's regular third baseman, injured his hand in the pre-game warmups and was unable to play. Adrian Winpegler filled in for him at the hot corner and played errorless ball.

Earlier, lefthander Jim Magee of New Jersey set down Delaware on five hits, striking out 13. Brooklawn scored five runs in the top of the 10th inning to seal the verdict after Wilmington had tied the game 3-3 in the bottom of the ninth.

Righthander Ken Claro whiffed 15 for Washington and allowed West Virginia only four hits. Claro helped his cause with a two-run single in the third inning as his team collected four runs.

(End of regular season)

Ritter's Athletic Club clinched second place and the Knights of Columbus tied the Celanese A.A. for fourth place yesterday as the Rocking Chair Softball League concluded its 22nd regular season.

Glenn Kauffman hurled Ritter's to a 7-0 victory over Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Campobello while the Caseys handed the C.&P. Telephone Company tossers their 19th consecutive loss at Post Field by the score of 13-4.

Tied Teams Clash Today

The K. of C. and Celanese A.A. will clash today at 6:15 p.m. at Post Field to determine the fourth place spot for the playoffs which get under way next week. The league will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Wilson Hardware Company building to make plans for the four-team playoffs that get under way Monday.

In other action yesterday, the Loyal Order of Moose downed the Celanese A.A., 2 to 1, to finish in third place while the B.P.O. Elks forfeited to the pennant-winning V.F.W. team.

Ritter's reeled off its sixth consecutive victory and bagged the season series from the Glassmen, three games to one. The victory was the 14th for Kauffman, who limited P.P.G. to four hits — singles by Clay Ingram, Bill Thompson, Fred Kreiger and Ron Emerick.

Pitchers Are Stingy

In the past six games Ritter's pitchers have held the opposition to three runs and scored three shutout victories.

The R. A. C. amassed a total of 14 hits, including a homer and single by "Hoppy" Crabtree, a double and two singles each by Dave Ritter and Johnny Horwath and a two-bagger and single by Joe Scarpelli.

Featuring a 7-run explosion in the top of the sixth, the Caseys went on to trounce the Phonemen under an 11-hit barrage. Al Sheetz, who was relieved by Russ Miller in the 6th, recorded his ninth win against five losses.

McKenzie Batting Star

Earl McKenzie was the "big gun" for the Caseys with a grand slam homer over the right field fence, a single and six runs batted in. Bob McGreevy also hit for the circuit and Jim Collins collected a triple and single. Ellsworth paced C. & P. with two double and a single. The loss was the 15th for Harry Larrick.

Keyser's Hit Decides

The winning run was scored in the 6th inning when Klavuhn doubled and came home on Bobby Keyser's single.

Cunningham's single gave Celanese a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Loyal Order of Moose tied it up in the third on Roy Manges' three-base clout and Bill Thompson's hit.

The loss was the ninth for Shuck who has notched 15 wins this season.

In the playoff semi-finals next week, the Vets will play the Moose and Ritter's A. C. will oppose the winner of today's game between Celanese and the K. of C. The scores:

Angels Give Away Another To Senators

Errors Contribute To 4 To 3 Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels gave another one away to the Washington Senators Thursday with two of their three errors contributing to their 4-3 defeat.

Two unearned runs cost them Wednesday night's game here and it was the same story Thursday with second baseman Bill Moran and first baseman Lee Thomas sharing the blame this time.

The Angels, behind Ryne Duren, were leading, 2-1, going into the sixth inning, when Marty Keough opened with a single and Moran fumbled a ground ball hit by Chuck Cottier. An infield out, an infield hit and a sacrifice fly scored both runners, one in the "unearned" category.

Relief pitcher Tom Morgan walked Danny O'Connell to open the seventh. He made it to third when Thomas threw wild past second on a routine force. He scored on a sacrifice fly.

Larry Jackson Blanks Giants

Hurls Three-Hitter, Posts Sixth Win, 2-0

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Larry Jackson, who regained his effectiveness after being liberated from the bull pen, smothered the San Francisco Giants with a three-hitter Thursday while pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-0 triumph.

Using a good slider, the hard-throwing right-hander posted his sixth win in the last seven decisions and boosted his season record to 9-9.

Centerfielder Curt Flood made a fantastic catch of a long smash by Hobie Landrith with a man on second base in the eighth inning to preserve Jackson's first shutout of the campaign.

Ken Boyer drove in both of the Cardinal tallies with a double and a single off loser Mike McCormick. Boyer hit a two-bagger in the sixth inning to score Julian Javier, who had singled and advanced on a sacrifice by Flood. Then in the eighth Boyer cracked a single to score Charley James, who had doubled.

Jackson had been confined to the bull pen until Johnny Keane replaced Solly Hemus as manager of the Cards on July 6.

It was another tough loss for McCormick, who has dropped nine games by one run this season and now has a record of 9-12.

Ralph Kiner Says Pitchers Will Stop Maris' Bid By Walks

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Kiner, who challenged Babe Ruth's home run record with 54 in 1949, thinks the pitchers will stop Roger Maris' bid by walks.

Kiner said he was surprised that Maris hadn't been drawing more walks. Maris had been walked 68 times in games through Wednesday. Mickey Mantle had been walked 96 times.

Market, Led By Railroads, Racks Up Broad Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The resurgent railroads gave the stock market a new lease on life Thursday as prices moved up in a broad advance on sharply increased activity.

The carriers continued their recent upswing by racing through a key level that "confirmed" the recent industrial advance and induced many Wall Streeters to believe that overall prices were still in a bullish phase.

The Dow - Jones rail average climbed 2.29 to 143.39, industrials were up 3.64 to 721.84 and utilities added 0.41 to 119.61. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks tacked on 38 cents.

Another very bullish sign according to technicians was a steep rise in volume to 4,130,000 shares from 3,430,000 on Wednesday.

Of the 1,267 stocks that crossed the tape, 651 advanced and 407 declined. New highs almost doubled to 66 from 34 while new lows dropped to only 8 from 15.

Interest in Studebaker-Packard continued to mount with the stock trading a huge 453,700 shares, up a full point to 10¼, its high for the day. Studebaker has been moving up on reports that advance sales of its 1962 models have been going well and that a meeting well and that a meting with security analysts is on tap late this month.

U.S. Davis Cup Team To Face Mexico Today

McKinley To Play Osuna In Opener

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chuck McKinley drew the key assignment for the United States in the opening Davis Cup singles match of the American Zone tennis championships against Mexico Friday.

McKinley and Osuna were picked in Thursday's official draw to open the best-of-five matches over three days on the Cleveland Skating Club's clay courts.

Both players are collegians. McKinley is a mathematics major at Trinity (Tex.) College, and Osuna is a junior at the University of Southern California.

In the second singles match Friday Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, 33, of Dallas, and considered the strong man for the Americans, will pit his retrieving ability against Mario Llamas, also 33.

The doubles match will be played Saturday. Osuna and Antonio Palafox, 24, are expected to carry the banner for Mexico. Uncle Sam probably will counter with McKinley and 19-year-old Dennis Ralston, who is recovering from a sore throat.

The singles lineup will switch for Sunday's windup. Llamas will take the court first against McKinley, then Osuna will battle Bartzen.

Man Is Shot During Fight; Wife Jailed

Warren R. Elliott In 'Good' Condition At Memorial Hospital

A 34-year-old Barton area woman is being held in Allegany County Jail on an open charge in the shooting of her husband yesterday afternoon at their home.

Mrs. Frances Ann (McConnell) Elliott is in the County Jail, while her husband, Warren R. Elliott, 36, is reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital.

Elliott was shot in the back with a .22 caliber pistol and the hospital reports he is complaining of some numbness in his right leg.

Mrs. Elliott was questioned yesterday afternoon and last night in the state's attorney's office by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

Angered Over Marriage

Mr. Lilya said Mrs. Elliott stated she shot her husband while he was fighting with Gene Llewellyn, 22, of near Barton, who came to the Elliott residence to tell Elliott that he had married Elliott's 15-year-old daughter Sunday.

When Elliott learned that his daughter was married he became angry with her, Mrs. Elliott told authorities. She said Llewellyn stepped in to protect his young wife, and then the two men got into a fight.

The mother said she knew her daughter had married Llewellyn on Sunday, but they were afraid to tell Elliott because they knew he would not approve.

State Police at LaVale were notified of the shooting about 1:30 p. m. by Mrs. Elliott, who ran from the house after the incident and called police from a nearby service station.

Drove Away From House

Tfc. Robert C. Dishong went to the scene and learned that Elliott had got into his car and driven away from the house. The trooper managed to stop him about half a mile from the house.

Mrs. Elliott also had called an ambulance and it arrived just about the time Tfc. Dishong stopped the injured man.

Elliott was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W. Va., by the Boal Funeral Home ambulance and later was transferred to the local hospital.

Tfc. Dishong said the Elliotts reside on the old Porter Farm which is located 1.3 miles east of Barton. Elliott is employed at the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the couple have seven children ranging from nine to 15 years.

Mr. Lilya and Tfc. Dishong said the investigation is being continued and other witnesses are expected to be questioned today.

Frostburg College Faces Lack Of Funds

Enrollment May Be Curtailed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Drastic restrictions on enrollments at two Maryland teachers colleges may have to be imposed unless the state approves funds for immediate expansion, the State Planning Department was told Thursday.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of Towson Teachers College, said existing facilities at that suburban Baltimore school were "woefully inadequate." Some 200 qualified applicants for enrollment this fall were turned away, he said.

Further restrictions would be forthcoming, Dr. Hawkins said, unless $1,997,140 requested for new buildings is granted in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Dr. Hawkins appeared at a Planning Department hearing on the Department of Education's proposed $5,077,940 capital improvements budget.

Besides the amount sought for the Towson institution, the request includes $1,234,000 for Frostburg, $702,800 for Salisbury, $468,000 for Coppin and $676,000 for Bowie.

Frostburg Teachers College also faces possible curtailment of student enrollment, the planners were told by the school's president, Dr. R. Bowen Hardesty.

He said 100 students were denied admittance for the September term because of building and instructor shortages. Frostburg expects an enrollment next month of some 1,200 students, about 500 more than its designed capacity.

Similarly, Towson's enrollment is expected to approach 1,800. The campus has a designed capacity of between 1,000 and 1,200.

Further dramatizing the problem, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, said at least 1,000 new teachers would be needed annually to meet rising enrollments in elementary and secondary schools.

George Company Gets Cresaptown Phone Office Job

A contract has been awarded the George Construction Co. for the construction of the new dial telephone office in Cresaptown for $98,831.

Construction will begin soon, and the office will go into service in the summer of 1962.

This is part of a $1,000,000 project to expand and improve telephone service in the Cumberland area. Joseph C. Mace, plant wire chief, is in charge of the project. Lou Buehler, telephone company engineer, has charge of the building.

Industrial Unit Gets New Name

The Cumberland Industrial Development Company has been notified that its name has been officially changed to the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company, Cumberland, Md., Inc.

John E. Geare, president, was advised of the change by the Maryland Department of Assessment and Taxation, which said it has recorded the articles of amendment of the CIDC charter.

The new name was adopted at a recent CIDC membership meeting to reflect the objectives of the organization, which has always been of area scope.

Rawlings Man Hurt In Fall

Ellis Warnick, 62, of Rawlings, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday evening with head injuries he sustained when he fell from a roof while at work.

The hospital reported Mr. Warnick was working on a house in on Sunset View Drive when the accident occurred. He was reported in "fair" condition last night.

Sewer Line Breaks Are Being Fixed

The men are scheduled to move to the Winifred Road sewer construction project as soon as the line is repaired.

The work began Monday after an investigation made by city and health workers disclosed that seepage from the line was contaminated.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum headed an investigation asked by Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Tests of seepage found in the area, made by the Health Department and the Cumberland sewage treatment plant, disclosed the presence of coliform bacteria.

The source of the contamination was located when city workers, through the use of dye, learned that the seepage was coming from between two manholes on Edgevale Avenue.

Woman Given Two Years In Neglect Case

Arrested With Eugene S. Lepley

Mrs. Mary Patricia Lalley, 31, of 945 Maryland Avenue, yesterday was sentenced to two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women after she was found guilty of neglecting her three young children.

Mrs. Lalley was arrested Monday in Virginia with Eugene S. Lepley, 40, of 613 Henderson Avenue, who had been released on $5,000 bond to await action of the October term of the grand jury in the shooting of a Cash Valley Road man in June.

Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin heard the case against Mrs. Lalley and noted that she had been in court on a similar charge last month.

The court said Mrs. Lalley left her three young children August 1 and that she and Lepley traveled to Ohio and Florida before Lepley was arrested in southern Virginia on a motor vehicle charge.

Lepley also was being sought here for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Lepley and Mrs. Lalley were returned here Wednesday from Emporia, Va., by Deputy Sheriff Louis Tyree and City Police Officer John Stitcher. A member of Lepley's family withdrew $5,000 bond posted for him and he is being held in the County Jail in default of bond.

Mrs. Lalley's husband, John J. Lalley, 35, also is a prisoner in the County Jail. On June 8 he was sentenced to 90 days for passing a series of bad checks in Cumberland.

Juvenile Court authorities said the Lalley children have been under the supervision of the Allegany County Welfare Department since they were abandoned earlier this month.

Possible Polio Patient Released From Hospital

A young woman who was hospitalized three weeks ago as a possible polio patient was discharged yesterday from Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Elaine Godsey, 1008 Kent Avenue, telephone switchboard supervisor at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, was reported much improved but her physician said the diagnosis remained indefinite because laboratory test results had not been received.

Mrs. Godsey was admitted to the hospital July 24 with a stiff neck and partial paralysis of one leg. She had had the full series of four Salk polio shots.

Friendsville Post Office Contract Let

To Lease Building From Livengoods

Construction of the new Post Office building at Friendsville was further advanced yesterday with the announcement by Michael Monroney, executive assistant to the Postmaster General, that a contract has been awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Ward K. Livengood of Friendsville to build and lease the building to the Post Office Department.

"The signing of the contract represents another step toward implementing President Kennedy's program for the construction and modernization of postal facilities throughout the nation during this year. Under this program private industry will invest the capital to build new facilities for lease to the department," Mr. Monroney said. "In addition, contingent upon the availability of funds, the Post Office Department is going ahead with the modernization of postal space in federal buildings."

Under terms of the department's commercial leasing program the successful bidder will construct the new building at the intersection of First Avenue and Walnut Street and lease it to the department for 10 years, with renewal options.

The department's capital investment is limited substantially to postal equipment, while the building remains under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

The new post office will be constructed on a site containing 7,500 square feet. The building will have an interior space of 1,518 square feet and ample paved areas for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

Union Grove 4-H'er Wins Tractor Operator Contest

Charles Twigg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Twigg, Mount Pleasant Road, yesterday was declared winner of the annual Allegany County 4-H tractor operators contest held at the Cumberland Fair.

Young Twigg, who will be a junior this year at Fort Hill High School, had a low score of 1,161 points and won over seven other youths.

Wesley Gordon, Breakneck Road had 1,231 points and was second place winner; and Donald Irons of Spring Gap was third with 1,870 points. Other contestants, in the order in which they finished, include:

To Go To Timonium

James B. Arnold, assistant farm agent of Allegany County in charge of 4-H work, said Twigg will represent the county in the tractor operators contest at the State Fair at Timonium next month.

The contest was based on a written examination, practical examination, safety operation of a two-wheel implement, and maneuvering a four wheel wagon.

Twigg, who is president of the Union Grove 4-H Club has been a 4-H'er since he was about 12 years old. He learned tractor driving experience from his father and older brother, Floyd.

He has been working on the Floyd Buser farm on Warrior Mountain and the Roy Shryock farm in Clearville, Pa.

Wins First Contest

He hopes to enter the University of Maryland to study agriculture and conservation. Yesterday was the first time he entered the tractor driving contest, and he was in competition with four veteran drivers.

Those in attendance at the Fair yesterday were notified of the winners shortly after 4 p.m. by Mr. Arnold, who made the announcement over the public address system.

Judges for yesterday's contest were Joseph E. 2 Boys Elude K-9 Dog But One Gives Up

Two young boys who walked away from the Forestry Camp for Boys at Meadow Mountain yesterday and got as far as Cumberland asked the wrong man for a ride to Hagerstown.

James Lewis, probation officer in Allegany County, was in the 700 block of Baltimore Avenue checking on a family when the two boys approached him for a ride to Hagerstown.

Lewis began questioning the boys, who later ran toward Leiper Street. He called local police who went to the area in search of them.

Officer Murl Boggs and the dog joined in the hunt for one of the boys but after about a half mile they lost the lad's trail.

One of the boys who gave himself up to Lt. Smith, said he and the other lad live in the Baltimore area and they walked away from the work detail about noon yesterday.

Boys Guilty In Theft Of Guns

Two young Frostburg boys were found guilty of being delinquent minors yesterday in the theft of six guns from Prichard's Hardware Store in Frostburg last Saturday night.

The boys, age 13 and 15, were found guilty by Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin, Magistrate Fatkin ordered the 15-year-old sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys and the other youth was ordered committed to Boys Village.

The court said the two boys hid in the hardware store Saturday night, and after it closed they took three rifles, three pistols and a quantity of ammunition.

The parents of the children discovered the guns and brought the boys and the stolen articles to Frostburg Police Headquarters on Tuesday.

The case was investigated by Tfc. Milton G. Hart of the State Police and Chief Donald Griffith and Sgt. Carl Hetz of the Frostburg Police Department.

Magistrate Fatkin explained the boys were sent to different detention quarters because of a recent ruling by the state. He said all delinquent boys 15 and over now will be sent to Training School and those between 13 and 14 will be sent to Boys Village. Boys under 12 will be committed to the Maryland Junior Training School.

Budget For City Is Unchanged After Meeting

Tax Rate Will Stay At $1.54

Ordinances calling for a tax rate of $1.54 and a budget totaling $1,950,610 are being prepared for submission at Monday's Council meeting.

The proposed budget, which remained unchanged after close scrutiny by the Mayor and Council yesterday afternoon, includes about $25,000 for scheduled wage boosts under the city's merit pay plan but no general wage increase for the city's some 250 employes.

Efforts to squeeze enough money from the budget to provide a five per cent boost failed in spite of the willingness of several members to take a cut in departmental budgets.

As the meeting ended, Mayor J. Edwin Keech said all city officials "regret the fact there is nothing in the budget for city employes" but that officials were still trying to come up with something.

Mayor Keech said there was "just no money" to give wage increases without curtailing vital services and that the city cannot exceed its income.

Check All Items

The Mayor and Council met at City Hall yesterday afternoon to review all of the items in the budget prepared for their consideration by City Comptroller Arthur B. Gibson following conferences with departmental heads.

During these conferences, budget requests, which exceeded income estimates by nearly a quarter of a million dollars, were whittled down.

The proposed levy which is being prepared for adoption Monday, provides for raising $1,273,580 from a tax of $1.54 on assessments totaling $82,700,000 — up $2,700,000 from last year — plus $15,500 from bank stock for a total tax levy of $1,289,080.

Another $661,530 is expected from miscellaneous sources of revenue and the $239,000 surplus to bring the total levy to $1,950,610.

Need Surplus

During yesterday's meeting, Mr. Gibson pointed out the importance of the surplus, which is all the city has to tide it over from the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1 and late in September, when tax money begins to come in.

Whoever makes up the 1962-63 budget will be in trouble, it was stressed, if the surplus should drop below the present level. One official said the item designated as surplus is actually operating capital.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, seeking a wage boost for police and firemen, said he was willing to sacrifice the $23,000 included for a new pumper at East Side, and try to keep the 23-year-old truck

E. Germany Beefs Up Army

Delegates Confer Less Than Hour On Countersteps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of four major Western powers met again Thursday to discuss the German problem and possible steps to counter the Communist clampdown on travel in Berlin. No progress was announced.

The session, attended by representatives of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany, reportedly was devoted primarily to long-range objectives.

Session Follows Protests

The meeting lasted less than an hour. When it broke up, the foreign delegates left the State Department by a side door and were not available for comment.

The session followed shortly the dispatch to Moscow of protests from the United States, Britain and France against what they termed a "flagrant and particularly serious" violation of postwar agreements on Berlin. They requested Moscow to put an end to "illegal measures" in the city.

The cautiously worded brief note was the second protest in 48 hours, the first having been a joint note by the Western commandants in the Communist-encircled city to their Soviet opposite number.

Ask Soviet Reopen Border

Protesting against the Communist blockade of East Germans, the note said the Western powers expect the Soviet Union to reopen the border between the two parts of the city.

State Department officials would not go beyond the words of the note. One high official repeated what appears to be the consensus among Washington, London and Paris — that this is about as far as the West can go now. Officials have noted that the Communists avoided any interference with Allied rights in West Berlin.

Contact Is Lost With Space Lab

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States launched a 27-pound "flying laboratory" on a 140,000 mile journey into space Thursday, but lost radio contact with the lab almost immediately.

The instrument package, capable of detecting any high altitude nuclear bomb blasts, was carried aloft by a four-stage Blue Scout Jr. rocket at 10:29 a.m. EDT.

Dubbed the "Poor Man's Rocket" because of its comparatively inexpensive price tag, the Blue Scout soared from its pad without any apparent hitch and arched out over the Atlantic test range.

A few minutes after the launching, however, the Air Force announced that the rocket — which costs only about $500,000 compared to the $2-million or more for intercontinental rockets—had stopped sending telemetry data to earth shortly after the fourth stage engine ignited.

It was not known — and probably never would be — whether the upper stage exploded for some unexplained reason, or if the space craft's transmitter simply went dead.

Senate's Vote Saves Kennedy Aid Loan Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's forces saved his five-year foreign aid lending authority in the Senate Thursday while the House edged toward another vote on allowing him long-term, Treasury-borrowing powers.

The Senate retained the five-year term by a 51-45 vote against a move by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to reduce the authority to three years.

Five Republicans saved the administration by joining with 46 Democrats in opposition to the Capehart amendment. Fifteen Democrats went counter to the party leadership to join 30 Republicans in supporting the three-year term.

Administration leaders in urging retention of the five-year authority noted that the House in a preliminary vote Wednesday had lined up for a one-year limit on the lending program and for financing it by annual congressional appropriations, rather than borrowing from the Treasury.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee both argued that if the Senate retreats from the presidential position it will be left without bargaining power to effect an acceptable compromise when the time comes to reconcile the Senate and House bills in conference.

The House worked its way through a series of minor amendments Thursday while administration forces continued their intensive behind-the-scenes efforts to rally enough votes to reverse Wednesday's major setback. This defeat brought a personal statement from President Kennedy urging reconsideration.

The House, on a teller vote, rejected by 197-185 the bill's long-term and Treasury-borrowing aspects—both regarded by the administration as vital to the overall program.

But this vote was 55 short of the full membership and was not a recorded ballot. The administration hopes to reverse this near disastrous result on a roll-call vote to reconsider. But it must move carefully and be certain it has its maximum commitments when such a test comes.

Navy Adding 42 Vessels To Its Fleets

33 "Mothballed" Ships Scheduled To Be Reactivated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy announced Thursday that it is adding 42 ships, including two aircraft carriers, to its Atlantic and Pacific fleets as part of the U.S. military buildup to meet the Communist challenge in Berlin and elsewhere.

Involved are 33 ships now in mothballs, including 22 amphibious ships and 11 support ships. The amphibians can carry men and supplies, and will increase the Navy's ability to transport troops to hot spots in any area.

The carriers concerned are the 60,000-ton super attack ship Constellation, now under construction, and the smaller, anti-sub carrier Antietam, which had been scheduled for lay-up.

DEs Stay In Service

In addition, seven other ships, mainly destroyer escorts, will be kept in service although they had been scheduled to be inactivated.

The Navy action was the latest in a series of steps taken by the armed services as part of the military buildup ordered by President Kennedy to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's threat against the Allied position in Berlin.

Only Wednesday the Army alerted 113 National Guard and Army reserve units for possible call up. It also extended the duty tours of 84,000 enlisted men—and possibly as many as 100,000. The Army is building to a one million man force.

On Monday the Navy announced it would extend tours of 28,000 officers and men for six to 12 months. The Air Force has alerted 71 Air National Guard units.

Total Of 861 Ships

The action taken by the Navy means a net increase to the fleets of eight warships and 34 supporting types for carrying troops, military equipment and supplies.

This will increase the Navy's operating strength to 861 ships, including 382 warships and 479 supporting vessels.

The addition of the carriers means the Navy will operate 16 big attack flattops and 10 anti-submarine warfare carriers. Each will be equipped with a newly formed air group.

Met Gives Up Trying To Save 1961-62 Season

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Metropolitan Opera Thursday gave up trying to save its 1961-62 season.

Lauder Greenway, chairman of the board of the Met, said the failure of negotiations with its orchestra union and the cancellation of contracts with its singing stars made it impossible to mount a season this fall.

The Met had announced earlier this month that the season was being canceled because it could not meet its orchestra's demand for a $78 a week pay raise and other contract improvements.

Negotiations were resumed however on the urging of President Kennedy and other officials, and it had been hoped that an early agreement might save the world-famed opera's 77th season.

The Met's board of directors decided Thursday there was no more hope.

'Wonder Drug' Price Fix By Three Firms Charged

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three major drug firms and three of their top executives were indicted Thursday on charges of rigging the prices of three "wonder drugs" used by millions of Americans.

The federal grand jury indictment charged that the alleged conspiracy prevented other companies from marketing improved drugs and hampered research. It also provided the defendants with "unreasonably high profits," the indictment said.

Involved are three of the four so-called "broad spectrum" antibiotics — aureomycin, terramycin and tetracycline — which are used in fighting a wide range of harmful micro-organisms.

The indictment named as defendants: Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc. and John E. McKeen, president and board chairman: American Cyanamid Co., which manufactures aureomycin through its Lederle Laboratories Division, and Wilbur G. Malcolm, chairman of the board; Bristol-Myers Co. and Frederic N. Schwartz, president.

Mr. Malcolm is formerly from Westernport, Md.

All three companies denied the allegation.

Two other firms were named co-conspirators — the Olin Mathieson Corp. of New York, of which E. R. Squibb & Sons is a division, and the Upjohn Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Defendants were charged with conspiring to restrain trade, with conspiring to monopolize and with monopolization of drug sales under the Sherman Anti-trust Act.

The indictment charged that they conspired to keep other companies from manufacturing tetracycline and let only Upjohn and Squibb share in selling tetracycline products.

Surrender Of Six Convicts Ends Tenn. Prison Revolt

Felons Give Up As Tank Is Moved In

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Rebellious convicts who held 27 persons hostage for more than eight hours at the state penitentiary, gave up their rebellion Thursday night as an Army tank moved toward the commissary where they had been holed up.

Asst. Fire Chief Russell Campbell said the convicts began coming out of the door of the brick building and lying on the ground in front of the tank, which had moved to within 12 feet of the structure.

The rebellion collapsed after Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton refused to discuss the convicts' 12 grievances until they freed the hostages and came out in a group.

"Brutality" Charge Denied

The grievances ranged from "brutal treatment" by guards to lack of recreational facilities and restrictions on talking and correspondence. Hampton called them "totally without foundation."

"If they want to talk, they can all come out together—not one by one," he told newsmen after talking to the ringleaders by phone. "They had free access to the prison yard before, and they burned the prison up. That's the way it's going to stay."

A prison workshop was set afire by inmates in June 1960, three months after a similar rebellion.

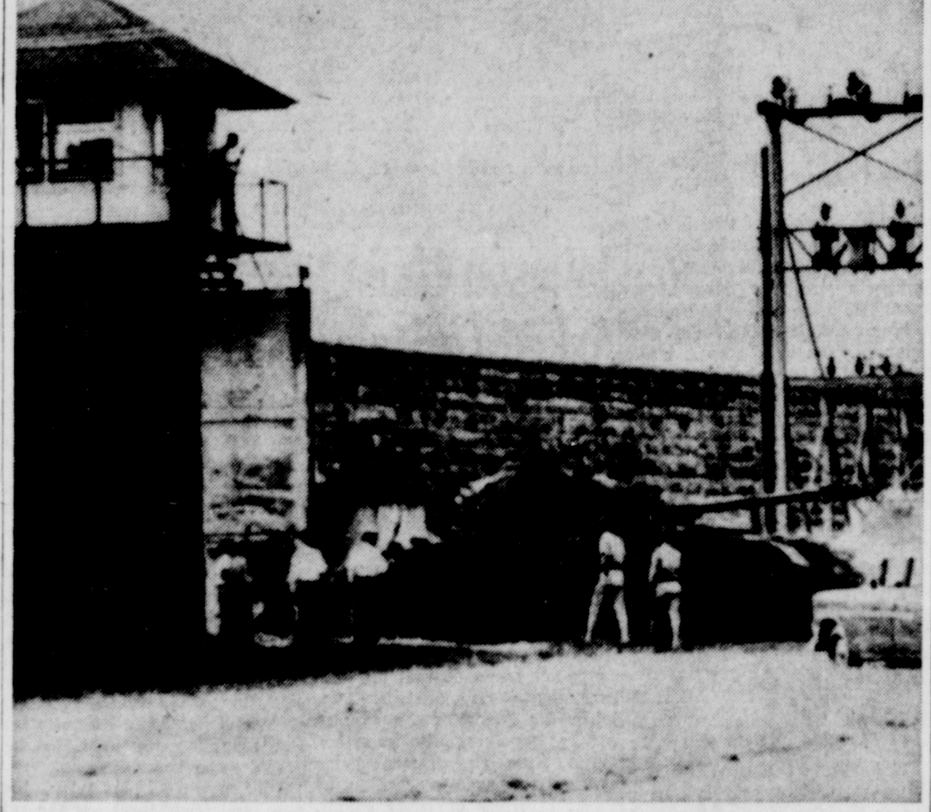

The rebellion ended after Hampton served a three-minute ultimatum on the convicts and the tank started moving toward the building.

Six Convicts Involved

One of the first hostages out, Robert J. Litsey, commissary manager, brushed by newsmen, saying, "I'm not going to say anything; I just want to call my wife."

After a day of conflicting reports as to the number involved, Hampton said six convicts were holding 19 fellow prisoners, five guards and three commissary clerks at the small brick commissary building. Hampton said the rebels had two guns and several knives.

He said two of the ringleaders were Raymond Farra, termed insane in a prison psychiatric report, and Robert Rivera, who led a similar rebellion in March, 1960.

Tank Halts Prison Rebellion

An Army tank is shown as it enters the Tennessee State Penitentiary at Nashville where six convicts held 27 persons hostage for eight hours yesterday. Mikoyan Stirs Japan Protests

TOKYO (AP) — Visiting Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan's attacks on the U.S.-Japan security treaty prompted a storm of high-level protests Thursday, signs that his neutralizing efforts were running into rough water.

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's ruling Liberal-Democratic party in a statement branded Mikoyan's comments as "interference in Japan's domestic affairs." The newspaper Asahi said Ikeda gave his personal approval to the statement.

A top Foreign Office official repeated the charge in a briefing with Japanese newsmen, and three major newspapers took similar stands.

Several hundred uniformed and plainclothes police guarded the Tokyo railroad station and another 70 were posted on the platform. Officers kept a sharp eye on other passengers boarding the express.

American Airlines Jet Breaks Record

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — American Airlines announced Thursday that its flight No. 17, an Astrojet 707, has set a new commercial plane record of four hours, 39 minutes in its flight from New York to San Francisco.

The previous record, held by Trans World Airlines and American, was four hours, 41 minutes.

Peaks Conquered

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force mountaineer team headed by Group Capt. A. J. M. Smyth reports its has topped three previously unconquered peaks of the Karakoram Range in North Kashmir. One peak is 21,500 feet and the others are about 20,000.

Government Approves Oral Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A polio vaccine you can swallow was approved Thursday by the government for use against the most dangerous type of polio virus.

But it acts against only one of the three types of polio and the Public Health Service cautioned that Salk vaccinations are still needed for full protection.

The easy-to-take oral vaccine that provides immunity against paralytic type I virus was developed by Dr. Albert Sabin of Cincinnati, Ohio, and employs live virus.

An oral vaccine that protects against all three types of polio is not expected for some time, the Public Health Service noted.

Therefore, Surgeon General Luther L. Terry emphasized, "It is of the highest importance that vaccinations continue with the Salk vaccine which is the only weapon we have today to provide the protection against all three types of polio."

The Salk vaccine, using dead virus—first vaccine against polio — was developed by Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh and is administered by injection.

Since its use, the United States has reported a record decline in polio cases.

The government's announcement that it was approving the oral vaccine for type I polio, before the other two types are available, drew a reaction of surprise and some criticism from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, which financed research on both the Salk and Sabin vaccines.

"It is totally unorthodox to license part of a vaccine," he said. "It has never been done before."

Figures show that the Salk vaccine has all but eliminated polio as a public health menace, O'Connor said, and "it is difficult to determine why the surgeon general felt he had to do this at this time."

Fiberglass Yarn Satellites Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said Thursday it has awarded Westinghouse Electric Corp., Baltimore, a $45,170 contract for development of fibrous materials for use in communications satellites.

The initial investigations will center on fiberglass yarns, of the type used in draperies. Satellites made of these fibers would be folded into a small compartment, and upon reaching orbit would be expanded and made rigid.

The Air Force Systems Command, at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., said later work may focus on metal alloys if a need develops for a material that can withstand temperatures of more than 500 or 600 degrees.

Cuban Ship Crewmen Ask Asylum

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Coast Guard Thursday night surrounded a Cuban merchant vessel about six miles off the coast after receiving a radio report some of the ship's crew wanted political asylum in the United States.

The Coast Guard said three ships ringed the 3,805-ton Bahia de Nipe, which anchored off Fort Story, Va. No one but government officials was allowed near the Cuban ship, the Coast Guard said.

A spokesman said none of the ship's crew had come ashore but Coast Guardsmen intended to board the Bahia de Nipe.

The Bahia de Nipe radioed the Coast Guard station at Pungo, Va., Thursday afternoon. The report said the ship intended to anchor so that some of the crewmen could seek asylum. It was reported the ship's captain and all officers were included in the group.

A Coast Guard cutter escorted the Cuban ship into harbor at Lynnhaven Roads where it anchored shortly after 6 p.m. EDT.

The Coast Guard said there were no reports of violence aboard the ship.

Adenauer Speaks In Parliament Today

BONN (UPI) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, apparently alarmed about German unrest over the allied approach to the Berlin crisis, decided Thursday to speak personally in parliament Friday.

Unlike West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, Adenauer is expected to be cautious in a plea for unity and determination. Brandt, who has angered Adenauer by criticizing the Western approach, also speaks Friday to the West German legislators.

20 Nations Sign Latin Alliance For Progress

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI) — President Kennedy's $20 billion alliance for progress program in Latin American formally came into being Thursday with the signing of the Punta Del Este Charter by all of the American republics except Cuba.

Cuba's economic "czar," Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara, flatly predicted that the alliance, under which the American states pledge themselves to make "a vast effort to bring a better life to all the peoples of the continent," would fail.

He sat quietly in his seat during the final session of the 12-day Inter-American Economic and Social Conference and watched the signing ceremonies.

Cuba, as long as the Fidel Castro regime remains in power, will be shut out of the 10-year financial aid program.

The Dominican Republic, although it signed the charter, will also be excluded from aid until it establishes "representative democracy," as specified in the charter documents.

Representatives of the other 20 American nations, including U.S. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, were summoned one by one to affix their signatures to the charter.

As Dillon signed, with U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs Robert Woodward standing at his side, the conference applauded for about 15 seconds.

British Situation Smells To French Perfumers

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Sniffing through statistics, the Society of French Perfumers discovered to their horror that British men spend more on scent than do British women.

"A thoroughly deplorable situation," said a spokeswoman for the society Thursday, "and we're going to do something about it. High time, you might say."

"Board of Trade figures reveal that British men are annually spending $700,000 more on perfume and toilet water than do the ladies.

"The more facts one uncovers, the more the situation smells. In France, 96 per cent of all girls and women between the ages of 18 and 45 use perfume.

"In America, the percentage is 82. But in Britain, alas, only 20 per cent of the women use it, and of this 20 per cent, many use it only for special occasions."

Said the spokeswoman, "Sex is not a once-a-week business. Women must be tempting all the time."

The Gallic perfumers know what's wrong.

"We must educate them," said the spokeswoman.

Beginnin Sept. 28, the French Society of Perfumers will mount a massive attack, spending thousands on British newspaper and magazine advertising.

Red Leaders Call On Youth To Volunteer

Communists Ignore Western Protests In Border Closing

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist rulers of East Germany ignored Western protests against the forcible division of Berlin and gave every indication Thursday they are ready to fight for their barbed wire barricades.

East Germany and the Western Allies alike took steps to strengthen rival armies that would be quickly engaged across the Iron Curtain in any shooting war over Berlin.

A gigantic recruiting drive was launched by the East German Communists even as the United States, Britain and France protested to the Soviet Union that the Red barring of East Germans from West Berlin was an illegal and flagrant violation of the city's four-power status. Western notes to Moscow demanded that the barricades be razed.

Shelving an unabated need for farm and factory hands, East German leaders called on the 1.7 million members of their youth organization to volunteer for the army. This army, Western experts say, now numbers 110,000.

"Panic and confusion reign among our enemies," East German youths were told in orders to report at dawn Friday for briefing. "Now it is necessary to secure our success and win new victories over the warmongers."

France Plans Buildup

The Big Three Western powers, major contributors to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization force of 22 divisions in West Germany, manifested determination if necessary to meet force with force.

President Charles de Gaulle announced in Paris that French ground and air forces in both Germany and France—depleted for years by the military drain of the Algerian war—will be reinforced. The size of the projected buildup was not discloseed. The French army in Germany now consists of two understrength divisions.

Britain's Air Ministry announced a limited number of all-weather jet fighters will be sent to West Germany shortly as reinforcements for the Royal Air Force backing the 55,000-man British army on the Rhine. And three British jet fighter squadrons slated for withdrawal were ordered to stay put.

The United States, whose 7th Army is the most powerful in West Germany, has strengthened its general military posture with a program for stepped-up conscription, alerting of reserves and extension of the tours of duty of men now in uniform.

Notes' Rejection Expected

Identical notes of the United States, Britain and France, in denouncing the refugee barricade imposed Sunday, declared they expect the Soviet government to "put an end to these illegal measures."

The expectation among informed sources in Berlin, however, is that the Soviet government will do nothing of the kind. They forecast a rejection of the protests. The East Germans had acted at the behest of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact organization, the East's answer to NATO.

The call to youths to enlist was accompanied by an intensified propaganda campaign depicting the glories of carrying a gun for the German Democratic Republic.

The youth organization's newspaper Junge Welt—Young World—said: "Every young Socialist burns to belong to the armed forces of the German Democratic Republic, allied with the unbeatable forces of the Socialist camp, at the head of which stands the strongest army in the world, the famous army of the Soviet Union."

President Doesn't Plan To Address U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House and State Department Thursday said there is "no plan" so far for President Kennedy to address the United Nations this fall.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said a presidential appearance, as in past years, "is always a possibility, but so far I know of no decision on this."

There has been speculation Kennedy would go to the U.N. in a major effort to press for disarmament and Berlin solutions.

Mildness Of West Note Raises Grave Questions

EDITOR'S NOTE — John M. Hightower, Associated Press diplomatic affairs reporter, draws on his long experience in covering the State Department and his intimate acquaintance with policymakers and diplomats for the following interpretive article on the Western note to Moscow.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western Big Three powers, in their protest to Moscow Thursday, said the minimum that could be said about the Communist cutoff of travel inside Berlin.

Their note sounded like the lowest common denominator of agreement possible among the U.S., British and French governments. In the circumstances it may now be debated whether they would have been wiser to send no note at all.

Except for propaganda maneuvers, it appears that the three nations have done about all they are going to do in the immediate situation. Countermeasures are still under consideration, but any agreed upon are likely to be very limited in scope and effect.

There is general agreement that the Western reaction to the dispute over the Red refugee barricade will certainly be examined carefully by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He will study it for evidence of Western self-confidence and willingness to act on the great issues of West Berlin security which he threatens to raise at the end of this year.

The speed with which the Western Allies can agree on specific plans and take action is a critical element of the whole Berlin problem. The handling of the refugee affair raises grave questions about whether the machinery of consultation and the major directions of policy are yet sufficiently well worked out.

For example, President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have made a great point of keeping on top of all developments since the barricades were erected by the Reds last Sunday. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Lord Home have been at pains to make exactly the opposite impression; they went off to the country for rest and recreation.

On Sunday, Rusk issued with Kennedy's approval an indignant statement denouncing the Red action as a violation of East-West agreements on Berlin.

Consultations then brought quick agreement on two points of Allied action. First it was agreed that words alone were not enough and some action should be taken. That meant countermeasures against East Germany at a minimum.

It also was agreed that in addition to the usual protest lodged by Western military commanders in Berlin with the Soviet commandant, there should be a direct Western protest to the Soviet government. The word was it would be strong and emphatic.

But within a few days British and later U. S. officials began to back away. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer first talked about strong measures, then indicated he did not plan any steps which would worsen West German-Soviet relations.

LAST REQUEST GRANTED — The last request of William Philbrick, Fremont, N. H., who had worked most of his life with horses, was granted yesterday when his 81-year-old body was borne from church to cemetery in a horse-drawn hearse. As the end of his life drew near, he told his two sons and his brother of his desire — to go to his last resting place in a hearse drawn by a horse. His sons and friends got out the 80-year-old town hearse, unused for 40 years, cleaned it up and William Philbrick realized in death, his last wish. (AP Photofax)

Key Democrats Revive School Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—New life was breathed into President Kennedy's aid-to-education program Thursday as a compromise proposal won tentative acceptance by key House Democrats.

The final job of selling Speaker Sam Rayburn on the four-part administration package was left for Kennedy himself. The two are expected to confer in a day or two.

Heading the rescue squad that revived the prostrate program was Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff. He used parts from three education bills now blocked in the House Rules Committee to do the job.

From the original $2.5-billion public school bill Ribicoff sliced $325 million for a one-year program to build elementary schools using 40 per cent federal money and 60 per cent local money. The money would be alotted on the basis of need.

From a $1.8-billion college aid bill he took a $300-million-a-year program to build academic facilities and a proposal to provide federal scholarships of up to $1,000 a year for students selected on a basis of ability and need.

Adopted intact was a proposed one-year extension of the program known as impacted areas aid, which provides over $300 million to school districts containing large federal installations or crowded by federal workers.

Also extended for one year would be the National Defense Education Act, which provides a variety of ai' to strengthen mathematics, science and language teaching. A bill enlarging the program and extending it for three years is one of those bottled up in the Rules Committee.

Although greatly reduced in scale from the original program, Ribicoff said the new proposal "would do much to achieve the President's goal of excellence in education."

Women Agree Double Bed Aids Happy Marriage

LONDON (AP)—Most women agree that a double bed helps make a happy marriage, a group of 15 British bed manufacturers said Thursday.

They came up with one that is four feet, six inches wide by six feet, three inches long. It should have a 20-inch clearance for easy cleaning, an innerspring mattress and casters.

Five Railroads Take Step To Boost Fares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five railroads have taken an initial step toward increasing passenger fares by about 14.23 per cent, the Interstate Commerce Commission said Thursday.

Special permission to depart from the commission's tariff publishing rules was requested on behalf of the Baltimore & Ohio, Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co., Monon Railroad, Wabash Railroad Co., and the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad.

The request says the proposed increases would become effective Oct. 1 or as soon thereafter as possible, allowing time for legal notice to users who might wish to protest.

Johnson Chain Asked To State Racial Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American Negro's complaint has caused the State Department to ask again that the Howard Johnson restaurant chain clarify its policy concerning Negro customers.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the department acted on the domestic complaint only because, he said, African diplomats are sometimes taken for American Negroes in matters involving discrimination.

The State Department action stems from a letter written by Paget L. Alves of White Plains, N.Y., who complained that a Howard Johnson restaurant in Arundel, Md., refused to serve him and his two children because they are Negroes.

Angier Biddle Duke, the Kennedy administration's chief of protocol, wrote a letter to Howard D. Johnson, president of the restaurant chain, asking him for clarification on his policy.

The department lodged two earlier protests — in 1958 and in 1961 — when two African diplomats were turned away from Howard Johnson restaurants because of their color.

At that time, the department got assurances from the restaurant chain that it is doing everything possible to introduce nondiscrimination in all its restaurants.

Two Referendum Drives Successful

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland attorney general Thomas B. Finan ruled Thursday that referendum drives to force the congressional redistricting bill and the unemployment compensation bill on the 1962 ballot were successful.

Finan said the petitions forcing the two bills on the ballot had more than enough valid signatures, while petitions against the unemployment bill totaled 17,123. Only 10,000 signatures were needed on each petition.

Horse-Drawn Hearse Meets Final Request

FREMONT, N.H. (AP) —The last wistful request of an old man who had worked most of his life with horses was granted Thursday. His 81-year-old body was borne from funeral home to church, and from church to cemetery, in a horse-drawn hearse.

All his life, William Philbrick drove horses, first for his father's ice business. Later he drove horses hauling timber from forest to sawmills.

As the end of his life drew near, he told his two sons and his brother of his desire—to go to his last resting place in a hearse drawn by a horse.

After his death, Monday, his sons, and friends got out the 80-year-old town hearse, unused for 40 years, cleaned it and greased the wheels. And so William Philbrick's request was granted.

JWV Demands Action Against U.S. Nazi Party

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Jewish War Veterans of the United States Thursday called for government action against the American Nazi party.

The organization, holding its annual convention here, adopted a resolution which urged both the Post Office Department and the Attorney General's office to exercise government power under existing statutes to move against the party.

The anti-Nazi resolution, as presented to the floor, stated that the group should be placed on the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations.

But members of JWV, speaking on the floor, called for the stronger language in the resolution.

The Post Office Department was included in the resolution after Joseph Barr, national executive director of the veterans group, displayed insulting cards he had received in the mail.

Earlier, the veterans, in their fifth day of meetings, received a warning from the executive director of the Jewish Community Council of Philadelphia that they must be on the alert for traps being set by right-wing extremists who use the current international tensions for their own gain.

Jules Cohen cited such organizations as the John Birch Society as a group which "offer scapegoats and solutions and unwittingly do work of the Communists."

He also touched on various ways to deal with such extremist organizations as the American Nazi Party. Cohen said group libel legislation was not the answer to the problem.

Reuther Offers Plan To Provide 41 Million Jobs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, Thursday outlined a three-point program aimed at providing 41 million new jobs in the United States during the next 10 years.

Reuther said in addition to the normal population increase, about 28 million workers will be displaced because of automation.

"And that doesn't count the millions who are now unemployed," he told delegates attending the 75th convention of the United Brewery Workers International Union.

The UAW president touched on the problem during his hour-long speech, and amplified it later at a news conference.

Reuther's three-point program included:

1. A greater emphasis on expanding production to fulfill public needs in such fields as education, housing, highway construction and medical facilities.

2. Increased private consumption through greater purchasing power, facilitated by "higher wages and lower prices of commodities."

3. A "rational approach" to the hourly work week. He said productivity has increased despite a decrease in hours down through the years, adding "why should eight hours a day be the end of the road?"

Viewing the nation's economic picture, Reuther said the top priorities in the cold war were full employment and production, and increased education.

In his speech to some 600 convention delegates and their families, the UAW president said his 500,000-member union is prepared to strike if a settlement is not reached soon.

Defectors Kidnap Ex-Castro Minister

MIAMI (UPI)—A former Castro cabinet minister was kidnaped at gunpoint Thursday and forced to accompany two defectors to the United States in a small boat, the U.S. Immigration Service, reported Thursday.

Major Julio Camacho, formerly transportation minister in Premier Fidel Castro's cabinet, his father, Julio Camacho Romero; and a friend, Juan Moyano Tino, told U. S. authorities they were "forced" to come to this country under duress and requested permission to return to Cuba.

The permission was granted and they departed for Havana on the afternoon's Pan American flight.

Three UAR Cabinets Merged By Nasser

CAIRO (UPI)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser Thursday merged into one the three cabinets of the United Arab Republic and appointed seven vice presidents in a shuffle to further government centralization.

Until Thursday there had been separate cabinets for the Syrian and Egyptians regions of the U.A.R. and a central cabinet for the entire nation. As of Monday the three were merged into a single 36-minister group in which many ministers share the same portfolio.

State Fair Entries Soar

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — More than 3,000 animals have been entered in judging contests at the 80th annual Maryland State Fair, which opens here Aug. 28.

John M. Heil, general manager of the fair, said entries of beef cattle, dairy cattle, swine and sheep from Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., Connecticut and Delaware will compete for prize money and blue ribbons during the two-week fair.

The dairy cattle exhibit will be the largest in recent years, according to Richard N. Wills, superintendent.

Holsteins lead the list of animals entered in that division. Some 366 were entered before the Aug. 1 entry closing date.

Also entered in the dairy cattle class are 215 Jerseys, 198 Guernseys, 189 Ayrshires, 118 Brown Swiss and 76 milking shorthorns.

Superintendent Hershel H. Allen Jr. said 238 beef cattle have been entered from three states. The Angus breed leads the field with 100 scheduled to compete, followed by Hereford, 78, and Shorthorn, 60.

A beauty contest, to choose the 1961 State Fair queen, will be held opening day. Contests are being held in the 23 counties to select finalists for the contest.

State Building Is Picketed By Plumbers

BALTIMORE (AP) — An orderly group of master plumbers picketed the State Office Building for 30 minutes Thursday in protest against a Plumbing Board examination for journeymen plumbers.

The pickets circled the building in 17 trucks, some of them coming 40 miles to participate in the morning demonstration.

The Plumbing Board had postponed a test for master plumbers after conspiracy charges were placed against a board member in an alleged licensing shakedown. But it held a journeymen plumbers' exam as scheduled at 10 a.m.

"A journeyman plumber is en route to becoming a master plumber," said William Hausman, president of the Baltimore Progressive Master Plumbers Association who organized the demonstration.

"It is not just a certificate or title he carries, but a qualification for advancement. The board should have stopped the journeymen's test, too," Hausman declared.

The mobile pickets encountered some difficulty staying in a solid line because of traffic, but they circled the block three times en masse.

The shakedown charges prompted two plumbers' associations to urge temporary suspension of board activities. Later Gov. Tawes suspended Benjamin L. Roll, the accused board member.

Twenty-six candidates for journeymen plumber status were scheduled to take Thursday's test.

Farmhouse Blaze Cuts Phone Service

BALTIMORE (AP) — Fire destroyed a farmhouse near here Thursday and severed lines cutting telephone service to about 2,000 residents of the area. The owners of the house were away.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore policeman Thursday shot down a man as he swung a long-handled ax at several policemen.

The unidentified ax-wielder was admitted to Lutheran Hospital in critical condition with gunshot wounds of the chest and leg.

Police said two city employes discovered the man in the cab of their truck in Druid Hill Park. The park employes said they struggled with the man for the keys to the truck, then he grabbed an ax one of them had dropped, swung it at them and fled.

Several policemen joined in the chase, and the ax-wielder was shot as he turned and swung on them, police said.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Labor has reported that more than $2 million was found due workers in Region III under violations of the federal wage-hour law between July 1, 1960 and June 30, 1961.

BALTIMORE (AP) — State officials Thursday announced plans to stop what they said in an unetnical practice some insurance agents use to make the Department of Motor Vehicles a collection agency for their accounts.

Insurance Commissioner F. Douglas Sears and Motor Vehicles Commissioner John R. Jewell said agents will face suspension or revocation of their licenses if they continue the practice, which involves sale of financial responsibility certificates.

Sears said some agents collect a one-month premium on these certificates, then immediately file notice with the DMV that the policy will expire in one month. This brings the motorist a warning from the DMV and usually sends him to his agent for a renewal.

Accused were Ronald L. Giles, 20; Roy H. Cantler, 19; Robert L. Stevens, 19, and Harvey Damron, 37. All four were charged with murder, burglary and robbery. Additional charges of rape and arson were placed against Giles and Cantler.

BALTIMORE (AP) — "It's too bad we haven't set a better example."

That was the comment of Thomas P. Grogan, fallout shelter officer for Baltimore's Civil Defense agency after a survey showed that none of the top Maryland and Baltimore CD officials has a completed shelter in his home.

Some, however, are building shelters or have "reasonable protection" at home, the survey showed.

Gov. Tawes Will Review Guard

CAMP A. P. HILL, Va. (AP) — The 29th (Blue and Grey) Infantry Division, Virginia and Maryland National Guard, will hold its annual Governors' Day review Saturday with Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes present but minus Virginia's Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr.

Almond notified camp officials Tuesday that he would be unable to attend the review.

Meanwhile, officers of another Maryland unit, the 115th Infantry, were investigating an incident in which two civilians shot at four Maryland soldiers, then fled in a car.

State's Road Fund Share $51.7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland will get some $51.7 million in federal highway funds for the fiscal year which starts next July 1.

A total of $7.8 million has been earmarked for improvements to primary, secondary and urban roads, and the remaining $43.8 million will be used for interstate highway projects.

A spokesman for the State Roads Commission said notification of Maryland's share came about four months earlier than normal. Federal officials said the advance notice would give the states a lead in planning their various road programs for the 1963 fiscal year.

The SRC spokesman said the funds would be used in completing these projects among others: Maryland 70 West, U.S. 40, U.S. 340, all in Western Maryland, and U.S. 50 on the Eastern Shore, the Capitol Beltway, Maryland 4 and Maryland 15.

Miss Rowley will be maid of honor for Miss Gragg for her wedding tomorrow. Other attendants will be Miss Theresa Miller, Miss Roberta Miller, Washington, bridesmaids; Darlene Rowley, flower girl; and Eugene Gragg, ring bearer.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7 p.m. in Davis Memorial Church, with Rev. Kyle E. Sawyers officiating. A reception will follow in the social room.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Gragg, Oldtown Road. She was graduated with honors in June from Fort Hill High School. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. O'Baker, Oldtown Road. He is a graduate of Fort Hill, class of 1958, and attended Frostburg State Teachers College prior to entering the Air Force Cadet program. He is stationed at James Connally Air Force Base near Waco, Texas.

A pale pink, blue and white color scheme was carried out in the streamer decorations and umbrella concealing the gifts. Appropriate games were played.

Guests were Miss Lanna Waite, Mrs. Donna Budden, Mrs. George Abbott, Miss Barbara May, Mrs. Virginia Valentine, Miss Roberta Ann Hinkle, Mrs. Raymond Howard, Mrs. Lee Mackereth, Miss Lois Crapp, Miss Carol Lee Kesner, Miss Phyllis Zimmerman, Miss Maria Ferno, Mrs. Gragg, Mrs. O'Baker and Miss Theresa Miller.

Meetings Are Announced

Chairmen were appointed and meetings were announced by Miss Virginia Lee Beall at the meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women, Circle 5, kitchen committee of St. Paul's church, in the fellowship hall.

The Maryland Synodical convention will be held October 25, 26 in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Frederick; and the triennial convention September 9 to 13 in Chicago. An executive board meeting of St. Paul's ULCW will be September 5, and the general meeting, September 15, at which time Circle 5 and Circle 3 will provide the program and refreshments. Circle 5 will hold a special kitchen party August 31 in the church kitchen. Its next regular meeting will be September 5 at 7:45, in the fellowship hall.

Chairmen named are Mrs. Virginia Chaney, secretary and publicity; Miss Phyllis Stermer, education; Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Christian service; Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, offerings; Mrs. Eloise Shaffer, sunshine; Mrs. Martha Hahn and Mrs. Gladys Whalley, refreshments.

The program consisted of group singing, with Mrs. Shirley Fishell at the piano; prayer by Miss Beall and the Scripture read by Mrs. Shaffer.

Bible Class Will Meet

Plans for a fellowship on Sunday will be discussed at the meeting of the Swanson Memorial Bible Class of Second Baptist Church tonight at 7:30 at the church. Mrs. B. W. Robinson is the teacher.

The fellowship will be held following the baptism of candidates from the mission in Altoona, Pa., which the church has been sponsoring for the past year.

About 30 or 40 candidates are expected. Rev. Dallas Bivins, Frostburg, associational missionary for the western district, will attend the service Sunday.

Receives Clan Award

F. L. Brehm, Aliquippa, Pa., received the award for being the oldest member present at the Brehm family reunion last Sunday at the camp of his brother on South Branch. He was 77 years old Saturday.

Mr. Brehm is visiting his sister, Mrs. Violet Jones, Christie Road.

Demonstrations To Be Given Today

Mount Savage and Town Creek Homemakers Clubs will give the demonstrations from 3 until 5 p. m. today, the final day for them at the Cumberland Fair. The former will show how to gift wrap.

From 5 until 7 p. m. North Cumberland Homemakers will demonstrate the use of the voting machine to prepare the people for the elections next year. Flintstone 4-H also will give a demonstration.

Lonaconing Women's Club and Happy Valley Homemakers will give their demonstrations from 7 until 9 o'clock. The latter will make earrings from rickrack.

Xi Nu Selects Dates, Outlines Year's Socials

The executive board of Xi Nu Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, decided to keep meeting nights on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, and to meet in the individual homes. Mrs. Dorotha Hare presided at the luncheon meeting, which was held yesterday at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Three meetings a year are planned for the executive board. All are to be luncheon meetings. The first will be held November 15 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. The second will be in February and the third in May.

A tentative social calendar was outlined for the year. The opening meeting will be September 12 at 8 o'clock at the Shrine Club. Mrs. Hare and Mrs. Sara Rank will be cohostesses.

October will be the Pledge Ritual dinner; November the Thanksgiving party; December the Christmas party; January was left open with no social planned; February will be a card party; March, the report of the nominating committee and Rush Party; for new members; April the Founder's Day dinner and ritual; May, a Mother's Day celebration; and June, the annual chapter picnic.

Cultural programs and business sessions will be held at the other meeting in the month. Each committee chairman was asked to meet with her committee before September 12, so reports may be given at that time.

Others attending were Mrs. Sara Rank, Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, Mrs. Lavonne Young, Mrs. Betty Reed and a guest, Mrs. Phyllis Kalinowski of Buffalo, N. Y.

Spaniards learned the Egyptian art of making mud bricks from the ancient Moors and brought it to America. There it is still used for building structures in the southwestern part of the United States.

PE League Chairmen Named

The Potomac Edison Company's bowling league held its annual family picnic at Celanese Park Tuesday. This is the final affair for the 1960-61 season. Mrs. Robert Miller, Mt. Savage, prepared the food, and was assisted by Mrs. Ross Bishop.

The other winning team members were Miss Rosemary Mullaney, Robert Miller, Gary Miller, Johnny Ray Clites, Miss Helen Paxton, Mrs. Amy Slough, Melvin Emerick and Norwood Barnes.

At the close of the evening, a new bowling committee was chosen for the 1961-62 season. The co-chairman are Harry 'Hap' Deter and Raymond Clites, assisted by Miss Paxton and Mrs. Jeanora Hare.

The committee announced that Tuesday at 7 p.m. will be bowling time and that bowling will be resumed September 12 at the Diamond Alleys, Virginia Avenue.

The committee members for the 1960-61 season were Robert Miller, Melvin Emerick, Miss Mullaney and Mrs. Sadie Koser.

Weight Traps Fisherman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Part of a fishing boat wheel house was chopped away Wednesday to free a 350-pound fisherman who had put on so much weight he was unable to pass through the cabin door.

Robert Guijette, 51, San Rafael, Calif., was removed from his boat at Point Reyes. A Coast Guard helicopter flew him 35 miles to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in San Francisco where his condition was listed as "less than satisfactory."

Dr. Donald McMillan attributed the sudden swelling to a "heart condition." He added that doctors "suspect there may be something else wrong.

The Coast Guard station at Point Reyes, north of San Francisco, was alerted to Guijette's plight by his son Roy who brought the 36-foot boat Eleanor S. in to a nearby fishing dock.

Young Guijette said they had left their mooring at China Camp in San Francisco Bay three months ago to fish for salmon. The father suffered a recurrence of body swelling for which he had previously been hospitalized and was unable to get out of the cabin. The son said he piloted the boat and cared for his father.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street seems to be of the opinion that the Berlin crisis won't erupt into a shooting war.

Therefore, some analysts expect the stock market to resume its rise. And they express satisfaction with the way the market has been acting as the tension heated up.

The market has held up surprisingly well, comments the brokerage firm, Goodbody & Co.

It asserts that if odd-lot transactions can be taken as an indication, it was the small investor and not the large one who sold stocks on balance Monday; there has been no indication of selling pressure in the last two weeks.

"The market may consolidate its position here until signs of a settlement of the Berlin crisis and a fall pickup in business are evident," Goodbody says. "However, it appears to be saying that informed opinion believes there will be no serious military conflict and that eventually the Berlin situation will be settled by negotiation.

"It also seems to be saying that when the international pot simmers down the economy will reflect the high level of government spending, and corporate earnings will rise."

A. M. Kidder & Co. observes that some profit-taking was to be expected after the powerful upsurge of late July but so far this has been well absorbed despite the adverse news background.

"While a divided Germany is a powder keg that could explode at any time," the firm says, "it is probable that the real crisis over Berlin may not materialize for a month or two.

"Meanwhile, the Berlin news has the effect of serving notice of business men and consumers that certain goods and commodities may be hard to come by in the event that the international situation should undergo serious deterioration."

Merger-Blocking Injunction Sought

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The government filed an anti-trust suit Wednesday against Ling - Temco Electronics, Inc. and Chance Vought Corp. seeking an injunction to block proposed merger of the two firms.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe E. Estes denied a Justice Department motion for a temporary restraining order against the merger, but granted a hearing on a preliminary injunction for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 11.

The government action came only a few hours after boards of directors of the two companies, meeting separately, formally ratified the merger.

In its petition, the Justice Department alleged violation of two sections of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, pertaining to acquisition of stock of another company that tends to lessen competition in interstate commerce.

The government said 90 per cent of Ling-Temco's sales during 1960 involved government contracts. The petition said 75 per cent of Chance Vought's sales in 1960 involved such contracts.

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

A modern dietary lesson from the loaves and the fishes, a possible clue to mental illness in rabbit lungs, and a beetle that bleeds in self-defense are subjects for science at work.

Loaves And Fishes

The biblical story of the loaves and the fishes seem to have a modern counterpart off the east coast of Africa.

A small fish, about the size of a sunfish, though slightly slimmer, is revolutionizing the diet of natives on the island of Malagasy. The fish, called tilapia melanopleura, was introduced some 10 years ago to buttress a diet that included rice, fruit, a little honey, but little meat.

It became well-established in rivers and lakes, and the government has built some 80,000 village fishing ponds. Now fishing is popular and productive. The average adult catches 11 pounds a day. Even a child can catch four pounds.

Curiously, one member of the tilapia family was reputedly the fish which the Bible says Christ miraculously multiplied to feed the throng attracted by his preaching.

Clues From Rabbits

Mental health researchers have found a strange chemical in the lungs of rabbits—an enzyme that can produce drugs that cause hallucinations. The enzyme uses as its raw materials natural compounds found in blood.

The drugs produced are the same that are found in snuff made from plants by the Indians of Haiti. Called cohoba, the snuff has been used by the Indians to enable them to communicate with unseen powers.

Other researchers reported recently that they were able to change the behavior of schizophrenic mental patients by feeding them certain chemical forerunners of hallucination drugs. All of this suggests that there may be some chemical change in the body of mental patients that causes their abberations.

Blood Brothers

When the Mexican bean beetle is bothered or molested, he literally bleeds. Now it appears he may do it to defend himself.

When ants attack the beetles and the droplets of blood get on them, they abruptly back away and begin intensively to clean themselves. When the blood coagulates it becomes sticky and the ants are virtually immobilized. It sometimes takes them more than an hour to recover.

Medics Again Urge Graham Slow Down

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The crusade office of Dr. Billy Graham said Wednesday that he had been cautioned by medical advisors to slow down "the same as they have told him for the past two or three years."

But Graham, who opens a four week crusade here next Sunday, received "an absolute clean bill of health" following a week at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

The week at the clinic is his regular annual custom. He has slowed down with shorter crusades during 1961, it was pointed out. "Taking it easier," his office described it.

The office said Graham entered the Mayo Clinic July 17 following a July 9-16 crusade at Minneapolis.

"He does it every year," it was explained. "They (the doctors) gave him absolutely a clean bill of health."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA Mc CORMACK

The advice — from two experts in geriatrics—is directed to everyone, not just those with a wrinkled skin and white thatch.

The two directed their advice to everyone, saying "it's a fact you start growing old the minute you're born."

The physicians place great emphasis on a purpose in life — be you nine or 90—as one means of growing old gracefully.

Their blueprint also calls for physical exercise, adequate rest and recreation, generous periods of leisure for thinking creatively, and high and specific motivation to help develop an integrated personality.

The doctors also advocate proper diet and medical care to help keep the body in tip-top shape.

Both doctors, 64, practice what they preach. Dr. Bortz, for example, swims daily. Dr. McCarty said he has a slight heart condition, but that he also exercises regularly to the extent of his physical ability.

Neither has expectations of claiming a place on the shelf when the 65th birthday's marked.

"Compulsory retirement," Dr. Bortz said, "tends to rob a man or a woman of individuality."

"It will be presented, decade by decade, and based on newer knowledge of diet with great emphasis on the importance of activity," he said.

"The trouble in geriatrics right now is that there are a lot of impediments and much muddled thinking. We're in a youth-oriented culture. But we know enough to live 100 years with little exertion.

"What is needed is a mature point of view. We're living in a land of milk and honey and fabulous plenty. Yet we're the unhappiest, most insecure and tormented of people."

SO NEAR

MT. WASHINGTON, N. H. (UPI) — A monument stands near the summit of mile-high Mt. Washington in memory of Lizzie C. Bourne of Kennebunk, Maine.

The 23-year-old woman started to walk to the summit of the mountain on a bright Autumn day, Sept. 13, 1865. A violent storm blew up, and she died, unaware that shelter was only a few yards away.

A day's work in the office will be less fatiguing if you learn how to relax both mind and body.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Make Office Hours Your Charm Hours

Aside from a short sprint for the bus each morning—and perhaps a shopping tour at noontime—the average career woman gets little or no exercise during the day. What can you do, then, about the fatigue that overtakes you at the typewriter or filing cabinet towards five o'clock?

Before overtiredness makes itself obvious in your weary expression or slumped posture, practice preventive ways. You'll accomplish more tasks and solve more problems if you're relaxed and ready for them.

Frenzy only creates tension... cultivate a relaxed attitude. Perform only one task at a time. Don't worry about obstacles ahead that may never materialize. Set a routine flexible enough that an emergency will not cause turmoil.

If your mind does refuse to function alertly after lengthy and intent concentration, take a five-minute break. You needn't feel guilty about a rest period: no time is wasted that is spent reviving your mental or physical energy.

A backache from sitting or standing can be eased by pressing your spine flat against a wall for a moment or two. Relax taut neck muscles by massaging the nape and shoulder tendons between your thumbs and forefingers in an upward direction. Relieve aching feet by removing your shoes and putting your feet up on a chair. After standing long hours, it is also advisable to sprinkle talcum powder on your feet and to change your stockings in the late afternoon.

Fingers tense from typing? Sit erect in your chair with your elbows resting on the chair's arm, and with your forearm perpendicular to it. Make the tightest fist you can, and hold it for a count of five. Then fling your fingers outward, hard. Tighten, relax — until the kinks are gone.

Hold your body straight, but easy, as you work at your desk. Your actions should be graceful when you stand up or sit down, and when you stoop to put papers in, or take them from, a low file drawer. If you bend over repeatedly from the waist, you will experience muscular strain and fatigue.

Do this, instead: with weight on the balls of your feet, and feet a pace apart, stand to one side of the file cabinet and bend the knees until you can easily reach into the lowest drawer. Rise slowly. Keep head and back erect, both as you go down and as you come up.

Mrs. Grace Kopp Retires From Position At FSTC

Mrs. Grace S. Kopp, director of practice for elementary school student teachers at Frostburg State Teachers College, has retired, according to R. Bowen Hardesty, college president.

Mrs. Kopp served as elementary director of practice at the college from September, 1950, until her retirement, which became effective July 30, President Hardesty said. In this capacity, she co-ordinated and supervised work of student teachers in public schools during their junior and senior years of college.

President Hardesty also announced that Mrs. Kopp will be succeeded by Charles Wayne Stansberry, who had been teaching in the education department of college since September 1958.

Mrs. Kopp formerly was a teacher at the campus school at Frostburg State. She served in that post from 1924 to 1928 when the college was known as State Normal School.

She then became supervisor of elementary school instruction in Garrett County, and in 1931 accepted a similar position with the Allegany County Board of Education. She held the latter post until 1938.

While at Frostburg State, Mrs. Kopp participated in curriculum revision in the laboratory school; and assisted in designing the Master of Education degree program now offered through summer sessions at the college.

She also helped develop major courses for the newly-instituted liberal arts program and worked with teachers in Allegany and Garrett counties in effecting the student teacher curriculum.

Mrs. Kopp was active in the planning of the Thomas G. Pullen School building and served on numerous state, county and college education committees.

Mrs. Kopp, wife of Charles L. Kopp, former superintendent of Allegany County schools, received her master of arts degree from Teachers College, Columbia University, on December 18, 1957.

President Hardesty, in announcing her retirement, stated: "Mrs. Kopp's philosophy of education extends far beyond the campus of Frostburg State Teachers College and is reflected in hundreds of classrooms in Maryland where students to whom she gave educational guidance are teaching."

Her successor is a graduate of West Virginia University, where he received his bachelor of science and master of arts degrees. Stansberry currently is doing work for his doctorate at Columbia University.

A native of Mount Morris, Pa., Stansberry has done elementary school administrative work and served as a principal in Monongalia County, W. Va., from 1955 to 1958.

As a faculty member at Frostburg, he taught teaching method courses for students in the elementary program. He also has participated in curriculum revision for the laboratory school and student teacher programs.

Stansberry, a veteran of four years duty with the armed forces (1948-1952) will work directly under Dr. Raymond McCullough in his new position.

Dr. McCullough, former principal at Allegany High School and Talbot County superintendent of schools, is coordinator of teacher education at the college —a post recently innovated.

Stansberry is married and the father of five children.

Five Youths Join Army

They are Kenneth F. Brandt Jr., Wiley Ford, who signed up for electronics schooling; Charles W. Turbin, city, who signed up for construction equipment operation; Frederick L. Sgt. Walbert said so far this month he has interviewed and given aptitude tests to 45 young men interested in joining the Army. The tests are given to ascertain if the men are qualified for certain type training.

'Y' To Offer Bus Transportation

Central YMCA will offer bus transportation to fourth, fifth and sixth grade-age members in the Frostburg and LaVale regions, according to Benjamin Haines, program director, who said the project will start September 29.

Boys and girls, Haines explained, will be picked up by chartered buses at the close of school on Fridays. Activities at the Y will include trampoline instruction, tumbling, relay races, gymnastics, swimming, crafts and a club program.

The buses will return the children to the schools, or to the closest point to their homes along the return route, Haines said. The first session will last 11 weeks, and another is planned after the first of next year.

Group Backs Land Sale

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended that the city purchase approximately 30 acres of land adjacent to Constitution Park for park purposes.

Offer to sell the property to the city for $14,000 was made by Frederick L. Wempe in a letter to the Mayor and Council Monday. Council was interested in the offer and referred it to the commission. The commission at a meeting Wednesday recommended that the money be taken from the Recreation Bond issue funds.

Wempe said the $14,000 is what he has invested in the property. Originally, he had proposed to develop the land for housing.

Wempe's offer brought from Street Commissioner John J. Long the statement that Wempe should be commended for the action since abandonment of his housing plans would mean a loss of profit to him.

Editor Nominated

Rec Unit Has Outstanding Fair Display

The sound of band music is heard continuously and the voice of George Stein describes the action as the visitor views the display installed in two adjoining booths measuring an overall 24 feet.

The parade is formed along a simulated route with streets such as "Recreation Street, Park Avenue, Playground Avenue and Tennis - Boulevard" marked off. The disbandment area is known as "Little League Place."

Each of the 14 playgrounds submitted an entry in miniature using the theme "Holidays." A doll dressed as a majorette leads the "parade."

Entered are exhibits titled New Year by Columbia Street; Valentine's Day, Pine Avenue; Washington's Birthday, Thomas Post Playground; St. Patrick's Day, Pennsylvania Avenue; Maryland Day, Virginia Avenue; Easter, Mt. Royal; May Day, North End; Memorial Day, Johnson Heights; Vacation Time, Mapleside; Independence Day, Fort Cumberland Playground; Halloween, West Side; Columbus Day, Ridgedale; Thanksgiving, Center Street; and Christmas, Gephart.

Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director who supervised the playground program, said a representative of the department is on hand at all times when the display is open to the public.

The C&O Railway, which is seeking to merge with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, purchased $5,500,000 of Western Maryland Railway stock during the year.

The directors made the announcement yesterday as they declared the regular third-quarter dividend of $1 payable September 20 to stockholders of record on September 1. The distribution will total $8,204,000 to 92,000 shareowners.

The company maintained its strong working capital position during the second half of the year despite the purchase of the holdings in the Western Maryland, which the directors termed "a dividend-bearing investment readily available to the company as a financial reserve."

The C&O has paid regular dividends of $4 a year for over four years. During that period, C&O earnings have been substantially in excess of dividends and a strong working capital position has been built up.

Even though C&O earnings for the first half of the year fell short of dividend payments, as a result of general business conditions, the dividend was well protected.

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 43 Sally L. Tompkins of Richmond was the only woman to have an officer's commission in the Confederate Army. She was appointed captain by President Davis.

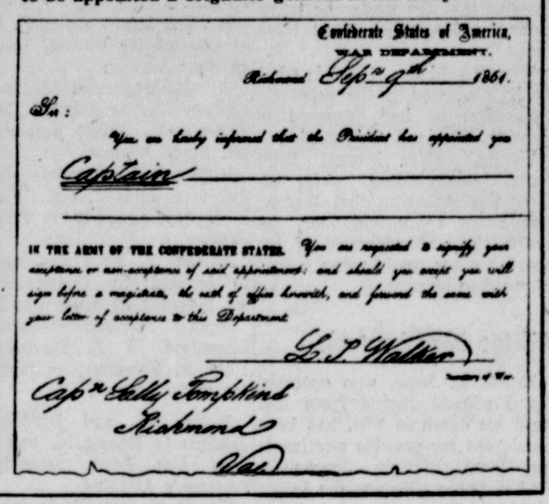

On her own initiative, immediately after the Battle of Bull Run in July 1861, Miss Tompkins established a hospital in Richmond for the wounded. She served actively throughout the conflict.

Hundreds of other Southern and Northern women were military nurses, but no Northern woman was given officer's rank except Dr. Mary Edwards Walker of Oswego, N. Y. She, a graduate of Syracuse Medical College, volunteered her services in 1861. After being kept in nursing duties three years, she was commissioned assistant surgeon. As an officer, Dr. Walker wore male uniform.

West showed a bold alertness in the successful defense of today's three no trump contract when he dramatically shifted his line of attack.

No forum is held for the soundness of the auction in all respects. South chose to open with an introductory bid of one diamond which carries the approach principle too far, inasmuch as a one no trump bid completely describes the hand and obviates all future problems.

West inserted an overcall of one spade, no doubt under the assumption that the vulnerability offered him protection. Fortunately this practice has long since gone out of style in more enlightened circles.

North freely bid two clubs and East raised his partner. South now bid two no trump and North decided to bid three clubs as a warning to his partner that part of his values were distributional in nature. South elected to gamble it out for nine tricks, a decision for which he is not subject to criticism even though it turns out that a contract of five clubs is unbeatable.

The four of spades was opened and the king permitted to hold. The nine of spades was returned and the ten went to West's jack. West could see that establishing the spades would serve no good purpose since he lacked a quick entry to regain the lead. Analysis showed that in order to defeat the contract East would have to hold a high diamond honor and a quick entry.

On this line of reasoning West shifted to the two of diamonds directly into the hand that had bid that suit. The queen went to declarer's ace and since he had only eight running tricks he found it necessary to drive out the ace of hearts. At this point a diamond return netted two more tricks for the defense to defeat the contract.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 26 years old and married to a wonderful man who is ten years my senior.

Before we married he told me he would never be able to have a family because of a childhood illness. He has accepted his fate philosophically and I thought I could, too, but I'm afraid I overestimated myself.

Whenever I see a baby I want to cry. I never realized I had such strong maternal instincts until now. My husband is dead set against adoption. His closest friend had a tragic experience with an adopted child and it warped his thinking. When I last brought up the subject he had such a hurt look I decided never again.

I'm unhappy, unfulfilled and I'm becoming deeply depressed. What to do? —NORA

DEAR NORA: A childless woman of 26 whose husband refuses to adopt can satisfy her maternal instincts in a variety of ways. She can be educated for teaching or nursing, or she can do volunteer work with children on a non-professional basis.

If your husband is opposed to your working you can take in a foster child or two. Many children who are not adoptable need a home and loving care. Such an arrangement can be mutually rewarding.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I run a small snack shop near a high school. School starts soon and we need advice. We have a hard time keeping a waitress because a certain group of teen-agers are rude and demanding.

They take the paper napkins, wad them up, shred them or just soak them in water glasses. We don't leave toothpicks out any more because they grab handfuls and just break them up. They carve initials on the tables and chairs, write smart cracks on the walls and walk out with salt and pepper shakers and catsup and mustard dispensers.

Most of the teen-agers who come in are mannerly and pleasant, but this particular bunch drives away adult customers and hurts our business with the better kids. We've told a few of the rougher ones not to come in any more, but they say a restaurant is a public place. What can we do? —PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: A restaurant is NOT a public place. It is a privately owned business which caters to the public.

You have a right to refuse admittance (or evict) anyone who behaves in a destructive manner. In fact you can enlist the aid of the law.

Crack down hard on the barbarians this fall and let them know they can't bully you any longer.

DEAR ANN: A woman who works in our office is well-known for her off-color jokes. Every day she has a few "gems." Some of them are plain filthy.

I find these stories offensive and when the group gathers I keep busy and stay away. One of the nicer women who has always been helpful suggested that I join the circle and just "listen." I asked why. She said, "Because you give the impression you are better than they are — and place yourself outside the office circle."

I've thought this over seriously. Is she right?

— OFFICE FREAK

DEAR O. F.: No. It's a mistake to lower your standards to "fit in." You are on solid ground so long as yo don't try to reform or judge. Just make it plain you're not interested.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomato-Mush Covers Turnpike After Truck Crash

EAST PROVIDENCE, Pa. (AP) — Four lanes of the Pennsylvania Turnpike were covered with squashed tomatoes Thursday when a truck went out of control and hit a guard rail.

State Police identified the truck driver and his assistant as William S. Cox and John Thomas, both of Crisfield, Md. The two men told authorities the steering mechanism of the truck apparently broke as the vehicle was rounding a curve. The truck was taking the tomatoes to market.

Cox and Thomas suffered minor injuries. They were treated at Bedford County Memorial Hospital and released.

The first submarine that actually sank another vessel was the Confederate Hunley, built during the Civil War. It sank the Union frigate Houssantonic in Charleston harbor.

Taxpayers League To Hold Election

Primary ballots will be mailed within the next few days to charter members of the Cumberland Taxpayers and Property Owners League.

The League, organized as a committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, closed its charter Tuesday with 146 charter members.

Mathias Cancels Visit To City

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland's Sixth Congressional District, has cancelled a planned visit to his office here today and to the Cumberland Fair this evening.

In a telegram to The Cumberland News he said that a debate on the Mutual Security Act necessitates a Friday session in the House of Representatives and he will be unable to be here today.

Technicians Chosen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Information Agency (USIA) Thursday said it has selected 20 technician-demonstrators for an exhibit in Moscow on U.S. transportation.

USIA said 10 men and 10 women have been selected for the exhibition. All are fluent in Russian and will receive intensive training in the transportation field.

Eight of the group are currently in the Soviet Union as technician-demonstrators for a "plastics-USA" exhibit and will remain for the transportation show, which is scheduled to open during September.

Termed Weakness

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Harvard University expert on government organization said Thursday it is a national weakness to believe that an elaborate table of organization can make up for the defects of men.

Don K. Price Jr., dean of the Graduate School of Business Administration, said this belief limits efforts to coordinate policy in the executive office of the president.

He said policy-makers appointed by the president should have more leeway in transfering high-ranking civil servants who don't go along wholeheartedly with the political direction of the government.

Woman Sworn In

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Esther Peterson was sworn in Thursday as an assistant secretary of labor.

Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg administered the oath to Mrs. Peterson, who since January has been director of the Labor Department's Women's Bureau.

A tall, silvery blonde, Mrs. Peterson, 54, is the wife of a foreign service officer and the mother of four children.

Park Provision Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department asked a House Interior Committee Thursday to approve provision for Piscataway Park in Maryland.

Quizzed In Smuggling

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (UPI)—Authorities Thursday questioned the American captain and four Colombian crewmen of a Venezuelan-flag coastal freighter in connection with the smuggling of some $30,000 worth of liquor and other contraband goods into Ecuador.

The captain was identified only as a man named Roosevelt whose home town was not disclosed. He and the four Colombians were arrested near Port Limones close to the Colombian border and transfered here.

There are some 50 4-H Club rabbits on exhibit at the Fair. Although they have been accepted before, this is the first year that 4-H rabbits have been listed the Fair premium book. Jim Lashley of Mt. Savage had the best in breed.

Although household baking and candy competition is primarily for the women, two men managed to get a little of the $120.25 in premium money. Ray Wilt of Cresap Drive received a $1.50 first prize for his fancy cookies. Glen Davis, 515 Dreyer Avenue, won a $1 third prize for his graham or whole wheat bread.

In the agriculture competition, some $136.50 in prize money will be distributed. The biggest individual prize of $16 goes to Jacob Burtner of Boonsboro in Washington County whose feed corn took a top prize.

In the FFA swine competition, there was considerable rivalry in the Hampshire breed. The highest winner was Donald Smith, RFD 1, Flintstone, awarded six prizes totaling $55. Ronald Shipley, also RFD 1, Flintstone, was next with $34 from five prizes.

Some $95.50 was awarded to winners in the art exhibit. Barbara Alexander, Christie Road, won three first prizes adding up to $9 in the adult division. Other adult winners were Glen Swisher, Springfield, W. Va., and Nancy Moore, Hyndman, Pa.

John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, said "we all want to give raises," but have to know where the funds are to come from. He said he did not "see anything in Streets that we can give up."

Mr. Fleming said he was not satisfied with a budget which does not have something for the workers.

City officials agreed the lack of a raise will bring more resignations but that a city "can't compete with private industry."

Mr. Gibson raised the possibility that it might be possible to reconsider the budget after January 1, when funds can be switched as needed.

W. Va. Young Democrats Open Convention

However, the chief interest in the two-day meeting is Saturday when election of officers is scheduled. A floor fight was apparently in the offing.

Former House of Delegates member Thomas Godby, Logan, now Logan county assessor, and Princeton lawyer Walter W. Burton are both seeking the post as successor to Cotton White, Beckley. Joe Rodriguez, Beckley, appeared to have no opposition for vice president.

A couple of other darkhorse candidates also have been mentioned for president — James Sprouse, South Charleston, and Charles McDermott, Grafton.

Gov. W. W. Barron is scheduled to address the session Saturday.

Higher Work Quota In Red 'Paradise'

The work-norm system in Soviet satellites requires each worker to meet a fixed production quota in order to receive the minimum wage. If a worker exceeds the norm he is entitled to a bonus, but when the norm is exceeded by any large number of workers a new and higher quota is imposed.

An East German government decree of May 28, 1953 upped the work norm by 10 per cent. Previous bonuses were eliminated. Thus the increase in the norm had the effect of a wage cut for most workers—at a time when they were barely able to live on existing pay scales.

Resentment grew. Finally on the morning of June 16 workers in the Stalin Allee construction project in East Berlin—for the most part a "loyal" hand-picked force, for this was the showpiece of the Soviet sector—suddenly and without unified leadership or central direction began to gather in small groups in the streets. Shouting to others in adjoining buildings, they formed columns and began a march toward the headquarters of the East German government. The East Berlin riots which broke out then spread to other East German cities and threatened for the first time to overwhelm a Soviet-sponsored government. The insurrection was put down by the tanks and machine guns of the Red Army after 48 hours of bloodshed.

Now the hated norms are being reintroduced in East Germany. Output that is accepted as top quality—"quality grade No. 1"—is rewarded with 100 per cent of the usual wage. Quality grade No. 2 earns only 90 per cent of the usual wage; quality grade No. 3, 70 per cent. Communist inspectors do the grading.

The new system is openly described as "cheapening" the cost of production. The Communists explain that they have to lower the cost of production to prepare for a possible Western boycott. But whatever the explanation, raising the work quota when much of the labor force is now held against its will would appear foolish, if not downright ominous.

Scandinavians Amazed As Birchers Ask Impeachment Of Chief Justice

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note—En route to Moscow, Drew Pearson writes a column on the Scandinavian countries.)

OSLO, Norway — The little town of Haugesund, Norway, is known to most Norwegians as the birthplace of the father of the Chief Justice of the United States. Earl Warren's father left Haugesund at the age of two in 1865, migrated to America, and became a locomotive engineer on the Southern Pacific Railway in Bakersfield, Calif.

Every so often the Chief Justice has come back to Norway and to Sweden, where Mrs. Warren was born. This summer, the Warrens flew from Australia, where they had gone to represent the United States at the request of the State Department, to Norway, where, as usual, they were greeted with great enthusiasm.

Suddenly in the middle of their reception, the New York Times European edition front-paged a report from Tuisa, Okla., that the John Birch Society was offering $2,300 in prizes for essays by college students on why the Chief Justice should be impeached.

The reaction of Norwegians and Swedes was one of bewilderment. Here was a man who three times was elected governor of California by tremendous majorities, who ran for Vice President of the United States in 1948 on the Republican ticket, and now serves as Chief Justice of the most important court in the world.

Yet the John Birch Society wants to impeach him.

Scandinavians, of course, don't know much about the John Birch Society, and that its founder called both Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles Communists. They were amazed first, that anyone should want to impeach a man who had reached such a high position and who had just been sent as an official U. S. representative to Australia. Second, they couldn't understand why The New York Times should play up the story on page one of its European edition.

"I'll have to get Mrs. Warren to enter the contest," he chuckled. "She knows more of my faults than anyone else — unless it's my three boys. Maybe she could win first prize and my boys could win the other prizes. Then we could keep the money in the family."

Tourists To USA

It's no secret that when the hard-working Secretary of Commerce went to Europe last spring to promote American tourism he got plenty of speeches but no tourists. European travel agents were very discouraging. However, Jack Logan, who represents General Foods in Washington and the MIGROS chain stores in Switzerland, has now come up with a special tour of 1,000 Swiss customers of MIGROS.

The interesting thing is that Gotlieb Duttweiler, head of MIGROS,

The interesting thing is that Gotlieb Duttweiler, head of MIGROS, is giving this trip to the USA as a reward to his customers, instead of giving them green stamps.

Duttweiler has gone in for cultural rewards rather than trading stamps. Those who trade at his stores get tickets to the opera, to musical concerts, adult education classes, and now, a two-week trip to the USA.

Duttweiler and Logan have worked this out so that the round trip will cost only $500, including fare on chartered Swiss airplanes, and all-expense paid trips to New York, Washington, Niagara Falls and Chicago. The thousand Swiss won't come all at once. They'll arrive in installments, in what may be the first breaking of the tourist barrier between the United States and Europe.

Whales To Japan

What churned up the Norwegian people this summer was not so much the Berlin crisis, but whales.

Specifically, Norwegians didn't like the sale of one of their big whaling ships, SS Kosmos II, to Japan, which is already rivaling Norway for leadership of the whaling industry.

Every October, 3,000 Norwegians sail with the whaling fleets to the Antarctic, where the big blue whales are still plentiful. There, they spend four months harpooning whales, blowing them up so they'll float, sticking flags on them, then coming back to the dead floating whales 24 hours or so later to tow them to the mother ship.

The latter is a floating factory which uses almost every part of the whale with the same efficiency as the Chicago Stock Yards use everything about the pig except the squeal.

About 10 hunter vessels are attached to each floating factory, and it was one of these big vessels that was sold to Japan.

Last season the Japanese harpooned 5,900 blue whales, while the Norwegians harpooned 5,190—the first time teh yotsotulqetaoi the first time they lost out to the Japanese. The loss was attributed to the skill of one Japanese harpooner. The Norwegians hitherto have trained the best harpooners. Their skill depends on their ability to gauge the time between the spout of a whale and the time it comes up to spout again. During that next spout the harpoon must be fired.

"Blue whales are from 70 to 140 tons in size," explained a Norwegian guide to Chief Justice Warren. "They have a tongue that weighs three and a half tons."

Sealing Berlin May Make Negotiations Easier

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Nikita S. Khrushchev has now taken the brutal step that Josef Stalin himself always refrained from taking. With a clang heard around the world, he has closed the Berlin-gate of his East German jail.

Khrushchev's act is a timely recall to reality, for the increasing numbers of persons in the West who have been Vostok-bemused. Despite the impressive material achievements of the Soviet Union, the essential nature of Communist society remains unchanged. Every Communist society in fact resembles a vast prison, or at least a prison camp.

The East German jail has long enjoyed many practical advantages over most of the other "peoples' democracies." With all sorts of favoring factors such as extra-large Soviet credits and unusually skilled manpower, the odious chief jailer, Walther Ulbricht, really ought to have made this particular jail a fairly bearable place, at least as jails go. But Ulbricht failed so conspicuously that the jail-gate had to be shut at last, by Khurshchev's direct order.

Such is the obvious moral meaning of the grim events at Berlin, which probably condemned the millions of East Germans who hesitated too long to use the Berlin-gate to life terms under Ulbricht and his successors. Politics being what they are, however, the political meaning of the closing of the jail-gate does not exactly gibe with its moral meaning.

Every finger must be kept crossed, of course. The Western nations must undoubtedly keep their powder very dry indeed. Yet this ruthless closing of the jail-gate, which so properly evokes deep moral indignation, may also improve the chances of a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

The facts are hard and cruel, but they have to be faced. In the first place, the "liberation" policy, proclaimed by the late John Foster Dulles with such evangelistic fervor in 1952, was shown to be as phony as a $3 bill when even Dulles rejected the opportunity presented by the East German rising in 1953.

Since then, it has been clear that the Western nations are not going to take any risks to "liberate" the Eastern Europeans, including the East Germans. Logically, that rules out fighting to keep the jail-gate open.

In the second place, no responsible Western leader, in this country or in Europe, has suggested going to war to prevent Khrushchev from signing his proposed peace treaty with the odious Ulbricht. The bolder spirits, including President Kennedy and President Eisenhower, have merely said that we must fight for the freedom of West Berlin, and for the access routes which safeguard this freedom. All Western policymakers have further conceded the need to offer Khrushchev some sort of face-saving arrangements, in order to protect the freedom of Berlin without a war.

Consider, then, what has happened against the background of these hard facts. On the one hand, this shutting of the Berlin-gate of his East German jail with a loud, public clang is bound to be deeply damaging to Khrushchev. It is an implied admission of a very terrible kind. If he still expected to get the whole of Berlin into his grip — a much simpler way of doing the job — he would probably have tolerated a continuing trickle of refugees.

That was why he generally expected to be content with stopping access to East Berlin, instead of closing the border between the two halves of the city. The flood of regugees would then have become a trickle, and the clang of the closing gate would not have been heard around the world.

Instead, however, Khrushchev has gone to the extreme limit. This suggests then he has begun to realize that he may have to be satisfied with signing his peace treaty with Ulbricht, while leaving free Berlin and its access routes severely alone.

On the other hand, the closing of the jail-gate also simplifies the Western task of finding face-saving arrangements. It was not possible to imagine any arrangement to save Khrushchev's face, as long as Eastern Germans were still flooding out through the Berlin gate. But it was also impossible to imagine Western acceptance of the moral obloquy of denying the right of sanctuary to East German refugees.

This seemingly insuperable difficulty can now be surmounted, with the jail-gate firmly closed by Khrushchev's own order. He has accepted the moral obloquy, and thus he has effectively crossed the refugee problem off the list of Berlin problems.

In this manner he has opened the way, whether consciously or unintentionally, to a negotiated settlement that will leave Berlin genuinely, enduringly free. The horror at least has this much good in it.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Who Are They?

I see in a Soviet publication a list of Lenin Peace Prize winners and I wonder who some of them are and what they got the Peace Prize for. The winners, this year, are:

"Premier Fidel Castro (Cuba), President Sekou Toure (Guinea), Mme. Rameshwari Nehru (India), writer Mihail Sadoveanu (Rumania), architect Antoine George Tabet (Lebanon), Ostap Dluski (Poland) and William Morrow (Australia)."

Precisely what have these people done to bring peace to the world? Certainly Fidel Castro has not helped the world toward peace; rather he has brought the world closer to war. From this one example, it is possible to wonder whether in the Aesopian language of Soviet Russia peace is not war and war is not peace.

The name of William Morrow of Australia is here. What has William Morrow done to achieve world peace or, for that matter, what could he have done? Or to go a step further, what in particular can Australia do about war or peace?

One gets to wonder about these prizes. What do the Nobel Peace Prizes represent in history? I take the first dozen names from 1901-1908:

"1901—H. Dunant (Swi.); Fred Passy (F.); 1902—E. Ducommun & A. Gobat (Swi.); 1903—Sir William R. Cremer (Br.); 1904—Institute of International law; 1905—Bertha von Suttner (Aus.); 1906—Theodore Roosevelt (A.); 1907—E. T. Moneta (I.); L. Renault (F.); 1908—Klas P. Arnoldson (Swe.); Frederick Bajer (Dn.)."

Except for Theodore Roosevelt and L. Renault, what role have these winners played in history? But let us go a step further: what actually did Theodore Roosevelt do for peace? He got his prize for bringing the Russo-Japanese War to an end by the Treaty of Portsmouth which may be an act of peace, depending upon how one views the consequences of historic acts.

The last Nobel Peace Prize winners rather indicate that difficulty is found in making any selection at all.

In 1958, the Reverend Dominique Georges Pire, another Britisher, got it; in 1957, it went to Lester Pearson of Canada and then they could find no one for some years because in 1953, it was given to General George Marshall. Certainly Lester Pearson and General Marshall never did anything for peace. I could not find Reverend Pire's name in any reference book.

While I was looking at lists of prize-winners, I had a look at the Pulitzer Prizes and found a few important names who have left some reputation behind them, but too many of the really great have been omitted.

It is cruel to look at such lists, for how many of us will survive a decade of memory or even six months? Of the billions of human beings in the long history of man, few names survive. The peacemakers, in particular, have been few in number and of those, few achieved peace. The war-makers have been more successful and more famous. Everybody knows the name, Napoleon, who never won a peace prize. Very few know of Alexander I of Russia who really tried to make peace but failed.

I wonder if Abraham Lincoln would have won a peace prize if such were around in his day? In his heart, he wanted peace. He did not make a war but when it came upon him, he fought it to a success. But he hated war and would have made peace at any time. His program for peace, after the war, might have saved the country from much grief. But he won no prizes.

There is no telling who of the present figures in our society will last a decade or a century in history. Will the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry Truman or Dwight D. Eisenhower stand out monumentally? Will they count for as much in history as Stalin or Khrushchev or even Hitler? History has curious ways of picking its great figures and curiously enough it is not the peace-maker but the war-maker who fills pages. True, we do know something about Aristotle, but more about his pupil, Alexander. Alexander or Iskander, as he is sometimes called, has had cities named about him and millions of children have been given his name as their name, but how many are named after Aristotle? The only one on record is a Greek shipowner who is famous for his connection with a temperamental and noisy soprano.

STATES DEADLOCKED — Under the 1960 census, some states gained sufficient population to entitle them to a greater number of Congressmen, and some lost, and their Congressional representation will be reduced. It is up to each of these states to rearrange their Congressional districts to provide for the addition or subtraction.

Four of these states—California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts — are deadlocked. They have been unable to obtain agreement in their state legislatures for rearrangements of the districts.

If these states should be unable to break their deadlocks, the results will be to enhance Republican chances of gaining control in the House of Representatives in the national elections next year.

Failing to redistrict, each of the Congressmen in the four states will have to run for election on state-wide ballots, instead of from areas where they are known and their political strength is relatively secure. The rural areas of each of these states has been traditionally Republican, with the Democratic Congressmen coming from the larger cities.

Thus, there is a good chance that some of the Democratic incumbents will meet with defeat when they are faced with statewide elections.

For different reasons, there are reports that seven Senate Democrats are also in trouble and face probable defeat. Likewise, two Republican Senators are in similar trouble in their states.

If this forecast should prove correct, the Democratic majority in the Senate would be impaired, but not destroyed in the 1962 election—in which one-third of the senatorial seats will be filled.

HEIDELBERG, Germany. — Coming south on the autobahn out of Frankfurt, the flat farms and vineyards on the left side leap up into green mountains which hold the white clouds mesmerized on their finger tips. Nothing moves except a chill breeze which walks blindly across the neat farms and feels the mountains for the passes.

This city, like a fat Plattdeutscher, sits astride the Neckar River south of Mannheim, and is the only town of 130,000 which was not bombed in the war. General Patton's Third Army took it. As the tanks rolled down the valley, some S.S. troops dynamited two spans of the old Roman bridge. This was the extent of Heidelberg's participation in the war.

Americans remember Heidelberg as the site of an operetta called "The Student Prince." The people here do not like to discuss it. They shrug and smile apologetically. They know the story of Kathy, the waitress, who fell in love with the student prince, and they know the lovely tunes and they are aware that the prince became a king and was not permitted to marry Kathy.

Ernest Lubitsch came here in 1928 to film the story, and it was pretty old then. There is a house on Neuenheimer Landstrasse where the movie was made. Today, it is an old pink stucco box and, if one studies it long enough, the shutters open slightly and giggling girls appear at the windows. They are here to study languages.

They are too young and too pretty to recall that Norma Shearer was once the beauty of this house, and the star of the picture. The prince was played by Ramon Navarro, and the autographed pictures hang on a wall downstairs near an old upright piano.

All of it is long ago. Nobody cares. Along the grassy banks of the Neckar, students lounge in the sun with their girls, and talk of the uneasy peace and the world of tomorrow. They do not wear pill box hats, although many of the boys on the university side of town wear scanty leather shorts and heavy shoes. They study hard in the ancient buildings, but they have no sense of history.

That side of the town moves steeply up the mountain side, up past the Jesuit Church with its new white interior, through the narrow alleys to the old Heidelberg Castle, called Schloss. It is a series of hollow ruins, with green saplings growing out from between the ancient stones, but it has a commanding view of the town below and the sun spangling the river.

The Schloss was built around 1693 by Prince Electors, but, like most Germanic objects, it has come to a tragic end not once, but twice. It was burned down, rebuilt, and burned again. Someone lit the powder in the shot tower and half of one rounded side slid down into a deep moat. It stands there today.

The Schloss has an old and ornate stone gate, full of stone snails and stone squirrels with nuts in their teeth. Back in the 17th century, a German prince built it in one night as a surprise for his lady love. It was completed and the lady walked under its huge arch in the morning.

Halfway down the hill there is a student dormitory called Duelling House, but duelling is now against the law. Some students arrive for morning classes with big bandages across their foreheads, but the professors do not ask how the accident happened. A solid scar across the face is almost as good as a bachelor of science degree.

There are trolley cars with overhead wires, and a cable car to carry the lazy and the fat up the mountain. The beers are dark and strong; the local wines are pale and heady. There is a market place laden with dewy vegetables and, on cool mornings, blue smoke comes from the chimney pots on the rooftops.

Once, in 1693, all of Heidelberg burned down except one building. It is the Hotel zum Ritter and it was standing a hundred years before the great fire. It is still standing. And still doing business.

The S.S. men put the modern torch to Heidelberg when they blew the old bridge in 1945. Heidelbergers do not want such signs of modernity. They searched all of Europe to match the reddish sandstone of their bridge. Then they rebuilt it, exactly as it was.

A French writer, Edgar Quinet, once said, in grudging admiration: "This Heidelberg, it is the home of the soul."

Maybe . . .

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In World War II several English army cooks developed an eruption of the hands and face after peeling parsnips in the open air. The rash alarmed the men who feared it meant the Germans were using mustard or blister gas.

Army medical specialists were called immediately and their diagnosis was startling, if not ridiculous to the men: The cooks' skin had become sensitive to light by handling parsnips. The rash resembled acute sunburn, with large blisters.

Contact with various chemicals, drugs and plants is known to sensitize the skin to light. Parsnips is one and the list includes mustard, celery, carrots, figs, buttercups, and limes. The period of exposure to the sun need not occur simultaneously with contact or the ingestion of the sensitizers. The outbreak usually appears up to 40 hours later.

Oil of bergamot, a common ingredient of perfume, was one of the first drugs to be implicated in allergy to light. During the occupation of Poland, German physicians noted that girls with long pigtails frequently applied cologne to combat greasiness. Patches of pigmentation occurred on the shoulders and back due to the combined effects of sunlight and the cologne that dripped from the hair. The dark pigmentation that develops on the temples and skin of many women has been traced to the use of perfumes and cosmetics containing chemicals that sensitize the skin.

A rash on the exposed parts of the body following the use of various medications including the sulfonamides, sedatives, and the newer diuretics has been traced to this type of skin sensitivity.

There also is a practical aspect to the pigmentation produced by the sun, following the use of drugs. The Egyptians, for example, long have applied extracts of Ammi majus Linn to repigment parts affected by vitiligo (leucoderma). The outgrowth of this observation was the development of the psoralens, which helped some victims of these white patches. This product accentuates the effects of the sun and has been useful in vitiligo and in hastening a tan in persons who usually burn when exposed to the sun.

SWEAT OF THE BROW

H. writes: Can anything be done about excessive sweating at the hair line?

REPLY

Nothing, except to wipe the brow with a handkerchief or tissue. Medicines that reduce sweating are available but they may have side effects that are worse than sweating. A new dusting powder form of diphemanil methylsulfate (Prantal) is reported to be of help in excessive perspiration of the feet.

LIVER CIRRHOSIS

J. F. writes: Is diet of any value in cirrhosis of the liver?

REPLY

Yes. Meals should be rich in proteins and carbohydrates but low in fats. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cirrhosis of the liver.

COVER GOOD EYE

G. K. writes: If a child is cross-eyed, is the good eye or the bad covered with a patch?

REPLY

MILK INTAKE

S. C. writes: How much milk must I drink daily? I'm 80 years old.

REPLY

As much or as little as your heart desires and your stomach and intestine can take. At 80, you know best.

CAN'T CONCEIVE

REPLY

No, because in this operation the main part of the uterus is removed.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

President of a big importing house hired a new secretary the other day and and put her to work at once taking down long letters to agents in Hong Kong, Buenos Aires, Rome, Stockholm, and Hawaii. A short time later the girl poked her head in his door and reported cheerfully, "Mission accomplished." "That's quick work," beamed the importer. "Where did you learn to type letters so fast?"

"I didn't," admitted the girl. "I just phoned those agents instead. That's much faster than writing."

A big shot lecturer was in a midwestern town for a speech to the Women's Club, and the press was invited to attend—also press photographers. The latter found this warning posted in the section reserved for them: "Cameramen! Do not get up to photograph our speaker while he is addressing the audience. Shoot him as he approaches the platform."

Westernport Has $14,600 At End Of Year

WESTERNPORT — The Town of Westernport had a $14,600 balance on hand as of July 1, more than twice the amount for the previous fiscal year, according to the Mayor and Council last night.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt also presented the estimated budget $187,420.00 with the same expenditures for 1961-62.

Harvey Sanders, of Sanders and Hershman Garage, Oakland, conferred with town officials concerning the sale of a Massey-Ferguson tractor for $7,800. It is equipped with a hoe and digger.

Sanders said his firm will allow a trade of $2,000 on the present tractor of the town. If no trade-in is acceptable, he added, a discount of $700 will be allowed. No action was taken on the proposal.

Mrs. Katherine Hartig, town clerk, reported receipts from parking meters and violations the past two weeks amounted to $198.61. Water receipts netted $2,148.89, making the water balance on hand $6,576.53.

Clyde Marsh, Ross Street, asked the town to open a road from Ross to Likens Streets. There are five lots in that area where homes may be built. He also asked that the water line be extended.

Henry Wilt, formerly of Main Street, who has moved to Kalamazoo, Mich., asked for a refund on his garbage card. Favorable action was taken.

The charge for Main Street residents, who will connect with the pipeline along Georges Creek which will carry water to the Upper Potomac River Commission disposal plant at the lower end of town, was discussed.

The building to house the electric pump on Philos Avenue has been completed, and the pump has been ordered.

Mrs. R. C. Isiminger, chairman, cited the importance of an adequate year-round camp for the girls of seven counties comprising the council in an attractive brochure, "Do You Believe in Girls," which is being mailed to families in the tri-state sector.

Since Girl Scouts in Keyser are a part of the Shawnee Council, they are also making preliminary plans under the guidance of Scout leaders to assist with the program.

Bank Face Lifting Progresses

Work is 80 per cent completed on remodeling the front of the Fidelity Bank Building, East Main Street, Frostburg, and should be completed by September 15, Ralph M. Race, president, said yesterday. The old Indiana Limestone front was removed beginning April 20 and a new and modern glass front installed. Eighty square feet was added to the interior of the banking headquarters by the remodeling. Race said practically all supplies were furnished locally: Jesse Fuller and Son are the General Contractors and Stephen J. Matthews, Philadelphia, the architect. The old town clock, a fixture at this location for over 40 years was removed from it's location on the side walk and will be replaced by a new clock to be attached to the building and will be visible from the First Methodist Church east to Grant Street. Trim for the building is Furnace Creek, Pa., black marble on the bottom: Alabama white marble on the sides and ceramic tile across the top. Air conditioning was installed a year ago in the bank to permit the use of this new type front.

Ten-Pin League Elects Officers

There will be eight teams in the city league this year and it was proposed to have bowling on Sunday at 2 p. m. and Tuesday 7:30 p. m. with the teams alternating on the two dates.

The league will officially begin September 10 at the Recreation Alleys and bowl a 35-week schedule.

Tentative plans are to have four teams participate in the roll-offs with the banquet to be held the week following.

The next meeting will be held August 28 at 7 p. m. to make final preparations.

Progress Made On Plan To Renovate Cemetery

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—C. C. Wise and Carl S. Welton, members of the Olivet Cemetery Association and only active members of the committee, met with the Community Council to discuss suggested improvements on the cemetery.

Both Wise and Welton agreed that dead trees should be removed from the cemetery before damage is done to gravestones; that brush, which has grown up and become unsightly, should be removed; that it would be much safer to use the entrance on Route 55 for an entrance only and to mark the back road for exit.

The committee from the council had also suggested that lots in the old part of the cemetery, which are surrounded by iron fences, would have at least a panel of those fences removed so it may be possible to get in and clean out the weeds and brush. This, Mr. Wise and Mr. Welton said, would be a more difficult matter because they would need permission from owners and some of those lots have no members of the family who can be reached.

Wise thought it would be a good idea to call a meeting of persons owning lots on the cemetery (who are, by the charter rights of the Cemetery Association, stockholders) and set up an organization, such as is called for in the charter. He and Welton would be willing to continue to serve on the committee but welcomed the idea of cooperation from the community.

Mr. Wise stated, that when he and Mr. Welton were selected to serve on the committee that the Cemetery Association had a debt of $3,000, owing for the purchase of an addition to the cemetery; that during their incumbency, they had paid off the debt and had money in bonds to care for unexpected expenses—such as the opening up of the land east of the present cemetery.

Other matters before the council were tabled until the September meeting when there would be better attendance and reports on inquiries. The Community Council furnished persons to man the Information Booth at Hotel McNeill during the Poultry Festival.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Rafer Johnson, our brilliant decathalon champion who is proving himself as an actor as well, starts his fifth movie for 20th in "The Lion" with William Holden, and of course, the lion.

Producer Sam Engel is already in Kenya, Africa, headquartering at Holden's Kenya Safari Club, for an October 3rd starting date. This thriller is from the novel by Joseph Kessel and in it, Rafer plays the African chieftain to Bill's big game hunter.

Come to think of it, Rafer has an important stop before Africa. He's due in Israel after promising to appear at the Israeli Olympic games coming up.

If Gina Lollobrigida will consent to play Ann Eliza in the motion picture version of "The 27th Wife," Irving Wallace said that he will change Brigham Young's last wife to an Italian immigrant girl.

But before Gina makes up her mind about that, she will be invited by Rock Hudson to play opposite him in "Somersault" by Frank and Eleanor Perry. Henry Willson, vice-president of Rock's company, is now having this very smart comedy adapted for the screen.

This all came about after Rock and Gina were co-starred in "Come September" and did alright for themselves.

A real old-timer, Chester Morris —former movie star, is in town to play a role in the "Checkmate" TV series at Universal-International. He hasn't made a picture at that studio since 1941.

Chester looks almost as young as he did in his heyday. As soon as he finishes the "checkmate" segment, he will resume his national tour in "Advise and Consent."

He says he now has a total of six grandsons. His son, Brooks, is a captain with the Air Force stationed at Victorville.

Each composer present sang his own songs at Ned Washington's surprise birthday party. Johnny Mercer, who has a better voice than some of the other lads, sang one he said wasn't a hit. Harry Warren sang and sang, so did the host and hostess, and my neighbor Leo Robin joined the throng around the piano. Jimmy McHugh played and Harold Adamson sang two of their compositions. Jack Oakie, who is one of the funniest men in the whole world, furnished the comedy.

Donald O'Connor told me that maybe he was asleep when I telephoned, but every time he called me, he was told that I was eating. Among those who loved the entertainment were Caesar Romero, Ellie and David Janssen, Marie Wilson and Bob Fallon, Mrs. Gus Kahn, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Tandowsky, an old friend and Jimmy Starr in a red lined coat with Mrs. S.

When Ned came home and saw all the cars in front of his house, he said to Patti—"Wouldn't you think our next door neighbors, the Lipskeys, would invite us when they have a big party?"

The dedication of the beautiful new Family Theatre on Sunset Boulevard on Tuesday, was like a dream come true to those of us who had heard Father Patrick Peyton outline his plans in 1945. Since then, many big stars have been on his radio program, "The Family that Prays Together Stays Together."

I will have more to say later on the sensational work Father Peyton did in Caracas, Venezuela, when 600,000 attended his meetings and joined his crusade against communism. Many of those in attendance were the students who were very loud in the Communist cause when former vice-president Nixon visited there.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

When the New York Yankees come here August 23rd to play the Los Angeles Angels, Doris Day, who has reserved six boxes, will take the "Touch of Mink" troup to Wrigley Field to watch Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, who are in the movie.

Josh Logan's worries over the box office appeal of "Fanny" are now groundless. It's doing a record breaking business in Hollywood, and in New York its gross was $1,033,576 as it went into its seventh week.

Paid off handsomely for David Lange, Hope's young brother, when he visited Glenn Ford in San Francisco. David was given the role of undercover agent in "Experiment Terror" (new title). He also had a small part with Glenn in "Pocketful of Miracles."

When Sir Laurence Olivier's baby is born in December, he will be in Ireland filming "Term of Trial," but producer Jimmy Woolf says he has arranged with Director Peter Glenville to give Larry three full days off when his and Joan Plowright's child is born.

Kathryn Grayson, who has been blowing up a storm with the straw hat circuit around the country in "The Merry Widow" and "Naughty Marietta," sends word from Warren, Ohio, that she's formed her own company to make a movie from an original script called "The Lady Says Yes."

On the set of "Notorious Landlady," Fred Astaire talked Jack

New Microwave Relay Equipment
will soon be installed for the entire Potomac Valley area!
SERVING 18,000 HOMES

Through their joint effort, and the expenditure of a tremendous amount of money, Potomac Valley TV Company, Cumberland, Keyser Cable Company, Keyser and the Upper Potomac TV Company, Piedmont will have identical TV signals and are locating new microwave relay stations. Now five TV channels will be microwaved at all times, with a total of twelve TV stations available from which to select additional sports and other special programs.

NOW NO CITY WILL HAVE MORE TV STATIONS TO CHOOSE FROM...nor have such glistening, life-like pictures to view!

One microwave receiving point will be located on Cacapon Mountain, near Cacapon State Park, where extremely strong TV signals are received from Washington, Baltimore and Lancaster. These signals will be microwaved not only to Cumberland but to Keyser and Piedmont as well.

Another microwave receiving point will be from Potomac Valley TV's antenna site on Iron's Mountain directly to the Keyser and Piedmont receiving site. This relay will alternately carry TV stations from Altoona, Harrisonburg, Johnstown and Pittsburgh.

Potomac Valley TV Company will be able to absorb the extra cost of these new relay systems due to its larger number of subscribers as it only means better pictures and no additional TV stations for them. However it will be necessary for Keyser Cable Company and the Upper Potomac Cable Company to adjust their monthly rates to partially cover the additional costs of this superb new service.

Jack Fisher Stops Detroit, 3-1; Yankees Win To Increase Lead

Herzog Bats In All Three Orioles Runs

Whitey Hits Homer And Single; Bengals Now Trail By Four

DETROIT (AP) — Whitey Herzog drove in all the Baltimore Orioles' runs with a homer and single Thursday and Jack Fisher's stout pitching stopped the Detroit Tigers 3-1.

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Mike Fornieles walked Ken Aspromonte with the bases full in the 14th inning Thursday night to force in the winning run and give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Johnny Romano hit a two-run homer in the last of the ninth to tie the score.

Bobby Locke, who pitched the final two innings, was the winner. Bill Dailey, Tribe farmhand brought up from Salt Lake City this week, made his major league debut, coming into the game in the ninth inning and blanking the Red Sox for four innings on one single. He walked one and fanned three.

Ike Delock, who started for the Red Sox, was just one out away from winning when Romano hit his homerun to score behind Willie Kirkland, who had walked.

Pirates, Cubs Split Twin Bill

Bucs Win 4-3 After Losing Opener, 11-4

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader Thursday, the Cubs winning the opener, 11-4, to give Dick Drott his first win since June of 1959, and the Pirates taking the nightcap, 4-3, with a two-run rally in the eighth inning.

Bill Mazeroski doubled to open the Pirates eighth in the second game and came home to break a 2-2 tie when Joe Christopher singled. Christopher moved up on a throw to the plate and scored what proved to be the winning run when Roberto Clemente rapped a single off reliever Don Elston.

The victory went to Earl Francis who worked seven innings and needed help from Elroy Face after walking the Cubs' first batter in the eighth. Face retired the next three men, but Billy Williams belted his 21st home run after two outs in the ninth.

Ernie Banks paced Chicago's 13-hit assault in the first game, driving in four runs with his 22nd and 23rd home runs and a double. Andre Rogers clouted a three-run homer and Ron Santo hit the fourth Cub round-tripper in the opener with the bases empty.

Chisox Bow To New York By 5-3 Score

Luis Arroyo Saves Win For Stafford In Ninth Inning

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle failed to hit any home runs Thursday but the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

The White Sox, shut out by Bill Stafford for eight innings, broke out with three runs in the ninth before Luis Arroyo finally could retire the side, saving Stafford's 10th victory.

Maris, who had 48 homers, went hitless in four trips against loser Frank Baumann. Mantle's homer total remained at 45 but he tripled, walked and grounded out twice, driving in his 105th and 106th runs.

Except for Mantle's long triple off Jim Landis' glove in deep right center in the first inning, the Chicago pitching had Mantle and Maris grounding to the infield. Maris has hit 13 homers off White Sox pitching and Mantle has hit four.

Stafford had a six-single shutout going to the ninth until he walked Al Smith and Sherm Lollar and gave up a single to pinch hitter Camilo Carreon. Arroyo then replaced Stafford.

Sam Esposito's sacrifice fly scored Smith and Nellie Fox was hit by a pitched ball loading the bases. When Landis forced Fox, Lollar scored. Floyd Robinson's single knocked in Carreon. Pinch hitter Bob Roselli flied to Mantle for the game-ending out.

Beall Gridders Report, Elect Team Captains

Approximately 80 candidates reported for initial football drills at Frostburg's Beall High School this week, and Coach Jerry Calhoun said practice sessions will continue daily at 10 a.m. and at 3 p.m.

The squad includes 26 freshmen, Calhoun stated.

Initial drills are being concentrated on football fundamentals such as ball handling, passing, punting and conditioning, Calhoun said.

The team elected co-captains for the 1961 season, naming Jerry Delaney and Jim Robertson to lead the squad.

Delaney is an end and letterman with two years grid experience, playing mostly on offense. Robertson has been a letterman for two years and had played football for three seasons. He is a halfback and will play defensive linebacker this year. He is the team's placement kicker.

Both youths are seniors.

Assisting Calhoun this year are Bob Chaney and Russell Fitzgerald. The former has been an assistant coach at Beall for three years. Fitzgerald is an ex-Bruce High athlete and is a member of the Beall High faculty.

Bill Casper Open Leader

Fires Opening 66 At Silver Spring

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Billy Casper, who has won nothing but money this year on the golf course, forged into the first-round lead of the $35,000 Indian Spring Open Thursday by chopping four strokes off a tough par 70.

It moved him two strokes ahead of a pair of early leaders, Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif.

Casper hasn't won a tournament since last October. But the 210-pounder has gathered in $31,433, fourth highest among the touring pros, and will play on the U.S. Ryder Cup team in England in October.

The first-prize money dangling before Casper and the 146 other competitors is $5,300 in the tournament being held for the first time in Maryland. It winds up Sunday after 72 holes.

Frederick Legion Loses Regional Opener, 3 To 0

Strong pitching prevailed as the three teams defeated clubs representing Delaware, West Virginia and Maryland in the double-elimination tournament.

Brooklawn (N. J.) Post 72 defeated Post 21 of Wilmington, Del., 8-3, in 10 innings; Washington Gas Light won over Post 94 of South Charleston, W. Va., 5-2 and Huttner-Pasqualini Post 1367 of Staten Island, N. Y. defeated Post 11 of Frederick, Md., 3-0.

Delaware plays West Virginia in a loser's bracket game today at 10 a. m.; New Jersey plays the District of Columbia at 1 p. m. and New York and Maryland have byes.

In the final game Thursday, lefthander Tom Edwards of New York scattered three hits and struck out 13 in setting down the Maryland champions. He also knocked in New York's first run with a single in the third.

Losing pitcher Chris Sole, hurling equally as well, also threw a three-hitter but his teammates were unable to push across the runs.

Frederick's three hits were collected by Bill Seidling, Wayne Hawes and Bobby Franklin whose double in the 8th was his team's only extra base blow.

Guy Still, Maryland's regular third baseman, injured his hand in the pre-game warmups and was unable to play. Adrian Winpegler filled in for him at the hot corner and played errorless ball.

Earlier, lefthander Jim Magee of New Jersey set down Delaware on five hits, striking out 13. Brooklawn scored five runs in the top of the 10th inning to seal the verdict after Wilmington had tied the game 3-3 in the bottom of the ninth.

Righthander Ken Claro whiffed 15 for Washington and allowed West Virginia only four hits. Claro helped his cause with a two-run single in the third inning as his team collected four runs.

(End of regular season)

Ritter's Athletic Club clinched second place and the Knights of Columbus tied the Celanese A.A. for fourth place yesterday as the Rocking Chair Softball League concluded its 22nd regular season.

Glenn Kauffman hurled Ritter's to a 7-0 victory over Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Campobello while the Caseys handed the C.&P. Telephone Company tossers their 19th consecutive loss at Post Field by the score of 13-4.

Tied Teams Clash Today

The K. of C. and Celanese A.A. will clash today at 6:15 p.m. at Post Field to determine the fourth place spot for the playoffs which get under way next week. The league will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Wilson Hardware Company building to make plans for the four-team playoffs that get under way Monday.

In other action yesterday, the Loyal Order of Moose downed the Celanese A.A., 2 to 1, to finish in third place while the B.P.O. Elks forfeited to the pennant-winning V.F.W. team.

Ritter's reeled off its sixth consecutive victory and bagged the season series from the Glassmen, three games to one. The victory was the 14th for Kauffman, who limited P.P.G. to four hits — singles by Clay Ingram, Bill Thompson, Fred Kreiger and Ron Emerick.

Pitchers Are Stingy

In the past six games Ritter's pitchers have held the opposition to three runs and scored three shutout victories.

The R. A. C. amassed a total of 14 hits, including a homer and single by "Hoppy" Crabtree, a double and two singles each by Dave Ritter and Johnny Horwath and a two-bagger and single by Joe Scarpelli.

Featuring a 7-run explosion in the top of the sixth, the Caseys went on to trounce the Phonemen under an 11-hit barrage. Al Sheetz, who was relieved by Russ Miller in the 6th, recorded his ninth win against five losses.

McKenzie Batting Star

Earl McKenzie was the "big gun" for the Caseys with a grand slam homer over the right field fence, a single and six runs batted in. Bob McGreevy also hit for the circuit and Jim Collins collected a triple and single. Ellsworth paced C. & P. with two double and a single. The loss was the 15th for Harry Larrick.

Keyser's Hit Decides

The winning run was scored in the 6th inning when Klavuhn doubled and came home on Bobby Keyser's single.

Cunningham's single gave Celanese a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Loyal Order of Moose tied it up in the third on Roy Manges' three-base clout and Bill Thompson's hit.

The loss was the ninth for Shuck who has notched 15 wins this season.

In the playoff semi-finals next week, the Vets will play the Moose and Ritter's A. C. will oppose the winner of today's game between Celanese and the K. of C. The scores:

Angels Give Away Another To Senators

Errors Contribute To 4 To 3 Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels gave another one away to the Washington Senators Thursday with two of their three errors contributing to their 4-3 defeat.

Two unearned runs cost them Wednesday night's game here and it was the same story Thursday with second baseman Bill Moran and first baseman Lee Thomas sharing the blame this time.

The Angels, behind Ryne Duren, were leading, 2-1, going into the sixth inning, when Marty Keough opened with a single and Moran fumbled a ground ball hit by Chuck Cottier. An infield out, an infield hit and a sacrifice fly scored both runners, one in the "unearned" category.

Relief pitcher Tom Morgan walked Danny O'Connell to open the seventh. He made it to third when Thomas threw wild past second on a routine force. He scored on a sacrifice fly.

Larry Jackson Blanks Giants

Hurls Three-Hitter, Posts Sixth Win, 2-0

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Larry Jackson, who regained his effectiveness after being liberated from the bull pen, smothered the San Francisco Giants with a three-hitter Thursday while pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-0 triumph.

Using a good slider, the hard-throwing right-hander posted his sixth win in the last seven decisions and boosted his season record to 9-9.

Centerfielder Curt Flood made a fantastic catch of a long smash by Hobie Landrith with a man on second base in the eighth inning to preserve Jackson's first shutout of the campaign.

Ken Boyer drove in both of the Cardinal tallies with a double and a single off loser Mike McCormick. Boyer hit a two-bagger in the sixth inning to score Julian Javier, who had singled and advanced on a sacrifice by Flood. Then in the eighth Boyer cracked a single to score Charley James, who had doubled.

Jackson had been confined to the bull pen until Johnny Keane replaced Solly Hemus as manager of the Cards on July 6.

It was another tough loss for McCormick, who has dropped nine games by one run this season and now has a record of 9-12.

Ralph Kiner Says Pitchers Will Stop Maris' Bid By Walks

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Kiner, who challenged Babe Ruth's home run record with 54 in 1949, thinks the pitchers will stop Roger Maris' bid by walks.

Kiner said he was surprised that Maris hadn't been drawing more walks. Maris had been walked 68 times in games through Wednesday. Mickey Mantle had been walked 96 times.

Market, Led By Railroads, Racks Up Broad Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The resurgent railroads gave the stock market a new lease on life Thursday as prices moved up in a broad advance on sharply increased activity.

The carriers continued their recent upswing by racing through a key level that "confirmed" the recent industrial advance and induced many Wall Streeters to believe that overall prices were still in a bullish phase.

The Dow - Jones rail average climbed 2.29 to 143.39, industrials were up 3.64 to 721.84 and utilities added 0.41 to 119.61. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks tacked on 38 cents.

Another very bullish sign according to technicians was a steep rise in volume to 4,130,000 shares from 3,430,000 on Wednesday.

Of the 1,267 stocks that crossed the tape, 651 advanced and 407 declined. New highs almost doubled to 66 from 34 while new lows dropped to only 8 from 15.

Interest in Studebaker-Packard continued to mount with the stock trading a huge 453,700 shares, up a full point to 10¼, its high for the day. Studebaker has been moving up on reports that advance sales of its 1962 models have been going well and that a meeting well and that a meting with security analysts is on tap late this month.

U.S. Davis Cup Team To Face Mexico Today

McKinley To Play Osuna In Opener

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chuck McKinley drew the key assignment for the United States in the opening Davis Cup singles match of the American Zone tennis championships against Mexico Friday.

McKinley and Osuna were picked in Thursday's official draw to open the best-of-five matches over three days on the Cleveland Skating Club's clay courts.

Both players are collegians. McKinley is a mathematics major at Trinity (Tex.) College, and Osuna is a junior at the University of Southern California.

In the second singles match Friday Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, 33, of Dallas, and considered the strong man for the Americans, will pit his retrieving ability against Mario Llamas, also 33.

The doubles match will be played Saturday. Osuna and Antonio Palafox, 24, are expected to carry the banner for Mexico. Uncle Sam probably will counter with McKinley and 19-year-old Dennis Ralston, who is recovering from a sore throat.

The singles lineup will switch for Sunday's windup. Llamas will take the court first against McKinley, then Osuna will battle Bartzen.

Man Is Shot During Fight; Wife Jailed

Warren R. Elliott In 'Good' Condition At Memorial Hospital

A 34-year-old Barton area woman is being held in Allegany County Jail on an open charge in the shooting of her husband yesterday afternoon at their home.

Elliott was shot in the back with a .22 caliber pistol and the hospital reports he is complaining of some numbness in his right leg.

Mrs. Elliott was questioned yesterday afternoon and last night in the state's attorney's office by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

Angered Over Marriage

Mr. Lilya said Mrs. Elliott stated she shot her husband while he was fighting with Gene Llewellyn, 22, of near Barton, who came to the Elliott residence to tell Elliott that he had married Elliott's 15-year-old daughter Sunday.

When Elliott learned that his daughter was married he became angry with her, Mrs. Elliott told authorities. She said Llewellyn stepped in to protect his young wife, and then the two men got into a fight.

The mother said she knew her daughter had married Llewellyn on Sunday, but they were afraid to tell Elliott because they knew he would not approve.

State Police at LaVale were notified of the shooting about 1:30 p. m. by Mrs. Elliott, who ran from the house after the incident and called police from a nearby service station.

Drove Away From House

Tfc. Robert C. Dishong went to the scene and learned that Elliott had got into his car and driven away from the house. The trooper managed to stop him about half a mile from the house.

Mrs. Elliott also had called an ambulance and it arrived just about the time Tfc. Dishong stopped the injured man.

Elliott was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W. Va., by the Boal Funeral Home ambulance and later was transferred to the local hospital.

Tfc. Dishong said the Elliotts reside on the old Porter Farm which is located 1.3 miles east of Barton. Elliott is employed at the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the couple have seven children ranging from nine to 15 years.

Mr. Lilya and Tfc. Dishong said the investigation is being continued and other witnesses are expected to be questioned today.

Firefighters Plan Jubilee

The 28th annual jubilee sponsored by the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company will be held at the fire hall Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 24-26.

Arthur Winters, general chairman, said games will be played each evening at the fire hall and the street parade will be held Friday, August 25, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Various fire companies have been invited to attend. The parade will form at Meadow View Drive, proceed along U. S. Route 220 to Winchester Road and Warrior Drive to the fire hall.

Friday night a dance will begin at 9 p. m. and music will be furnished by Guy Owens and his Downbeats, featuring Les Clifford and his saxophone.

Proceeds from the jubilee will be used for maintaining the company's emergency equipment, said Mr. Winters.

K Of C Corn, Wiener Roast September 3

The annual corn and wiener roast sponsored by Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will be held on Sunday, September 3 at the SS. Peter and Paul picnic grounds on Mason Road.

James Collins, general chairman of the event, said admission will be invitation only for K of C members and friends over 21.

He said corn-on-the-cob and wieners will be served from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. at which time a dance with music by the Rythmaires will begin. Refreshments will be served from 6 p.m. until midnight.

Frostburg College Faces Lack Of Funds

Enrollment May Be Curtailed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Drastic restrictions on enrollments at two Maryland teachers colleges may have to be imposed unless the state approves funds for immediate expansion, the State Planning Department was told Thursday.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of Towson Teachers College, said existing facilities at that suburban Baltimore school were "woefully inadequate." Some 200 qualified applicants for enrollment this fall were turned away, he said.

Further restrictions would be forthcoming, Dr. Hawkins said, unless $1,997,140 requested for new buildings is granted in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Dr. Hawkins appeared at a Planning Department hearing on the Department of Education's proposed $5,077,940 capital improvements budget.

Besides the amount sought for the Towson institution, the request includes $1,234,000 for Frostburg, $702,800 for Salisbury, $468,000 for Coppin and $676,000 for Bowie.

Frostburg Teachers College also faces possible curtailment of student enrollment, the planners were told by the school's president, Dr. R. Bowen Hardesty.

He said 100 students were denied admittance for the September term because of building and instructor shortages. Frostburg expects an enrollment next month of some 1,200 students, about 500 more than its designed capacity.

Similarly, Towson's enrollment is expected to approach 1,800. The campus has a designed capacity of between 1,000 and 1,200.

Further dramatizing the problem, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, said at least 1,000 new teachers would be needed annually to meet rising enrollments in elementary and secondary schools.

George Company Gets Cresaptown Phone Office Job

A contract has been awarded the George Construction Co. for the construction of the new dial telephone office in Cresaptown for $98,831.

Construction will begin soon, and the office will go into service in the summer of 1962.

This is part of a $1,000,000 project to expand and improve telephone service in the Cumberland area. Joseph C. Mace, plant wire chief, is in charge of the project. Lou Buehler, telephone company engineer, has charge of the building.

The new name was adopted at a recent CIDC membership meeting to reflect the objectives of the organization, which has always been of area scope.

Sewer Line Breaks Are Being Fixed

The men are scheduled to move to the Winifred Road sewer construction project as soon as the line is repaired.

The work began Monday after an investigation made by city and health workers disclosed that seepage from the line was contaminated.

Tests of seepage found in the area, made by the Health Department and the Cumberland sewage treatment plant, disclosed the presence of coliform bacteria.

The source of the contamination was located when city workers, through the use of dye, learned that the seepage was coming from between two manholes on Edgevale Avenue.

Woman Given Two Years In Neglect Case

Arrested With Eugene S. Lepley

Mrs. Mary Patricia Lalley, 31, of 945 Maryland Avenue, yesterday was sentenced to two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women after she was found guilty of neglecting her three young children.

Mrs. Lalley was arrested Monday in Virginia with Eugene S. Lepley, 40, of 613 Henderson Avenue, who had been released on $5,000 bond to await action of the October term of the grand jury in the shooting of a Cash Valley Road man in June.

Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin heard the case against Mrs. Lalley and noted that she had been in court on a similar charge last month.

The court said Mrs. Lalley left her three young children August 1 and that she and Lepley traveled to Ohio and Florida before Lepley was arrested in southern Virginia on a motor vehicle charge.

Lepley also was being sought here for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Lepley and Mrs. Lalley were returned here Wednesday from Emporia, Va., by Deputy Sheriff Louis Tyree and City Police Officer John Stitcher. A member of Lepley's family withdrew $5,000 bond posted for him and he is being held in the County Jail in default of bond.

Mrs. Lalley's husband, John J. Lalley, 35, also is a prisoner in the County Jail. On June 8 he was sentenced to 90 days for passing a series of bad checks in Cumberland.

Juvenile Court authorities said the Lalley children have been under the supervision of the Allegany County Welfare Department since they were abandoned earlier this month.

Mrs. Godsey was admitted to the hospital July 24 with a stiff neck and partial paralysis of one leg. She had had the full series of four Salk polio shots.

Friendsville Post Office Contract Let

To Lease Building From Livengoods

Construction of the new Post Office building at Friendsville was further advanced yesterday with the announcement by Michael Monroney, executive assistant to the Postmaster General, that a contract has been awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Ward K. Livengood of Friendsville to build and lease the building to the Post Office Department.

"The signing of the contract represents another step toward implementing President Kennedy's program for the construction and modernization of postal facilities throughout the nation during this year. Under this program private industry will invest the capital to build new facilities for lease to the department," Mr. Monroney said. "In addition, contingent upon the availability of funds, the Post Office Department is going ahead with the modernization of postal space in federal buildings."

Under terms of the department's commercial leasing program the successful bidder will construct the new building at the intersection of First Avenue and Walnut Street and lease it to the department for 10 years, with renewal options.

The department's capital investment is limited substantially to postal equipment, while the building remains under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

The new post office will be constructed on a site containing 7,500 square feet. The building will have an interior space of 1,518 square feet and ample paved areas for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

To Go To Timonium

James B. Arnold, assistant farm agent of Allegany County in charge of 4-H work, said Twigg will represent the county in the tractor operators contest at the State Fair at Timonium next month.

The contest was based on a written examination, practical examination, safety operation of a two-wheel implement, and maneuvering a four wheel wagon.

Twigg, who is president of the Union Grove 4-H Club has been a 4-H'er since he was about 12 years old. He learned tractor driving experience from his father and older brother, Floyd.

He has been working on the Floyd Buser farm on Warrior Mountain and the Roy Shryock farm in Clearville, Pa.

He hopes to enter the University of Maryland to study agriculture and conservation. Yesterday was the first time he entered the tractor driving contest, and he was in competition with four veteran drivers.

Those in attendance at the Fair yesterday were notified of the winners shortly after 4 p.m. by Mr. Arnold, who made the announcement over the public address system.

2 Boys Elude K-9 Dog But One Gives Up

Two young boys who walked away from the Forestry Camp for Boys at Meadow Mountain yesterday and got as far as Cumberland asked the wrong man for a ride to Hagerstown.

James Lewis, probation officer in Allegany County, was in the 700 block of Baltimore Avenue checking on a family when the two boys approached him for a ride to Hagerstown.

Lewis began questioning the boys, who later ran toward Leiper Street. He called local police who went to the area in search of them.

Officer Murl Boggs and the dog joined in the hunt for one of the boys but after about a half mile they lost the lad's trail.

One of the boys who gave himself up to Lt. Smith, said he and the other lad live in the Baltimore area and they walked away from the work detail about noon yesterday.

Boys Guilty In Theft Of Guns

Two young Frostburg boys were found guilty of being delinquent minors yesterday in the theft of six guns from Prichard's Hardware Store in Frostburg last Saturday night.

The boys, age 13 and 15, were found guilty by Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin, Magistrate Fatkin ordered the 15-year-old sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys and the other youth was ordered committed to Boys Village.

The court said the two boys hid in the hardware store Saturday night, and after it closed they took three rifles, three pistols and a quantity of ammunition.

The parents of the children discovered the guns and brought the boys and the stolen articles to Frostburg Police Headquarters on Tuesday.

The case was investigated by Tfc. Milton G. Hart of the State Police and Chief Donald Griffith and Sgt. Carl Hetz of the Frostburg Police Department.

Magistrate Fatkin explained the boys were sent to different detention quarters because of a recent ruling by the state. He said all delinquent boys 15 and over now will be sent to Training School and those between 13 and 14 will be sent to Boys Village. Boys under 12 will be committed to the Maryland Junior Training School.

Budget For City Is Unchanged After Meeting

Tax Rate Will Stay At $1.54

Ordinances calling for a tax rate of $1.54 and a budget totaling $1,950,610 are being prepared for submission at Monday's Council meeting.

The proposed budget, which remained unchanged after close scrutiny by the Mayor and Council yesterday afternoon, includes about $25,000 for scheduled wage boosts under the city's merit pay plan but no general wage increase for the city's some 250 employes.

Efforts to squeeze enough money from the budget to provide a five per cent boost failed in spite of the willingness of several members to take a cut in departmental budgets.

As the meeting ended, Mayor J. Edwin Keech said all city officials "regret the fact there is nothing in the budget for city employes" but that officials were still trying to come up with something.

Mayor Keech said there was "just no money" to give wage increases without curtailing vital services and that the city cannot exceed its income.

Check All Items

The Mayor and Council met at City Hall yesterday afternoon to review all of the items in the budget prepared for their consideration by City Comptroller Arthur B. Gibson following conferences with departmental heads.

Need Surplus

During yesterday's meeting, Mr. Gibson pointed out the importance of the surplus, which is all the city has to tide it over from the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1 and late in September, when tax money begins to come in.

Whoever makes up the 1962-63 budget will be in trouble, it was stressed, if the surplus should drop below the present level. One official said the item designated as surplus is actually operating capital.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, seeking a wage boost for police and firemen, said he was willing to sacrifice the $23,000 included for a new pumper at East Side, and try to keep the 23-year-old truck
